

SOCIETY HAS STATELY MOVE

Events of the Week Proceed Solemnly Enough for Most Staid.

REVIVAL OF THE COZY AFTERNOON TEA

Women Who Entertain Solve Question by Returning to Practice of Days Before Kensingtons Were Known to Mankind.

Of the affairs that have been given of late from point of enjoyability and popularity, it is safe to say that the afternoon tea has taken precedence over everything else. Certainly this is true if anything is to be judged from the frequency with which they have occurred of late and the general acceptance of all invitations for the same. For several of the afternoons, when cards or some other games have not been employed as diversion, have been in the form of Kensingtons, wholly informal or else restricted by all the conventionalities that attend the formal reception, until society has wearied of all this sort of thing, and the hostess who would entertain in the afternoon must devise some sort of novelty that is not infrequently expensive to her ingenuity and thing like a satisfactory response to her invitation or pleasure to her guests. The recent revival of the tea, that wholly comfortable and strictly feminine institution, seems to have recaptured the afternoon affair from total disapproval and still be a combination matter and still be charming and immensely popular. A tea, the very name sounds comfortable and suggestive of a cozy, chatty time that might be admirably combined with the smartest of reception gowns and still be charming. As a matter of fact, the affair that has been so numerous of late still fall short of the possibilities of the tea party, and there are several women in society—who can afford to do unusual things—who have promised to develop these possibilities this winter.

The recurrence of Hallowe'en afforded another illustration of the fashionables' love of a frolic, and Friday evening was replete with celebrations that were society mirror in hand, walking down cellar back-wards, at the risk of their precious necks, in search of their future, "hobbing" apples at the bottom of a tub of water or suspended at the end of a string, or performing pantomimes, regardless of personal dignity, and almost everything else, excepting the privileges of the occasion. There was just one flaw in the evening's enjoyment, and that was a scattering of congenial friends, due to the numerous parties.

Social Chit-Chat.

BRAIN FOOD

Is of Little Benefit Unless It is Digestible.

Nearly everyone will admit that as a nation we eat too much meat and too little of vegetables and the grains. For business men, office men and clerks, and, in fact, everyone engaged in sedentary or indoor occupations, grains, milk and vegetables are much more healthful. Only men engaged in a severe outdoor manual labor can live on a heavy meat diet and continue in health.

As a general rule, meat once a day is sufficient for all classes of men, women and children, and grains, fruits and vegetables should constitute the bulk of food eaten.

But many of the most nutritious foods are difficult of digestion and it is of no use to advise brain workers to eat largely of grains and vegetables where the digestion is too weak to assimilate them properly.

It is always best, to get the best results from our food, that some simple and harmless digestive should be taken after meals to assist the related digestive organs and several years experience have proven Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to be a very safe, pleasant and effective digestive and a remedy which may be taken daily with the best results.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can hardly be called a patent medicine, as they do not act on the bowels nor any particular organ, but only on the food eaten. They supply what weak stomachs lack, pepsin diastase and by stimulating the gastric glands increase the natural secretion of hydrochloric acid.

People who make a daily practice of taking one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal are sure to have perfect digestion, which means perfect health. There is no danger of forming an injurious habit, as the tablets contain absolutely nothing but natural digestives: cocaine, morphine and similar drugs have no place in a stomach medicine and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are certainly the best known and most popular of all stomach remedies.

Ask your druggist for a fifty-cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and after a week's use note the improvement in health, appetite and nervous energy.

they will present Miss Janet Rogers, Miss Bessie Brady and Miss Lucy Gore. A dancing party for the younger members of society will follow in the evening.

Pleasures Past.

Mrs. John McShane entertained an informal gathering of the younger set on Tuesday evening for her niece Miss Hogan of Chicago, who is visiting here.

On Friday evening at the residence of Mrs. J. G. Ferguson, 242 Caldwell street, Miss Ivy Rohwedder entertained a number of friends at a Hallowe'en party.

Miss Jeannie Brown was hostess at a very pretty luncheon on Wednesday, given in compliment to Miss Shattuck of Boston, who is Miss Faith Potter's guest.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Beebe, at Forty-first and Cass streets, Miss Kittie Worley entertained a number of friends at a Hallowe'en party on Friday evening.

The Misses Biddicks entertained a jolly party of their friends Friday evening at a Hallowe'en party at their home on South Twenty-fourth avenue. Refreshments were served.

General and Mrs. Manderson, Mr. and Mrs. Stoquard of Brussels and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Smith were Mr. and Mrs. J. N. H. Patrick's guests at dinner on Monday evening.

Rev. Francis S. White, assisted by a number of his parishioners, held a reception in the rectory of St. Andrew's Episcopal church from 3 until 11 o'clock on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. O. R. Potter of 2425 Caldwell street was pleasantly surprised by a party of friends on Tuesday evening, the occasion being her birthday. The evening was pleasantly spent in the parlors.

Miss Faith Potter entertained a party of friends at a box party at Boyd's on Monday evening in honor of her guest, Miss Shattuck. A chafing dish supper followed at the home of the Misses Crouse.

The Cooking club, which afforded so many pleasant and profitable gatherings among the women of the city last year, has resumed its meetings for the winter, the first being held on Friday afternoon.

In honor of Mrs. Augustus Pratt, Mrs. Barker entertained a large card party on Tuesday afternoon. Six-handed euchre was the game and several handsome prizes were awarded. Mrs. Pratt securing the first.

Mrs. J. W. Mann and Mrs. W. E. Palmater entertained at luncheon on Thursday in compliment to Mrs. Love Kelley, at the home of Mrs. Palmater. Violas were used on the table, marking the places of the guests and forming the centerpiece.

Miss Edna H. Edison gave a very lovely autumn party last Friday afternoon at her home, 2912 Emmet street. The inclement weather without did not mar the sunshine within and a very pleasant time was enjoyed by all. Mesdames De France, Cascardi and Redfield won handsome prizes.

In honor of Mrs. J. Baker of Quincy, Ill. and Mrs. Felicia Pelekey of Sioux City, Mrs. John Amold entertained last Tuesday afternoon at her home on North Twenty-fifth avenue at luncheon. Mrs. John Amold was assisted by Mrs. Phillip Mueller and Mrs. William Pulte. About fifteen guests were present.

A very pleasant Hallowe'en was spent at Birmingham's farm on Friday evening. The house was illuminated with pumpkin Jack-o'-lanterns and the walls were decorated with cornstalks and cabbage leaves. The evening was spent in games and music, the main feature being ping pong and the drawing of the dime-and-five.

As a farewell to Mrs. Love Kelley, who leaves soon to make her home in Waterloo, Ia., Mrs. Charles Urquhart, Mrs. W. P. Mikesell and Mrs. H. L. Whitney entertained at luncheon on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mikesell, 2200 Woodworth avenue. Yellow chrysanthemums trimmed the table and places were laid for twelve.

Miss Russell McKeivley entertained a party of young friends at a Hallowe'en party on Friday evening, Misses Ruth McBride, Freda Swartzlander, Grace McBride, Maude McBride, Messrs. Vernon McCormick Harry Swartzlander, Rob McCormick, Joe Barton and Ed Woodbridge being her guests. The rooms were prettily trimmed with American Beauty roses and the evening pleasantly spent at games.

The members of the Thursday afternoon Kensington were entertained last week at the home of Mrs. Frederick Bacon, 2525 Charles street, those present being Mesdames Goodman, Norman, Best, Allison, Wilson, Wilkinson and Himme of Minneapolis. Light refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wilcox.

In compliment to Mrs. Mervin Howes of Milwaukee and Mrs. W. F. Day of Kansas City, Mrs. George Hoobler and Mrs. H. G. Straight entertained at an elaborate luncheon on Friday afternoon at the home of the former. Yellow chrysanthemums furnished the scheme for decoration. The table was covered with Cluny lace over yellow satin and bordered about with the yellow flowers, which also constituted the centerpiece.

Among the more pretentious affairs of the week was the supper given on Thursday evening in honor of Miss Faith Potter and her guest, Miss Shattuck of Boston, by Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Cady and Miss Cady at their home, 2122 Chicago street. The guests were served at ten small tables arranged through the rooms, plates being laid for six at each table. Pink chrysanthemums with greens were employed in the trimming of the rooms, and in the center of each of the round tables a tall cut glass centerpiece was shaded with a pink silk flower of the same variety. The places of the sixty guests were marked with appropriate pen and ink sketches.

In honor of Mrs. Will Geyer of Philadelphia Mrs. Wornher entertained at a very delightful luncheon on Saturday afternoon. Covers being laid for twelve. The round table was covered with a cloth of Japanese blue embroidered linen, which formed an effective contrast with the centerpiece of yellow and white chrysanthemums arranged in a bunch. After the luncheon the afternoon was devoted to cards, high five being the game, for which several prizes were awarded.

Miss Georgia Kennard and Miss Josephine Stanton were hostesses at a very enjoyable Hallowe'en party given on Friday evening at the home of the former, at Nineteenth and Dodge streets. The blaze from the fireplace and the numerous Jack-o'-lanterns furnished the only light, and together with the autumn leaves that were used in decoration gave to the rooms that element of weirdness consistent with the occasion and the night. Shadow pantomimes, the Hallowe'en superstitions furnished the entertainment of the early part of the evening, the latter hours being given over to dancing. The evening concluded with refreshments.

One of the most elaborate luncheons that have been given this season was that given by Mrs. William Hill Clarke on Friday, at which about forty well-dressed guests were present. The decorations of the room and tables were entirely of red, a low basket of red carnations and maiden hair ferns, the handle of which was tied with a bow of white tulle, formed the center of each of the ten small tables. The chairs were arranged in the dining room and each laid for four. The place cards were water color heads and the predominant color was carried out in these. Tall, red-shaded candles furnished the light, and during the entire afternoon a mandolin orchestra furnished music.

Among the most unique of the many Hallowe'en parties given on Friday evening was that entertained by Miss Lola Savage, Miss Carrie Larson and Mr. J. A. Savage at 1924 North Twenty-sixth street. The thirty guests invited all attended dressed in phantom costumes, the party being held in a vacant house next door to the home of the host and hostesses. The empty rooms were lighted with single candles and trimmed with things suggestive of the uncanny that, together with the spectral-figured of the company, made the gathering most weird. In addition to an appropriate program the young people took the occasion for surprising Rev. and Mrs. William Gorst, pastor of Seward Street Methodist church, with a donation party. Each with a bundle, they marched in line to their pastor's house, pushed open the door and proceeded to unload their packages upon the astonished minister and, without speaking a word, fled out the back door and back to the vacant house, where the evening program was resumed.

The fall opening of Metropolitan club was celebrated on Saturday evening with the annual reception and ball that have since the establishment of the club had a place among the important social functions of each successive season, and the opening this year was no exception in this respect. The handsome furnishings of the club house were supplemented with an effective floral decoration that, together with the elaborate costumes and the completeness of detail, rendered the occasion most brilliant. Down in the parlors the dinner began at 9 o'clock, the ball opening an hour later with the grand march led by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Frank, Mr. Frank being the newly-elected president of the club. It was especially fitting that the occasion should be embraced for the introduction of Miss Josephine Levy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Levy, another of the charming young women who are to figure so prominently in the social affairs of the winter, her presentation contributing an additional pleasant feature to the evening.

Late in the evening an elaborate supper was served down in the dining room from the long table, which was trimmed with American Beauty roses and red carnations.

To meet Mrs. Mervin H. Howes of Milwaukee, formerly of Omaha, Mrs. Marion Willis Todd entertained about 100 women at 4 o'clock tea on Wednesday afternoon at her home at 3070 Mason street. It was one of those pretty, graceful affairs, where the formality of the reception is modified by the presence of the tea cup. With Mrs. Howes, the hostess received her guests standing in the front parlor, surrounded by a most harmonious decoration of greens and white chrysanthemums. The windows had been shaded and the rooms lighted by a soft gas light, which showed through the flower leaf shades corresponding in color with the decoration of the various rooms. In the library a quantity of yellow chrysanthemums made a shaggy screen for the fireplace and nodded from the top of the book cases, where they were arranged in bunches. Out in the hall, the door and hall the lights and flowers were red. A large bunch of meteor roses formed the center piece on the round table that was here save for the handsome lace doilies which were present.

Here Miss Harford poured tea and Mrs. J. H. Van Dusen served the coffee, assisted by Misses Buckingham, Dale and Kreider. Among the women assisting through the rooms were: Misses Sussman, George Hoobler, W. P. Harford, Charles Urquhart and J. P. Dale.

Weddings and Engagements.

The marriage of Miss Catherine Rush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rush of 1227 Martha street, and Mr. Charles Mortary will be solemnized at St. Mary's chapel on Wednesday, November 5.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Allen of 2529 North Side street, on Wednesday, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lena Allen, and Mr. Harry E. Mason of Weeping Water, Neb., Rev. E. H. Jenks of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Though a simple home wedding, it was especially pretty and was witnessed by a number of the more intimate friends and relatives.

At the German Catholic church at 7:15 o'clock Thursday morning Miss Anna Warner was married to Mr. Richard Walle. Immediately after the ceremony the couple and a number of intimate friends were guests at a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wagner, 1912 South Eleventh street. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace then left via Kansas City and other points.

The bride is a niece of Senator Dietrich and arrived in Washington at 1:30 o'clock on Wednesday. The party left for Aurora on Thursday, where the ceremony was performed. Mr. Smith was for several years correspondent for The Bee at Lincoln, but he recently accepted a position on the Washington Post. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be at home at 1907 K street, Northwest, Washington.

The marriage of Mr. Thomas B. Coleman and Miss Margaret Cassidy was solemnized at St. Patrick's church last Wednesday morning at 1 o'clock in the presence of relatives and friends. Rev. Father John T. Smith performed the marriage ceremony. Miss Maize Cassidy was bridesmaid and Mr. Dan J. Riley served as best man. Though simple and devoid of ostentation it was a very pretty wedding. The bride and bridesmaid were tastefully gowned in traveling dresses of blue. A wedding breakfast was served to a small circle of relatives and friends, after which the happy couple left for a wedding tour in the west. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cassidy. Mr. Coleman represents the Midland Paint and Glass company in the northwestern states.
