

CARRY FANATICS TO TRAIN

Canadian Mounted Police Finally Break Up Doukhobor Pilgrimage.

STRUGGLE IN BLIZZARD TO REACH JESUS

Russians Will Not Strike Blows, but Heave with All Their Might Efforts to Send Them Home

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 8.—After one of the most exciting incidents in the history of the northwest, the Doukhobor fanatics have been finally entrained, loaded in cars like cattle and are now guarded by a large detachment of mounted police, who are kept busy preventing them from throwing themselves from the windows.

The special will leave here tonight for Yonkers, where the mounted police will have the Doukhobors to their villages, thus ending the most remarkable pilgrimage in Canadian history.

The Doukhobors arrived here last night enroute to Winnipeg. This morning they attempted to resume the journey with the mercury standing at 10 below zero.

Government officials held them with difficulty in a skating rink until the military special arrived this evening with 500 mounted police.

The fanatics were addressed by officials and told they would have to go home. They cried: "No! We go to seek Jesus!"

Zelbroff, their leader, harangued his followers, instructing them not to resist.

Two hundred farmers who gathered at the train to see them and 500 other citizens surrounded them and offered assistance. Fifty of the fanatics got out and made a rush on the road to go east.

When the risk mounted forth its frenzied fanatics an indescribable scene followed. Farmers, townspeople and police threw themselves on the Doukhobors and dragged or carried them to the station.

The latter encircled each other with their arms and seemed linked together by hands of steel. While they struggled they gave voice to their weird chant. Some struggled so hard that their clothing was literally torn from their backs.

For over an hour the road to the station was crowded with people and the excitement was intense. The Doukhobors refused to strike, but struggled blindly for freedom.

Police Fight in Blizzard. Their captors, with blood warmed by the strange struggle, shouted and cursed as the bloodless battle became more exciting, and when the cars arrived another struggle ensued.

The station police handed in the kicking Russians, who were thrust into dark, cold coaches like cattle, where they threw themselves against windows and doors, barred to prevent their escape.

During the enforced entraining a blizzard sprang up and the weather became intensely cold.

The Doukhobors have been living on wheat and raw oatmeal. Tonight small quantities of bread was thrown to them. Many are physical wrecks.

Only about twenty of the 500 escaped and they are on the prairie in a temperature that means death. The action taken tonight was on instruction of the Dominion government, which said the pilgrims must be sent home if they had to be carried.

At a late hour the Doukhobors are locked in the coaches struggling vainly for freedom to look for the Messiah. They sing and pray incessantly, asking divine assistance to turn the hearts of their captors and release them.

RHEUMATISM Tortures, Cripples and Deforms.

Rheumatism does not treat all alike. Some suffer torture from the very beginning, the attack being so sudden, sharp and disastrous that they are made helpless cripples in a few days, while others feel only occasional twitches of pain in the knees, ankles, elbows and wrists, or the muscles of the legs, arms, back or neck.

but this treacherous disease is only traveling by slower stages. The acid poisons are all the while accumulating in the blood, and muscles and joints are filling with corroding, acid matter, and when the disease lightens its grip and strikes with all force, no constitution is strong enough to withstand its fearful blows, and its victims are crippled and deformed, or are literally worn out by constant pain.

RHEUMATISM RULED BY ACID.

Rheumatism is caused by Uric Acid or some other irritating poison in the blood, and this is the cause of every variety and form of this dread disease. External remedies do not reach the blood, consequently do no lasting good.

S. S. S. goes directly into the circulation and attacks the disease itself. The acid poisons that cause the inflammation, soreness and swelling are neutralized and the blood purified and cleansed of all irritating matter, and nothing is left in the circulation to produce other attacks.

MASON MYSTERY NEAR END

Negro Who Pawned Watches is Arrested in Boston.

SAYS ANOTHER MAN GAVE THEM TO HIM Police Refuse to Say Whether Mason is Implicated in Confession, but Rumor Declares that White Man is Involved.

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—The strange case involving the murder of Agnes McPhee and Clara A. Morton and the mysterious assault upon many others came a step nearer solution today, when the police arrested the young man who sold, or as he thought pawned, the watches taken by "Jack the Sluggo" from the bodies of his victims.

The man in custody is a light complexioned negro, 19 years old, named George L. O. Perry.

He has confessed that he received the watches from a man in Central Square, Cambridge. He has given the name of this man to the police, who refuse to state whether it was Alan G. Mason.

While the statement of the boy clears Mason of having personally pawned the watches, still there is nothing so far known to either prove or disprove the theory that Mason gave him the watches to pawn.

The police are very reticent as to what further statements Perry made, but there are rumors tonight that he had implicated a white man.

The detention of Perry came through Charles W. Birwell and Samuel C. Lawrence, officials of the Children's Aid society, who were led to believe that the handwriting of a young negro whom they knew was similar to that contained on the cards filled out by the man who sold the stolen watches.

The state police were called in, Perry was found and later confessed to have taken the watches from a man in Cambridge, one just after the murder of Miss McPhee and the second last Sunday.

At first he denied that he had ever sold a watch, but later made a statement which was taken down by a stenographer. The boy was then turned over to the state police, and late tonight officers removed him to Cambridge police headquarters.

The boy says he met the man in Central square, Cambridge, about four weeks ago. After some conversation they began to talk about watches and the man gave him a small watch, which he pawned with Nemster, and meeting the man again, gave him 75 cents of the proceeds.

Last Sunday Perry met him again accidentally and was again shown a watch which the man seemed anxious to get rid of, so he took it and pawned it with Nemster, getting $4. He has not seen the man since.

The boy is evidently a most valuable witness and the police are using every endeavor to shield him from outside prying eyes.

The detention of Perry was the main feature of the day, although during the forenoon a fireboat car conductor said Mason was on his car last Saturday night about 10 o'clock, or shortly after the time Miss Morton was murdered.

Mason will have a hearing in the Cambridge district court on Tuesday.

The men and boys were overcome by smoke in a small room used for mailing purposes in the front of the cellar, close to where the fire started.

The fire originated in the explosion of a gasoline lamp burning on one side of a wooden partition separating the rapid transit subway from the cellar. The partition, which was covered with tar paper, blazed freely, setting fire to a tank containing printing ink, which speedily ignited and gave forth dense clouds of smoke that soon filled the entire building.

The fire was extinguished in fifteen minutes.
