Bullock to a reporter last evening. "I saw to this day I can laugh as heartily as the youngest of my grandchildren. I am good for some more years, and I scarcely feel my age. My vigorous constitution and remarkable freedom from disease is due to the daily use for many years of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Though I am past 104 years of age, I feel as young and hearty as forty years ago. I weigh 175 pounds, my appetite is good, and I still do all the chores. I cannot say too much in favor of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which is indeed a bleasing to old people and invalids. I know it has prolonged my life many years."

Mr. Bullock's wife died twenty years ago, and he is living with one of his grandchildren. Sixty-five grandchildren are martied, and they are all strong and healthy. His descendants who live in Fort Hamilton, brooklyn and Manhattan are the Mc-conald, Watts, Hurst, Bullock and Clark his constitution strong and vigorous with a pure stimulant and tonic, leaving all kinds of drugs and medicine alone. So it is with a woman; she should keep herser healthy and strong. If the fathers and mothers kept their constitutions strong and free from disease, there would be no sickly, puny children. It is an easy matter to keep the body in a state of normal health by using Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey, the only absolutely pure stimulant and tonic which is free from fusel oil and other dangerous ingredients. Do not fill your system with patent medicines and drugs.

There are thousands of cases similar to that of Mr. Bullock's, and if every one used Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey as directed, the average life would be prolonged at least twenty years.

Caution.—When you ask for Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. Ridgley Hints at Dangers.

Business in the United States and more particularly financial and banking opera-tions are in danger from an excess of busi-ness and lack of machinery and facilities for conducting it. It is becoming more and more apparent that there must be some curtailment of operations or increase in famore apparent that there must be some curtailment of operations or increase in fa-cilities if we would avoid serious trouble, if not disaster. For several years there has been a steady and enormous increase in the volume of all kinds of business which has necessarily produced a very large expan-sion. The clearing house transactions have increased from $54,000,000,000 in 1897 to $114,-000,000,000 in 1901, an increase of $69,000,000,-500.

000,000,000 in 1901, an increase of $60,000,000,000,000.

From 1892 to 1902 individual deposits increased from $4.685,000,000 to $9.082,000,000.

Loans increased from $4.37,000,000 to $7.165,000,000.

The item of due from other banks increased from $884,000,000 to $1.552,000,000,000 to $1.552,000,000.

We now find ourselves embarraseed by the volume of traffic. With all the machinery of exchange strained to Keep up the present rate, and with every channel swollen to the full with the rushing tide, the slightest disarrangement spreads at once and is very far-reaching in its effects. In the present condition there is not a sufficient factor of safety and there is danger of the strain exceeding the limit of elasticity if it does not reach the point of ultimate rupture.

and careful handling. Now is the time for caution and care in bank management. It is in times such as we have been having for several years that banks get into trouble. What becomes later a bad line of credits is apt to be made in presperous years, not when times are dull and business bad. One Crista la Past.

We saw after the 5th day of May panic that there might be a great speculative collapse without its producing any lasting depression, but we can hardly expect to withstand repeated shocks of this kind, and it is therefore now especially important for us to strengthen our financial and banking situation and act with great prudence and caution.

It seems to be inevitable that we should have periods of rest and recuperation. They are spt to be most severe when we have been going too fast. The pace we have traveled for the past five or six years has been a rapid one. The signs are not lacking that it should be moderated before we are too far spent. There is yet time, and with prudence and care we should be able to avoid any lasting ill effects. I do not believe that the strain is more than we can safely stand up to this point, but it is time to pause and consider. We have prices for material of all kinds up so high that the cost of living has greatly increased. We have been consuming our available liquid capital at a very rapid rate and changing it to fixed capital where it may be unproductive for a long time. Cost of production has so increased that our baisance of foreign trade is falling off at the rate of hundreds of millions per year. Our bank reserves are low and the loans as highly expanded as is prudent. The situation has lately been so acute as to render assistance from the Trensury department necessary to give some relief.

Government Must Improve. Government Must Improve.

Something should be done to more nearly

Something should be done to more nearly equalize government receipts and expenditures. We should years ago have changed our obselete system so that the funds of the government can stay in the channels of trade and not be locked up in vaunts by the hundreds of millions.

It is unfortunate that the weakest point in our banking system is in its provisions for dealing with such a situation as seems before us today. Nothing could better fluerrate the necessity for a more elastic banking currency than the demand for it at the present time. Our banks have been and are being called upon to furnish the currency and credits necessary to move enormous crops, probably the largest in volume and value the country has ever produced.

It would not be any undue expansion or inflation if these banks had the privilege of issuing in addition to their notes covered by bonds an amount of uncovered notes equal to say 50 per cent of their covered issues. Call it credit currency, asset currency or emergency currency, or what you will. A smal tax will provide a guarantee fund which will absolutely protect the note holder and the public. A graduated tax and ample provision for redemption will insure the retirement of these notes as soon as the necessity for them ceases, Such notes have been found safe and satisfactory in other countries. They will be more so here where we have abundant basis for the

It must be conceded that the improvement in business and general revival of prosperity has been based on the soundest fundamental conditions. The agricultural, industrial and commercial conditions have justified and produced it all.

But in spite of this, the banking and financial situation is looked upon with considerable apprehension. We cannot disguise the fact that with reserves running down, not only in the reserve cities, but in all the banks of the country, the situation is serious and requires close attention.

Northern Pacific Files Answer to State of Washington.

CLAIM MORGAN EXERCISES NO CONTROL

Says Hill's Position is Not Clear, but No Unlawful Act Has Been Committed and Competition Continues as Operative.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 .- The answer of the Northern Pacific to the complaint of Colorado Southern will be represented on the state of Washington against the Northern Securities company was filed today in the United States supreme court. The brief is a general denial of "All and all manner of unlawful combination and confederacy wherewith it is charged."

In detail the reply denies that the construction of the branch roads will be lessened by the formation of the Securities company; that competition will be diminished and that rates will be advanced, claiming, on the contrary, rates have been reduced; since the merger was effected, says it has no information as to whether J. J. Hill controls a majority of the stock of the Securities company, but denies that J. Pierpont Morgan owns 85 per cent of the company's stock and that the Great North ern and the Northern Pacific are parallel or competing lines to the extent averred and says whatever rivalry has been maintained in the past will be continued in the future.

The charge that the two companies to the merger purchased the stock of the Burlington company is admitted, but it is asserted this stock was divided equally between the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern, the stock being paid for in each instance with the bonds of the purchasing company.

Specific denial is made of the charge that these bonds were issued with the idea of placing the lines under a common control. The answer admits the organization of the Northern Securities company in New Jersey and the retirement of the preferred stock of the Northern Pacific; also that the securities company did offer to sell shareholders of the Great Northern shares at the rate of $180 each.

It says the securities company has "purchased for cash a large amount of the shares of the defendant railway companies and of other companies." Denial is made of the assertion that there was an agreement between James J. Hill and J. P. Morgan that Morgan should name the first board of directors of the Securities company. In this connection it War department. James R. The Southern Railway, the Southern Rail way Company in Kentucky and the Southern Railroad Company of Indiana, in a joint answer, deny that the two last named lines are under the "management" of the Southern.
