

CONSUMPTION CURED

Dr. Edward Schubarth and Mrs. H. C. Allington, Whom the Doctor Said Had Incurable Consumption, Were Permanently Cured by

DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY

STOPPED HEMORRHAGES.

Gentlemen: It is with great pleasure that I write to inform you that I have used eight bottles of your Pure Malt Whiskey. I would not have been here today only for your wonderful medicine. I have used all kinds of cough syrups and been under the care of doctors. I have had three severe attacks of grippe and pneumonia, which have left me with a bad cough and weak lungs and heart. I am of years old. I have never used my system and stopped the hemorrhages. I cough but very little. I only regret I did not know of your whiskey before. I cannot express what it has done for me. I beg to remain, Yours respectfully, MRS. H. C. ALLINGTON, Nashua, N. H., Sept. 11, 1902.

QUICKLY CURED.

Dear Sirs: "I picked up one of your circulars on a table about a month ago and read it through. After reading I went out and bought a bottle of your whiskey, which helped me right away. I am now on my fourth bottle, using it for so-called incurable consumption until their doctors prescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is absolutely pure and possesses more curative power than all other medicines. It contains no traces of alcohol, and is a dangerous ingredient in whiskey, especially for the diseased system, when the poison takes effect."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey not only drives out consumption germs and heals the lungs, but it builds up new tissue and renovates the entire system. It aids digestion, stimulates and enriches the blood, tones up the heart, invigorates and builds up the body so that it will throw off all diseases. At the Medical Convention in Albany one of the leading doctors said he would rather have Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey to cure consumption, catarrh, asthma and disease of the throat and lungs than all the quack medicines in the world and the doctors present agreed with him unanimously. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is good for old and young. It has carried the blessing of health to hundreds of thousands of poor sufferers. Many have tried to imitate it and unreliable dealers have been known to try to sell their customers some cheap substitute because there was more profit in the substitute. So we caution our patients to be careful and see that "Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey" is on the label and that it is our own patent bottle, with the name blown in the bottle. This is the only way Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold. If offered in bulk or in flasks it is a fraud. The genuine at all drug stores or grocery or direct, $1.00 a bottle. It is the only whiskey recognized by the government as a medicine. A valuable medical booklet containing symptoms and treatment of each disease and many testimonials will be sent free to any reader of The Bee who will write Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

CZARINA'S LOT UNPLEASANT

Said to Have Grown Melancholy Over Absence of Heir to the Throne.

RUSSIANS ANXIOUS OVER SITUATION

Fear Internal Strife in Case of Death of the Present Ruler—Dignitaries Hinting at a Divorce.

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 15.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—The czarina has been a victim of profound and growing melancholy since her hope of becoming a mother again was dashed two months ago. To add to her despair a noted physician of Vienna, who has made a study of her ancestors, has reported that for some hundreds of years the women of her stock have been greatly in the preponderance that the mothers have had families chiefly composed of daughters. Her woeful countenance and her absent-mindedness to the point of gloomy silence in the company of others has strengthened the belief in the rumor that the czar is seriously thinking of taking the advice of high church dignitaries to divorce her in order that he may marry a woman whose children will not all be daughters.

The czarina is the mother of four children, all girls. She thought she had one last chance of regaining the good will of the Russian people by presenting the czar with a son this autumn, but she was doomed to the bitterest disappointment. People outside of this country cannot comprehend the eagerness of the Russian court to see the czar and his wife as a woman can reign in Russia while the male line holds out. One powerful reason for wishing a son born to the czar is to have a peaceful succession. It is feared that the czar's rather frail brother, now heir presumptive, may not live long and that if Nicholas passes away without an heir the empire may be rent by strife for throne between his four uncles.

Pressure from the Church. So the Russian church authorities, who have power to divorce, and who suspect that the czarina's enforced conversion to their so-called orthodox religion was not sincere, are said to be pressing the "autocrat of all the Russians" to put her away.

The czarina's lot is made still unhappier by numerous courtiers whose enmity she has aroused. Being the daughter of Queen Victoria's favorite daughter, Alice, she has inherited or acquired a cigarette in the czar's mouth as an offensive as an oath in a man's. She forbade any lady of the court to smoke in her presence, although her own sister, Grand Duchess Serge, smokes like a locomotive. She further forbade any woman even to go near her with the smell of tobacco on her garments.

The Russian women began spitefully to call her the "German" and the "English woman"—for in tastes and habits she is more English than German, and the men soon echoed the epithets. Moreover, many high officials have their grievances. That long-time imposing court figure, Prince "Sandy" Dolgorouki, was turned out of the position of grand master of ceremonies by the czarina because she regarded his airs and those of his peculiar wife as offensive. The czarina, pre-emptorily dismissed Baron Frederick, an old minister of the court, for disobeying her order not to telegraph anything when the czar was sick two years ago without first letting her see it. The baron had answered an anxious message of inquiry from the czar's mother. Numerous other dignitaries trace their downfall to the czarina, and it is even whispered that the late Count Muraviev, formerly foreign minister, complained because she blocked a plan he had laid to rob England, when embarrassed, of command of the Red sea. It can easily be surmised, therefore, that the czarina is the object of the revenge of powerful personages, and that their intrigues alone would make her life miserable.

Czar Greatly Distressed.

The czar, whose marriage with Princess Alix was a real love match, is not only greatly distressed over his cherished wife's condition, but is exceedingly anxious about his brother, the heir presumptive, who is rapidly falling into incurable consumption. This disease is breaking out in nearly every branch of the imperial family. The beautiful daughter of Princess Dolgorouki, the czar Alexander's morganatic wife, is also developing consumption. This girl recently married a brother of Countess Torby, who lives in England with her morganatic husband, the Grand Duke Michael.

The recent hasty summoning of Prof. Morzejevski, a famous mental specialist, from St. Petersburg to Lovidia, was at first attributed to the unsatisfactory state of the czar's own health. But now it appears that he was telegraphed for on account of the czarina's acute melancholy. It is given out that this is not an unusual sequel to her cruel disappointment of maternity, and that the hope of an heir to the imperial house had become almost a mania with her. The czarina suffered alternately from transports of joy not less painful or disquieting than the profound melancholy which follows them, it is reported. The case is a very difficult one, and specialists here shake their heads over it.

troubling him and suggested a rest. He said Theodore might go to Washington for a week, if Mrs. Roosevelt desired. She at once telegraphed the master to let him come here.

It is denied at the White House that doctors are accompanying him on the train and it is said that no operation of any kind will be performed. The boy's coming will not interfere with the president's plans in any way. The Federal express, on which he is traveling, is several hours late, having been fogbound at Jersey City, and is not expected here until 12:30 this afternoon.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., left here last night in charge of physicians enroute to Washington, says a World dispatch from Groton, Mass. He is said to be suffering from some trouble with his eyes, which made it desirable that he should get some rest. No details are obtainable here.

WORK FOR THE COURT

Hoyt, commissioner at Groton; W. R. Akers, register of the Alliance land office; and Mrs. Carrie Carrigan of Clarinda, Ia., and Blair, Neb., have been summoned to appear before the grand jury at Omaha on November 17 to testify as to these widows' cases. Suspend the Entries.

As before stated in these dispatches, the secretary of the interior, acting on information contained in Colonel Mosby's report, has suspended for the purpose of cancellation all these widows' entries. He has what is believed to be authentic information that not one-half of these women are soldiers' widows, and moreover, they never expected to prove up on their claims. In connection with the alleged fraudulent entries, Special Agent W. R. Lesser has been suspended by the land office and it is stated he will be dismissed and his irregularities laid before the grand jury. The grand jury will be asked to indict him for the use of fraudulent vouchers uttered to obtain money from the government. Mr. Lesser was appointed special agent of the department about six months ago. He was assigned to work in the state of Nebraska with headquarters at North Platte. Mr. Lesser was suspended November 1 and since that time his actions have been undergoing rigid investigation. At least one false voucher has been discovered. It appears that while the department believed him in Nebraska he has really spent much of the time during the last year at his home at Tama, Ia., mailing all official mail aboard railway trains so the postmark would not give away his exact whereabouts.

Every agent of the department is compelled to make weekly reports, showing just where he has been from day to day and what he has been doing. It is asserted that of the eighty-two days from March to August 1, which his weekly reports show he spent at North Platte, Lesser in reality was only at headquarters nine days during that time. The register of the land office at that place states that Lesser was really only at headquarters nine days and has not been since July. Mr. Lesser's reply to this is that he was traveling about Nebraska on official business, but the postmaster at Tama says he was at his home in Tama during the time alleged to have been at North Platte or traveling.

Another account against Lesser is that he has sent in expense accounts averaging $100 a month, incurred in railroad travel. It is asserted at the Interior department that investigation shows that even when he did travel he rode on passes. During all the six years Mr. Lesser has been assigned to Nebraska he has never been hauled to a cattleman that his fence should be removed, according to the Interior department officials. Mr. Lesser is credited with asserting that Senator Allison, who secured his appointment, will stand by his record and his reinstatement. As yet, however, Senator Allison has not written or spoken a word in behalf of Lesser.

Implicates Lesser.

Colonel Mosby in a letter to Agent Lesser, suggested that A. B. Todd of Plattsmouth, Neb., should be indicted for complicity with fraudulent widows' entries. "Mr. Lesser," said Colonel Mosby, "has used to act. I have seen Todd several times at the Alliance land office in company with alleged widows and was told he came several hundred miles as their escort. It is not thought that he was actuated by a sentiment of mere gallantry, or charitable motives."

The cases of negro entries for the benefit of Miller and Leith in Alliance district and Phelan in the Sidney district, will also be laid before the grand jury at Omaha. Colonel Mosby says he cannot see any moral or legal distinction between hiring pretended soldiers' widows to file homestead applications for the benefit of cattlemen and hiring negroes to do the same thing. The colonel does not believe fraudulent and collusive entry is a legal defense to a suit to remove a fence, or that one ought to wait for a decision of the supreme court on the question of the right or wrong of hiring a widow to make such a claim. President Roosevelt and Secretary Hitchcock share and agree most heartily in Colonel Mosby's views and will uphold him in all his future work, looking to the removal of fences in Nebraska or elsewhere, which may have been illegally erected and maintained.
