THE BANKERS RESERVE LIFE

A Home Institution With a Phenomenal Record of Growth and Power.

ITS POLICIES ARE UNEXCELLED

And Its Place in the Hearts of Western People Assured—President Robison's Interview.

"Yes, Thanksgiving day will be especially interesting to us this year," remarked B. H. Robison, the energetic president of the Bankers Reserve Life Association. "We have never enjoyed such a year of growth since our organization."

"Our annual report to the state auditor for the year will be a surprise to the insurance department I am sure. Furthermore, it will be a source of just pride to the management of our institution."

"Our Advisory board, made up of the best men in the state of Nebraska, will join with the field and office force in a pean of thanksgiving, for the gentlemen included in that body have been vastly useful to us in securing and holding our business."

"We have written over $2,000,000 of new business since January 1, 1902. We will begin 1903 with approximately $6,000,000 at risk upon the best selected lives in the west, chiefly in Nebraska."

"We are as certain to have $10,000,000 in force at the end of 1903 as we are to have twelve months in that year. If my life is spared until 1910, I am sure to see this company built up into a $50,000,000 organization."

"The assets have rapidly increased, our death rate has been lower than that of any American company. In fact, this Thanksgiving day finds us with our hearts full of gratitude for the remarkable achievements of our young company."

"The only problem which the management has to solve is that of securing competent solicitors. One hundred active, energetic agents are wanted on extra liberal terms for choice territory in states to be organized with the opening of the New Year. Address
BANKERS RESERVE LIFE, OMAHA."

STEP STOVES were first invented about 1850 and with their appearance many who read this article will remember how the old fire place was nailed up and in that home was a step stove, it was not only a step, but it was thousands of steps in advance of what they formerly used—No diamond or precious stone was as highly valued by a bride as one of these stoves that you are now looking at with contempt. Nor are these stoves a thing of the past, as thousands are still in use, and the Omaha Stove Repair Works, 1207 Douglas St. ship to various parts of Neb., Ia., Mo. and Kans. repairs for these stoves, especially lids, centers, fire backs and front fenders. If repairs for stoves five decades old can be supplied why should you think they would not have repairs for your stove.
