

Prices Advance

Nearly 20 Per Cent Raise in the Wholesale Cost.

Made Necessary by the Demands of Mechanics for Increase of Wages and Fewer Hours as Well as the Constantly Increasing Cost of Raw Materials.

Especially, is This True in the Piano Manufacturing Districts Where the Question of Wages Has Been Adjusted to the Entire Satisfaction of the Mechanics.

Fortunately we Placed Heavy Orders Before the Raise. Consequently Are in a Position to Furnish You a Piano at a Saving of $75.00 to $125.00 to You.

If You Expect to Buy at All Better Buy Now.

Some merchants would consider that if by reason of their lack of business shrewdness they had bought extra heavy just previous to the advance of prices in the eastern markets, that they were entitled to the difference in factory costs.

We don't look at it that way. "As we buy, so we sell."

We bought on a low market; we shall sell accordingly.

We feel confident that we shall not be a loser in the matter, as naturally people will buy where they find the largest selection, the lowest prices and the easiest terms and the increased volume of business will more than counterbalance the percentage we might make were we to advance the prices on present stock according to the increased factory cost.

So long as present stocks last we shall continue to sell on the close margins that has established our claim to being the greatest money saving piano house in the west.

This week we shall offer extra inducements to clear out every odd style. Many of these are from old and most reputable factories. Mind you, they are not second-hand, but brand new. Some are sample pianos, sent us on approval; others are of our regular line, but the advance catalogues for 1903 show the case designs will be somewhat changed. These we want to sell at once and prices and terms will be made that will get them off our floor quickly.

A number of used square pianos will be turned into money at prices that will help you make up your mind that fast.

About twenty used organs will be offered you at such figures as $12, $15, $18, $21, $24, $27, etc., on terms of $50 per week.

A nice bunch of bargains in slightly used uprights will be found in one bargain room. Some are from old well known factories, such as Emerson, Steyer & Sons, Gramer, Knabe, Chickering, Everett, Ivers & Pond Story & Clark, and Smith & Barnes. You can easily save one-half on these.

Then again, if a brand new, high-grade piano is the only thing that will please you, think what a selection our stock of over 300 instruments, comprised of more than thirty different makes affords you. Then when you consider that it is an easy matter to save $75 to $125 if you buy one of these from us now, why shouldn't we expect to see you in our store this week?

Don't forget that you can always get the easiest of easy terms from us.

Organs and square pianos, 25c, 50c, 75c, weekly payments.

Used uprights, 50c, 75c and $1 per week. New pianos, $1, $1.50, $2 to $2.50 per week.

Used organs and pianos accepted at their full value as part payments on new pianos. We would remind you that our facilities for rebuilding, refurbishing and polishing pianos are unequalled in the west, estimates cheerfully furnished.

SOCIETY'S WEEK IS LIVELY

Coming Out Parties and Other Affairs Keep People Busy.

TWO MORE GIRLS ARE PRESENTED

Hostess of Debutantes for the Season
Grows and List of Things to Be Remembered to Correspondents Increased.

Again last week society was called upon to array itself in its smartest gown and sweetest smile to welcome into its ranks two more debutantes. On Tuesday evening it enjoyed a truly charming dancing party, the sequel to the coming-out party that closed the previous week. On Tuesday afternoon and again Thursday were Mrs. Wakefield's and Mrs. Hitchcock's receptions, each with a supplementary function almost as elaborate as the introductory affair, and so society has accomplished some of the most anticipated pleasures of the winter.

Nor have these affairs been all, for they have gone through the formality of being received, of dining and of receiving entertainment of even a wider variety than usual, and with it there has been more of really elaborate detail than for many a season past.

Of course Thanksgiving will largely determine the character of this week's doings, or rather the fact that it will occasion the homecoming of the college people will, for, as everyone knows, these very much spoiled members of society have a blisful disregard for formal invitations or affairs and have a way of taking matters into their own hands and upsetting things generally that has given them the reputation of making people twice glad every time they come. Of course, Thursday will be the day of days, and the foot ball game promises to be the feature of that day, for everybody expects to go.

According to gossip, there is to be a luncheon this week that is to include most of the girls of the last two seasons, at which the engagement of one of their number is to be announced. Both young people are of prominent Omaha families and the wedding will probably occur in the spring.

PLEASURES PAST.
Mrs. Edwin Haney was hostess at last week's meeting of the Friday club.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clarke, Jr., entertained at dinner on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Rogers entertained the Chaffing Dish club on Saturday evening.

Rheta Rice entertained about thirty of her young friends Saturday evening at her home on Emmet street.

In honor of Mrs. John Patrick, Mrs. J. H. Patrick, entertained at luncheon at Happy Hollow on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hayden gave an elaborate dinner to about forty guests at their home on Monday evening.

Irene Shepherd had some twenty of her schoolmates as guests at her home on Binney street on Saturday evening.

Mrs. E. M. Morsman was hostess of a handsomely appointed luncheon on Saturday evening in honor of Miss Pritchett.

The Misses Hamlin entertained on Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Leo Hamlin, at their home in Kountze Place.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Munn gave a game dinner on Sunday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Ingram of Minneapolis, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Urquhart.

Mrs. B. P. Marshall entertained at luncheon on Wednesday for Mrs. Ashton, who is Mrs. Guckert's guest, and Mrs. Ingram of Minneapolis, who is visiting Mrs. Charles Urquhart.

About fifty young people were guests of Miss Blanche Howland at a very enjoyable dancing party given at her home on South Thirty-second street on Wednesday evening.

Miss Carrie Rosenstock entertained the Whist club on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Eugene Levy of Nebraska City and Miss Polack of Chicago being the guests of honor. The prize for the afternoon was awarded Miss Lena Rehfeld.

Mrs. Guy French was hostess at Thursday's meeting of the Chrysanthemum club, at which Mrs. Livezey receiving the prize, a dainty water color. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Mabel Fries on Friday, December 19.

Mrs. Marty entertained the members of the South Side Whist club on Tuesday afternoon, nine games of club whist being played. Mrs. Schoning and Mrs. Crick more receiving the prizes. Mrs. Schoning will entertain the next meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Urquhart entertained at cards on Tuesday evening, complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Ingram of Minneapolis, about thirty guests being present. Mrs. Schoning and Mrs. Crick more receiving the prizes. Mrs. Schoning will entertain the next meeting.

Mrs. Robert Dinning, Mr. Howard, Mrs. Frank Ewing and Mr. Knox were the prize winners at last week's meeting of the Harmon club, which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Knutson. Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Dale will entertain the next meeting.

The members of the C. O. T. T. club met last Thursday evening at the home of Mr. Roy Solomon, 1602 Military avenue. Everyone seemed to have a very enjoyable evening, the feature of the evening being the pulling. The club will next meet at Miss Gladys McDill's.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, twenty-ninth and Leavenworth, gave a farewell party Friday to Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Monahan. The floral decorations were elaborate. Cards occupied the evening very pleasantly. Mr. and Mrs. Monahan left for the west Sunday and are to go to Battle Creek, Mich., to visit Mrs. Monahan's parents.

Mrs. A. Richardson was pleasantly surprised on Thursday evening by some of her friends, who remembered her birthday and presented her with a handsome jardiniere stand and picture. After an enjoyable evening was spent in music and games dainty refreshments were served. The guests numbered about thirty.

The Friendly Greeting club was entertained at cards on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Norris, 4219 Grant street. The women's first prize was awarded to Mrs. John Keyser and the gentlemen's first prize to Mr. M. D. Hussie. Consolation prizes were awarded to Mrs. John F. Daly and Mr. F. J. Mieding. After luncheon some excellent instrumental selections were rendered by Mrs. Hussie, Mrs. Keyser and Miss Mary Cook and the vocal selection by Mr. Hussie. The club will next be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Reilly, Fifty-first and Cumming streets, Tuesday evening, December 2.

The Misses Iler were hostesses of one of the smartest buffet luncheons given recently on Thursday, when they entertained about 100 women at their home on South Tenth street. Red and yellow, their tones varying in the different rooms, furnished the color scheme, chrysanthemums, roses and carnations being employed. The parlor, where the Misses Iler received, was in yellow. The dining room was in red. In the center of the table a shower of carnations formed a low mound, the table being lighted by red-shaded candelabra placed at either end. The Misses Iler were assisted by Mesdames J. M. Metcalf, Charles Marsh, T. J. Macdonald, Miss Upstairs, Mercedes Lowe, Cord and Morehead.

The members of the Hanson Park Card club were very pleasantly entertained on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Gordon, at Thirty-first and Pacific streets, about thirty being present. It was an unusually pretty party, the house being effectively trimmed with white chrysanthemums and shaded by soft colored lights. Several prizes were awarded.

Mrs. E. W. Arthur entertained Thursday at six-handed euchre, nine tables being used. The house was decorated with a profusion of amaranth and carnation plants. The prizes were: First, for games hand painted nut bowl, won by Mrs. J. Polcar; second, hand painted plate, won by Mrs. S. Hopper; third, hand painted dish, won by Mrs. H. Talmage. The lone hand prize, a cut-glass olive dish, won by Mrs. Fred Talmage.

In honor of Mrs. Lowell of Colorado Springs, who is her guest, Mrs. Byron H. Smith entertained a very pretty luncheon on Thursday at her home, 1049 Georgia avenue. Five small tables were arranged through the rooms, three being trimmed with white chrysanthemums and two with pink carnations. Plates were laid for four at each table. The rooms were effectively trimmed with yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Sam Ingram of Minneapolis, who has been the guest of Mrs. Charles Urquhart, has been the recipient of a number of complimentary affairs during the week. On Wednesday, Mrs. Albert Thompson of the Sherman gave a luncheon for Mrs. Ingram and Mrs. Urquhart. On Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnson entertained at dinner and later a theater party for Mr. and Mrs. Ingram, and on Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds of Florence gave a dinner in their honor.

For Mrs. Franklyn Gruninger, Mrs. Arthur Pinto gave a beautiful luncheon on Friday. Resting upon a handsome lace center piece over broad bands of satin ribbon, was a large bowl of pink roses, and the candelabra were shaded with pink, dainty water colors of pink roses marked the places of Mrs. Gruninger, Mrs. Frederick Hustin, Mrs. Charles Deuel, Mrs. William Hill-Clarke, Mrs. Charles Marsh, Mrs. Hochstetler, Mrs. McDougal and Mrs. Pinto. A mandolin orchestra, discoursed sweet music during a perfectly appointed luncheon.

Of all the week's affairs there was probably none more replete with enjoyment for the younger members of society than the dancing party given at Metropolitan club on Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. George Fritchett, in honor of their daughter, Miss Margaret, who was brought out at the large reception given by her mother, that closed the week preceding. The club was handsomely trimmed with flowers and the large ball room well filled with dancers.

Mrs. Pritchett and her daughter received their guests together. Mrs. Pritchett being gowned in black lace over white silk, and Miss Pritchett wearing a white mouseline with inset medallions. Downstairs in the dining room supper was served from small tables, each seating four guests and decorated with tall vases of Lawson pink.

Perhaps none of the receptions of the fall have been attended with more general interest among members of the more exclusive set than that of Mrs. Gilbert M. Hitchcock, given on Thursday afternoon, when between 4 and 6 o'clock she presented her daughter, Miss Margaret, to about 200 guests. Few of the young women to be presented this fall will enter society under more favorable auspices. A daughter of one of Omaha's oldest families, Miss Hitchcock has won for herself during the brief period since her return from college an enviable popularity with all, as was attested by the quantities of flowers that surrounded her in welcome on Thursday. Mrs. Hitchcock and her daughter received in the east parlor, standing at the north end of the room with a mass of American Beauty roses extending well to the ceiling for background. The debutante's gown was of white batiste over white silk, with trimmings of insertion and lace. Mrs. Hitchcock was gowned in black, with trimmings of white and jet. In the parlor the chrysanthemums predominated, and here the punch was served. Mrs. H. Deuel and Mrs. George Patterson presiding, assisted by Mesdames Potter, Holdrege, Anna Bourke, Crounse and Marie Crounse. Out in the dining room the decoration was all in red. On the table was a low centerpiece of red carnations, white carnations in bouquets and in the hanging baskets were arranged about the room. Here Mesdames Guy Howard, Lake, Webster and Herman Kountze presided.

Mesdames Kilpatrick and Whitmore assisting in the rooms. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock gave dinner at the Omaha club for the young women who assisted, and a few men, the party consisting of Miss Hitchcock, Miss Holdrege, Miss Potter, Miss Crounse, Miss Marie Crounse, Mesdames McIntyre, Dodge, Powell, Doorley, Young and Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock.

Mrs. John A. Wakefield was hostess of one of the most important functions of the week on Tuesday afternoon, when between 4 and 7 o'clock she received about 250 guests, to whom she presented her daughter, Miss Jeanne. None of the season's debutantes have shared more fully social favor as manifested in floral testimonials, and Mrs. Wakefield has received no more gracious or accomplished acquittal in many seasons. Throughout the house there were quantities of flowers of variety and color that made definite assortment impossible, but the soft red lighting of the rooms affected by the shaded chandeliers emphasized the predominance of the carnations and roses of that shade. In the front parlor the mantel was massed with roses, thick bunches of yellow and white chrysanthemums banking the base. The wall and corner to the right were almost a solid mass of American Beauty roses, while the space to the left was occupied with meteor roses. In the rear parlor there was a prevalence of pink carnations and roses, with amaranth and white blossoms in scattered clusters. In the dining room Miss Wakefield's school colors, yellow and white, were employed in the trimming of the table and room. In the center of the lace cover a low mound of yellow chrysanthemums was arranged, numerous brass candelsticks with white shades completing the decorations. Here Mesdames Kierstead, C. N. Dietz, T. M. Orr and Hoffman presided, assisted by a number of young women. Mrs. Wakefield and her daughter received alone, standing before the mantel in the front parlor. Mrs. Wakefield's gown was of white chiffon, inset with lace and tulle, and elaborately trimmed with tucking. Mrs. Wakefield wore a lavender fowered with trimmings of lace. Assisting through the rooms were Mesdames J. A. McShane, T. M. Orr, G. W. Kelley, O. C. Williams, Ben Robidoux, J. S. Brady, Frank Colpeter, Charles Branch of Lincoln, Harry Wilkins, A. P. Guld, Oscar Hoffman J. Monahan of Lincoln, E. E. Bruce, A. J. Beaton, Edmund Robidoux, L. M. Russell, T. J. Rogers; Mesdames Ella Mae Brown, Gene, Brady, Janet Rogers, Moore, Hitchcock, Orcutt, Fritchett, Holdrege, Lemax, Edith Smith, Potter, Allen, Maybree of Denver, McShane and Burke. On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Wakefield gave a large dinner for the members of the younger set. Two small tables were arranged through the rooms, each with trimmings of different flowers. The centerpieces and were unadorned in the cloth. A single candle of corresponding color rose from the center of the table and the places were marked with dainty water color cards done in figures of golf, society and ping pong men and girls. Each of the tables seated six. Upstairs the rooms had been arranged for reception purposes and trimmed with the same profusion of flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Wakefield were assisted in receiving by Miss Ella Mae Brown.
