The sult in which Harison county seeks to recover $8,326.89 from J. O. Pugsley, a former member of the Harrison county Board of Supervisors, will be tried in the district court of Council Bluffs, having been brought here on a change of venue secured by the defendant.

The defendant, J. O. Pugsley, was a mem ber of the Harrison county Board of Supervisors during the years 1899, 1900 and 1901. Recently he and several other members of the board were indicted on charges of misappropriation of public funds.

In his answer Pugsley asserts that soon after the expiration of his term as supervisor he made out a complete itemized statement, tendered the board a full settlement of all his accounts and asked it to accept the accounting, but that the board ignored his request, as he alleges, without any reason.

The sale of the stock in bulk had been advertised for yesterday morning, but owing to the action begun by the St. Louis firm Trustee Muse had announced before the order was served that the sale would be postponed indefinitely. A number of Whitelaw & Gardiner's creditors have not yet been heard from and for this reason Trustee Muse decided to postpone the sale of the stock. No further action will be taken by either side until Friday, when the district court will be in session again and by which time it is believed a satisfactory settlement will be reached by which the stock can be disposed of.

STATE OFFICIAL OBJECTS TO THE PLAN

Says School Boards Should Pay Wages

People in the Ranks of Teachers.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Nov. 25 .- (Special.) -The problem of how to supply the schools of Iowa with teachers who are competent has already become as important as the other problem of how to secure to the teachers complaint is general in the state that there are not enough teachers available to keep the many schools going. County superintendents are importuned to invite teachers from other countles or other states to fill out the quota. The fact is that the induce ments are so wight that teachers are al-county' superintendent of ways ready to get out and engage in other county, wrote the superintendent of public instruction asking what her rights and duties were in a case where there are not enough teachers in the county certificated to teach, and the demand is that she issue certificates to persons known to be incompetent in order that the schools may be filled. The reply of Superintendent Barrett applies as well to all counties and is as fol-pon the county superintendent the duty of providing the required number of compe-ent teachers. It is officially required of tent teachers. It is officially required of him that he examine applicants at stated times as to their "competency in and ability to teach," statutory subjects, and "if the examination is satisfactory and the applicant is of good moral character," a certificate to that effect shall be issued. In view of this plain provision of law, we think the county superintendent should positively refuse to license the incompetent.

Teachers to Get Rates.

The State Teachers' association has been having trouble getting reduced rates from the railroad companies under as favorable terms as usual. At recent state meetings the Western Passenger association has granted the reduced rates on the certifi-ate plan on condition that holders of certificates pay the joint agent 25 cents for signing each certificate. In other years the association had paid the joint agent directly, paying him about $17 for two days' work. Under the plan proposed the teachers would pay him about $400 for two er three days' work. The committee in charge objected to this. State Superintendent Barrett and Superintendent Sheakley of the on Monday and interviewed the railroad men, asking them to advance the time for the sale of the regular holiday excursion tickets so they could be bought on December 30 as well as on the two or three following days. If this could be done there would be no need of special rates for the teachers' association, which begins in Des Moines the
