FENCES MUST COME DOWN

Such is Determination of Colonel Mealy, Backed by President Roosevelt.

TELLS OF EXECUTIVE'S RESOLUTE STAND

Special Agent of Land Office Has Long Consultation with District Attorney Summers over Land Fraud Question.

Colonel John S. Mealy, special agent of the United States land office, had an extended conference with United States District Attorney Summers yesterday regarding the illegal fencing of government land in the state of Nebraska.

"I do if there is cavalry enough in the United States. I don't know when this extreme measure will be taken, but Mr. Roosevelt seems to be determined. The department allows a notice of sixty days before proceeding."

"I will let it stand until I am making no war upon the widows who have made these entries for a consideration. They already have their money from the cattle men, and I'm the cattle man I am opposing. They claim that the fences cannot be removed until the entries are made in full faith, have been cancelled. It takes two years or more to cancel a homestead entry and at the end of that time another and endless chain of bogus entries, it is not held up without a special report in each case. My showing has been such that hundreds of entries have been held up without any investigation, something that has never before been known. The penalty for illegal fencing is a fine of $1,000 and twelve months in jail."

RECEPTION TO NEW PASTOR

Members and Friends of First Methodist Church Welcome Rev. E. Comble Smith.

Despite the inclement weather 200 or more members and friends of the First Methodist church met at the church parlors last night, where a reception was held in honor of Rev. E. Comble Smith, the new pastor of that congregation and his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith received in the parlors of the church a cordial welcome from the official board and their wives, there being on the reception committee Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Detweiler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Goss, Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Sweeley, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lovrie, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hawley, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Benson, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hippie, Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Maguire, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Belden, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Austin and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ross. After all had met the guests of the evening, the party went to the Sunday school room, where with E. A. Benson as toastmaster, a number of short addresses were made.

Dr. J. W. Jennings, the presiding elder, on behalf of the North Nebraska conference, the ministers of the district and of the Methodist church of the city of Omaha, welcomed the minister to the city and the conference. On behalf of the church and the official board, E. P. Maguire spoke. On behalf of the Sunday school, E. O. Detweiler spoke. Rev. E. P. Trufant was the next speaker, welcoming the new minister to the city on behalf of the ministers of other denominations. He said that Mr. Smith would find an excellent field of labor in this city, where the religious people are so numerous and so earnest, and that he would find reward for his effort, as the people of Omaha are not unreligious and lend aid to all good works.

Mr. Trufant was followed by Mr. Smith, who responded to the words of welcome. He said:

"The representatives from the various societies of the church who have spoken in one harmonious key bespeak the unanimity of the welcome which this church records me. The address of Dr. Jennings opens the doors of city Methodism, and that of Mr. Trufant evidences the unanimity of the Christian sentiment and the brotherliness of other denominations."

The speaker then referred to the cooperation and friendliness which exist between the different denominations and made allusions to the twelve gates to the kingdom, three of which are on one side, those on the north representative of Presbyterianism; on the east of Catholicism and Episcopalianism, the liturgical churches; the west, of the broad and social Congregational church, and the south, the genial, warm, sunny Methodist church. He alluded to the manifestoes of the preacher before proceeding to the main subject.

After the addresses refreshments were served from a table decorated with smilax, roses and wax tapers. At this table were Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Wickham, the refreshments being served by the Misses Margaret Hamilton, Miss Frank and Miss Abby.

Amusements

At the Boyd. Erna Kendall and company in "The Vinegar Buyer," a comedy in three acts, by Herbert Hall Winslow, under direction of Luchier & Co. The cast: Erna Kendall, Bandy Talbot, Charles Bower, Walter Thomas, Roy Fairchild, Bob Blumhagen, Harry Hanlon, John Burges, Harry Hanlon, James, butler at Mrs. Arlington's.

Erna Kendall in his little curtain talk last night said he hadn't come to Nebraska to indulge in any oratorical flights, nor to rise to any dramatic heights, he was merely here to deliver the goods. He spoke of his first visit to Omaha, twenty years ago, when he appeared at the old Boyd theater, and made some pleasant punning allusions to that time and that. Those who recall him in "A Pair of Kids" will have a hard time reconciling him now with his performance then. It time has done nothing else for Mr. Kendall, it has certainly softened his methods and broadened his notions. He mellowed his humor and modulated his strenuousness until it better deserves the epithet courteous. Like DeWitt Hopper and Digby Bell, Mr. Kendall comes back from vaudeville much improved. His play tells a simple little story of life in a Howler lamlet, and introduces the quaint characters one is supposed to meet in the place. Mr. Kendall's character of Joe Miller, the vineyard buyer, was invented for him, and naturally he does what he pleases with it, and that is all good. But he doesn't try to monopolize the stage nor the lauders.

Miss Abbott as Miranda Talbot, the divorced wife of Bandy Talbot, the vineyard buyer, was invented for him, and naturally he does what he pleases with it, and that is all good. But he doesn't try to monopolize the stage nor the lauders.

Charles Roberts of Creston, Ia., is under arrest and will be held for investigation. Roberts says that he has been working on the Burlington extension and the police think he has been engaged in fencing the workmen's cards. Detweiler says he felt his own arrest by attempting to sneak his way into the Victoria hotel when no one but the clerk at the right stand was on duty. Mr. Roberts says he was not the man, so that her presence was not accidental. After a search around one of the men said, "Well, this is the chance of your life," and they went to where some of the men were sitting. The attention of the men said, "Well, this is the chance of your life," and they went to where some of the men were sitting. The attention of the men said, "Well, this is the chance of your life," and they went to where some of the men were sitting.

Thought to Be Coat Thief. Steve Horton, who rooms in the Oxford hotel, Tom Carls living at 44 South Seventeenth street, and George Brown of 222 Bristol street, were arrested last night on suspicion of being concerned in the theft of overcoats from hotels and public buildings in Omaha. Horton was taken to the police station and the police think that the trio were the thieves. One coat was taken from the hallway in the Victoria hotel. Yesterday three men entered the Victoria hotel when no one but the clerk at the right stand was on duty. Mr. Roberts says he was not the man, so that her presence was not accidental. After a search around one of the men said, "Well, this is the chance of your life," and they went to where some of the men were sitting. The attention of the men said, "Well, this is the chance of your life," and they went to where some of the men were sitting.

Keener Woman Loose. The emergency hospital is without a patient and consequently J. D. Homan, the head nurse, is idle. So far this year only three cases of smallpox have been sent to the hospital here. The case which came from the south has been the cause of considerable investigation and the authorities at Montgomery, Ala., are writing here for more information on the subject. The health authorities here are in hopes of getting through the winter without any spread of the disease. Every precaution is now being taken to prevent those who have contracted smallpox from being sent here by authorities in outside towns.

Repairing Sidewalks. The street force was engaged yesterday in repairing sidewalks in the territory south of Q street. It is the intention of the mayor to make as many repairs as possible before winter. Crosswalks are being laid on Thirty-second street from K to T street. When this work is completed the street force will be reduced to a mere repair gang. The road machine, which has done good work for some months, has been laid off for the winter.

RESIGNS POSITION WITH UNION PACIFIC TO ACCEPT ONE WITH SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

The report that M. K. Barnum had resigned as master mechanic of the Nebraska division of the Union Pacific, as published in The Bee yesterday afternoon, was confirmed last night by Mr. Barnum, who, when asked if the report was true, said: "Yes, it is. I have resigned, to take effect December 10. I go to the Southern Railway, on the east of Cathlamet and Episcopalianism, the liturgical churches; the west, of the broad and social Congregational church, and the south, the genial, warm, sunny Methodist church.
