TALK ABOUT POWER PROJECT

Southwest Improvement Club Takes a Preliminary Turn at It.

ANDREW ROSEWATER EXPLAINS PURPOSE

W. H. Green Explains Difficulty of Financing Such a Scheme Hedged About with Unreasonable Restrictive Provisions.

A trial heat of the race to be run Monday night at the mass meeting in the city council chamber over the Rosewater franchise ordinance was paced last evening before the Southwest Improvement club at its regular meeting at Twenty-fourth and At Kountse Memorial Church. Leavenworth streets. City Engineer Rosewater was present to address the club on the subject of his proposed franchise. Counctiman Hascail, representing the opposition, was also present upon invitation. City bers. These five were the principals in an interesting, even though one-sided, debate. Polonaise Mr. Resewater, in the main address of the evening gave in a concise way the important points in his proposition. He pointed out, as has been detailed in the papers and 200 per cent cheaper than the present rate; a source of power that would be an inducement for outsiders to invest their money in factories, business and all Omaha propositions here, and incidentally a lake some eight miles long by three wide, within thirty miles of this city for a summer He showed that he intended to secure the immense power by storing up the waters of the Platte and Elkhorn rivers near the mouth of the latter by joining them together into a lake

Mr. Rosewater also explained his objections to the substitute to his ordinance which has been submitted by Councilman Hascall. He objected chiefly to the first and fifth clauses of this substitute. The first of these specifies that the franchise rights shall terminate at the end of thirty years. Mr. Rosewater held that it was unfair to ask that he attempt to go into this work and bring capital to support it when at the end of thirty years the entire affair might be taken away and leave the supporters nothing. The fifth clause declares that any assignee of these rights must first be approved by the mayor and The city engineer pointed out what his position would be in the event of a mayor and city council being elected who were interested in the advancement of the interests of such a company as the Thomson-Houston Electric Light company. Hascall Has His Say.

After Engineer Rosewater's address Councilman Hascall was called to the front. He touched briefly on the clauses of his substitute proposition to which Mr. Rosewater objected chiefly and dwelt at considerable length on the statement that out are entirely useless because they are already incorporated in the city ordinances. Connell, who begged that an ordinance which meant so much to Omaha and its future be not hedged about with restriction se as to discourage it in any way. He had faith in the Rosewater proposition as the ume that the place and occasion could city engineer had drafted it.

nt Mr Boson water if he attempted to interest eastern capitalists in a proposition hedged about with such restrictions as his not being allowed a franchise until the completion of his power plant.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

For People Know Row Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty. Nearly everybody knows that charcoal t the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifler in nature, but few realize its when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose. Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system. Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking and drinking or after eating onions and other oderous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improve the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently cafe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfeets the mouth and throat from the po sou of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or amother, but probably the best charcoal and most for the money is Stuart's Absurbent Losenges; they are comp; sed of the finest powdered willow charcoal and other barmless antiseptics in tablet form, or, rather, in the form of large, pleasant tasting losenges, the charcoal being mixed with great benefit. A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Absorbent Losenges to all patients suffering from sas in the stomach and howels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Absorbent Losenges than in any of the other charconi tabiota."

Eugene Cowles sang again to Omaha friends last night. The cleared rostrum of a church was his "stage," a dress suit wah his "cortume." But the grandeur of his voice was left unchanged, and that was all his friends of the old Bostonians' days had hoped for or desired. It had the old immeasurable strength, the old unblemished smoothness and the old capacity for arousing in human breasts those emotions that lie beyond the teach of any was propriety and justice in subjecting Mr. Cowles to that layman's criticism passed upon the entertainers of the stage, but years ago his gift, his genius and his wisely-directed effort carried him above and beyond that, and now it is enough to say that he has not deteriorated, has not descended so much as a single step from the high place upon which he stood when his friends in Omaha last heard him. As for this change of method, it is pleasing rather than disappointing. He seems now to be singing more directly to each individual, listener; to be telling "me" rather than "the house" that he loves the sound of "The Horn;" that he has not 'Forgotten;' that he wishes to meet his pilot face to face when he has "Crossed the Bar;" that he still adores Peggy in her "Low-Backed Car," and that he glories in the ring of the hammer on the anvil the clauses which Mr. Rosewater pointed The consequence of this more personal address is a more immediate personal response, and despite the fact that last Mr. Hascall was followed by Attorney night's assemblage far from filled the church, the salvos that greeted him upon and Sewer Extended to the River the Cost May Be Doubled.

There is considerable talk these days of providing means for the construction of a brick sewer from Twentieth and N streets to the river. Such a sewer as the one proposed would drain a considerable amount of territory and could be laid at small cost

"What is needed." said a resident in the eastern portion of the city last night," is a sewer which will run east from Twentieth and N streets to Thirteenth street. Laterals should also be laid north and south of this proposed main sewer."

Engineers who were consulted say that a five-foot brick sewer could be laid for about $25,000. In case it is the plan to run the sewer over to O street and continue the course of the waterway to the river, the cost probably will be doubled.

By the terms of the present charter the city is prohibited from issuing bonds for sewers. This is remedied by the city issuing warrants, which draw interest after fifty days. These warrants are supposed to be paid by property owners benefited. In the case of a big sewer like the one proposed it would be necessary to issue general improvement bonds. These bonds can. so it is asserted, be floated at a low rate of interest, providing the taxpayers will vote for the issue. The project is to be brought before the people by the city council before long.

City After Delinquents

"So much trouble has been caused by property owners protesting against special taxes assessed for the laying of sidewalks that the city now proposes to take a decided stand in the matter," said a city official last night. "In the past, when walks have been laid, the property owners were given a certain length of time in which to comply with the ordinances. When this was not done the city went ahead and laid the walks and taxed the cost up against the property. In a number of instances property owners have disputed the right of the city to levy such special taxes and have carried the case into the courts. It is true that the court has found, at different times, flaws in the ordinances, and therefore some of the special taxes have been declared invalid. In the meantime the property owner has been using the walk laid by the city and was not paying a cent toward the cost. Now it is proposed by the officials to tear up these walks in contested districts, as the material rightly belongs to the city. This will be done shortly unless the taxes are paid.

Several of the members of the council were interviewed on the subject yesterday and they favored the plan of removing all walks in disputed districts where the material was laid and the labor performed by the city. Bank Statements.

At the call of the comptroller of the treasury the national banks forwarded s statement to Washington showing the condition of affairs at the close of business on November 25.

The three national banks had on deposit at the time the call was made the sum of $6,495,450.39. When the prior call was made on September 25 these banks had deposited $6,466,240.21. The November call shows an increase in deposits of $29,210.18.

"This increase at this time of the year certainly speaks well for South Omaha,' said a banker. "As a general thing, funds are withdrawn during November and December. The fact that there is an increase in deposits looks good and shows that the community in which the banks are situated and the territory surrounding South Omaha is in a prosperous condition."

Looking After Disease.

Now that the city is free from smallpox the efficials of the health department propose to do everything possible to prevent new cases. There is, so it is said, to be a general cleaning up all over the city. Trains will be watched to see that cases of smallpox from other cities are not shipped to South Omaha. As the emergency hospital is now empty, the desire of the Board of BANKER DENIES A RUMOR Health is to keep it in this condition during the remainder of the winter, providing such a thing is possible. Last winter the city spent a large amount of money in caring for cases, but as no funds are available this year every precautions will be taken to prevent the starting of a smallpox epi-

At this time General Manager Kenyon will make a report of the business done during the last twelve months. Then will follow an election of directors and officers. As the showing to be made is considered a good one no changes in either the directory or the present officials is contemplated. Brailey Holds Inquest.

Coroner Brailey held an inquest yesterday afternoon over the remains of Michael Shields. The jury listened to the testimony of a number of witnesses and the verdict was that the deceased came to his death by his own hands. Plenty of Candidates for Appointment as Deputy County Attorneys.

WEAVER AND MAGNEY SAID TO BE SLATED

One Deputy, it is Understood, Will be Chosen from Four South Omaha Aspirants-Zeller to Be Messenger.

Fourteen aspiring young lawyers of the democratic faith are anxious to share in the victory of James P. English, county attorney-elect, by drawing the $100 monthly stipend that the law allows a deputy county attorney. There are four deputies to be appointed, but, as this is several times the number really needed and as the work of each is insufficient to interfere with a lawyer's regular practice, there has been a lively scramble for the places ever since the returns made it apparent that

English was a winner. It is reported on the best authority that Mr. English has already selected two of his staff, the fortunate candidates being Frank L. Weaver, who made an unsuccessful run for the senate, and George A. Magney, the populist who is already a deputy county attorney. Ignatius Jehovah Dunn, L. I. Abbott and Harry Burnam, the other members of the present county attorney's staff are willing to stay on the pay roll for another two years, all being active candidates for reappointment. Of the others in the field a likely man is John E. Reagan, president of the Douglas County Democracy, who, being the only candidate of that organization, must needs be appointed unless the Jacksonians are to "hog" the pie counter. Others in the field are: George C. Martin, defeated candidate for the legislature; W. S. Shoemaker, former justice of the peace; John A. Rine, with the law and political firm of Smyth & Smith, and the South Omaha quartet of Joseph J. Breen, R. B. Montgomery, S. L. Winters and H. B. Fleharty. It is understood that one of the deputies is to come from South Omaha.

It has already been decreed that "Count" Gunsolus, messenger in the county attorney's office, is to retire with Mr. Shields and is to be succeeded by John Zeller, a First ward politician and treasurer of the democratic county committee.

The first meeting of the fall of the Omaha Equality club was held on Friday evening in the banquet room of the Paxton hotel and was well attended. Mrs. George Tilden, president of the club, gave an interesting talk setting forth the special features of the coming convention and calling the attention of the women to the new suffrage stamp. A memorial to Elizabeth Cady Stanton was read by Miss Millie Simmons and was followed by a talk by Miss Laura A. Gregg, state organizer, upon the field work that has been done in Nebrasks this fall. There is a general interest among the women in the proposed women's prop erty rights bill. She also gave a brief account of her work in connection with Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and other national workers in Montana last summer, compar ing the prospects there with those in Nobranka. She said that there is a lack of altruism there caused by the transient population, by people going there to make fortunes rather than homes, that is a serious handicap to suffrage work. The women are not well organised, the clubs being chiefly interest, and their members are slow to take up any work of such extensive character.
