ONE MAN KILLED IN WRECK

Three of the Train Crew Injured; One of Whom May Die as Result.

WORK TRAIN BACKS INTO COW THE CAUSE

Dead Man Was Off Duty and Going Home to See His Wife, Who is Seriously Ill—Only Married a Few Months.

As a result of the wreck of a work train on the Wabash road about five miles east of Council Bluffs yesterday morning one man is dead and three are more or less severely injured.

The dead: CLAY HUDNELL, of Moberly, Mo., engineer of the ditcher.

The injured: J. C. Nieman, conductor, Council Bluffs, injuries to both legs, not serious.

A. M. Freeman, brakeman, Stanberry, Mo., severe scalp wound, thought to be injured internally.

D. Myers, brakeman, Council Bluffs, face cut and back wrenched.

The train known as the "ditcher" was composed of an engine, two work cars and a caboose and was backing toward Mineola when the caboose ran over a cow.

The caboose was thrown from the track and turned over on its side. Hudnell, in an effort to save himself, leaped from the caboose, but fell beneath the wheels of the car carrying the ditcher and was literally crushed to pieces.

The body was brought back to Council Bluffs to the undertaking rooms, where an inquest was held yesterday afternoon by Coroner Treynor.

The jury brought in a verdict to the effect that Hudnell met his death as a result of an accident to the work train caused by the caboose running over a cow.

At the inquest it developed that Hudnell was not working on the ditcher yesterday, though he was the regular engineer, but was on his way to Maryville, Mo., where his wife, to whom he was married last June, lay sick. Hudnell had obtained a leave of absence and his place on the ditcher yesterday was taken by another man. Hudnell was in the caboose of the work train, as he desired to change his clothes and decided to ride on the train as far as Mineola, where he intended catching the regular passenger. His home was formerly in Montgomery, Mo., but recently had been moved to Moberly. His wife while visiting in Maryville was taken sick and he was on his way to see her when he was killed.

The witnesses at the inquest were Conductor Nieman, Engineer Behen and Fireman Schlotterback of the work train, Brakemen Freeman and Myers, owing to their injuries, were unable to attend.

Brick Bidding at Tax Sale.

The annual tax sale of delinquent property in the county treasurer's office yesterday attracted a large gathering of real estate men and speculators in tax certificates. The bidding for the choice parcels was the keenest, according to Treasurer Arnd, since he became custodian of the county funds. As a result of the competition among the bidders the list was well cleaned up, but a few undesirable pieces being left unsold. These will be placed under the hammer again Monday, January 13. The list this year was slightly larger than in 1901.

WOODWARD MAN SHOT AT A CHARIVARI

Conference on Religious Education Commences at Ames Friday—Packing Company Has Debtors Arrested.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Dec. 1.—(Special.)—The Board of Control today re-elected for a four-year term as commandant of the state soldiers' home at Marshalltown Colonel C. Horton, who has been in charge of that home for about six years and has given eminent satisfaction. The terms are for four years and the present term expires with the year. Colonel Horton was in the city today and with members of the state board was engaged in buying furniture for some of the new buildings at the home which are now nearly completed. Owing to unusually favorable weather, the work on the new buildings has far progressed that it will be occupied this month or next and the work will not be delayed by the winter.

New corporations were chartered today at the office of the secretary of state as follows: Farmers and Merchants Telephone company of Washita, capital $10,000; by J. H. Johnson and others; Johnson Lumber company of Johnson county, capital $10,000, by Joseph Walker and others; Brooklyn Heating and Lighting company of Brooklyn, capital $10,000, by J. F. Hatcher and others; Evans Car Coupler company of Burlington, capital $25,000, by M. S. Evans and J. M. Weaver.

Shot at a Charivari.

M. Burkhardt of Woodward, Ia., was brought to the hospital here suffering from a bullet wound in the hip. He had received the wound while participating in a charivari after the wedding of his sister in Woodward. It was not discovered who fired the shot, but it was accidental and there will be no prosecution. He submitted to an operation here for the removal of the bullet and will get well.

Julius Baker of Sioux county has been paroled from the state hospital for inebriates at Cherokee, the third to be paroled from that institution.

Failed and Arrested.

A representative of the Acar Packing company of this city is in Perry, where he filed information against W. A. Case and F. A. Liddle, accusing them of obtaining money under false pretenses. They were of the firm of W. A. Case & Co., engaged in the meat trade in Perry, and failed on Saturday. They owed the Acars $247. Late Saturday night some unknown person made an attempt to burn the store building in which the failed firm had lately been doing business, but the fire was discovered and no harm done.

Conference on Religious Education.

The program is out for the Iowa conference of religious education at Ames, beginning next Friday. President MacLean of the state university will preside. There will be an address of welcome by Mayor Farley Sheldon. Among those on the program for the three days are J. E. Gilbert, secretary of the American Society of Religious Education; Rev. George L. Cady of Iowa City, Dr. Jennie McCona of Davenport, C. M. Heard of McNewola, Rev. J. E. Gilbert of Washington, D. C., and Prof. Dan F. Bradley of Grinnell, George D. Adams of Des Moines, C. Summerbell of Palmer college, S. B. McCormick of Coe, E. Sheppard of Drake, F. W. Hilt of Parsons, J. E. Bookwater of Western college and C. F. Casana of State college.

Thief Disguises a Horse

Steals Valuable Animal, Docks Tail and Makes Changes So Owner Will Not Know It.

SHENANDOAH, Ia., Dec. 1.—(Special.)—One of the most determined efforts to steal and disguise a horse, so that it would not be known as that of the thief who led off E. N. Read's driving horse two weeks ago and hid it in a pasture three miles from town.

The pasture was an inside field with but a single corner visible to passerby on the public highways. The only person living where a view of the field could be obtained was B. L. Tool, who noticed the horse in the field about a week after it was stolen. Being something of a horseman he noticed that its action was trotting was much better than the ordinary farm horse and went over to look at the animal. A closer view called to mind the description of Mr. Read's animal and he was soon convinced it was the lost or stolen horse. Mr. Tool drove to Shenandoah and secured Mr. Read, who went out to examine the animal. In the meantime, however, the thief had taken the horse and had reached it, had docked its tail and had made two fictitious brands on it.

The brands were made by trimming the hair very closely so as to resemble some of the usual western brands. A white spot on the animal's hip had also been carefully plucked out, as shown by the absence of the hair. Mr. Read, however, fully recognized the horse and brought it home. The thief has not been apprehended.

Strike Stops Work for Winter.

CRESTON, Ia., Dec. 1.—(Special.)—The strike of the stone masons on the government building here has not been settled and the contractors have closed up the openings in the building and put a roof over the exposed parts and shut down work until spring. They now say that it will be completed by September 1 next. Yearly about twenty local laborers are thrown out of employment for the winter by the shut-down of the work, which has been planned to be continued all winter.
