Zimman Contends that Council Should Not Try to Shift Responsibility of Settling Question at Issue to Other Shoulders.

Councilman Lobeck received a rude shock last night in the treatment accorded to the resolution which he believed would furnish a satisfactory settlement of the power canal franchise controversy and result in an ordinance that would be satisfactory to all concerned. Instead of being received by the council as the only true solution of the difficulty the resolution met with opposition from all sides. Members of the council who favor the ordinance as presented by Andrew Rosewater opposed the resolution in the belief that it was antagonistic to his interests and Councilman Hascall, who has most prominently contested the acceptance of Mr. Rosewater's ordinance, opposed the Lobeck resolution on the ground that it was framed for the benefit of Mr. Rosewater. And still other members of the council objected to the resolution on other grounds.

Joint Committee is Proposed.

This resolution provided for the appointment of a joint committee to consist of three members of the Commercial club, three members of the Real Estate exchange and three representative citizens to be appointed by the mayor and the plan proposes was that this joint committee should-frame an ordinance with due regard for the interests of Mr. Rosewater and the interests of the city as well.

As soon as the resolution made its appearance Mr. Hascall entered his protest against it, criticising the plan proposed in most severe terms. He suggested that whether the resolution had been framed in the interest of Mr. Rosewater or not it would in its operation have the effect of furthering Mr. Rosewater's ends and pur-

Mr. Zimman, who has thus far manifested friendly feeling toward the ordinance as submitted by Mr. Rosewater, declared himself to be opposed to the resolution for the reason that the people had elected nine men to the city council to represent their interests and those men should take the responsibility of deciding such questions as the one now at issue and should not try to shift their duty upon the shoulders of others.

As to Public Sentiment.

Then referring to the meeting of the previous evening of which Mr. Hascall had had a great deal to say in his remarks, Mr. Zimman said: "This was to be a citizens' meeting and not a Hascall meeting or a meeting of the judiciary committee of the council. As it was we had practically no expression from the citizens. Did any representative man of Omaha express any objection to the proposed franchise or has any citizen of this city at any time given any good reason why this ordinance should not be adopted. No. I don't think so, but we have heard a great deal from residents of other places as to the impracticability of Mr. Rosewater's plans. Now, as to Judge Hascall's proposed amendments, his restrictions, as he calls them, I want to say that I think we have too many restrictions now and too little enforcement. We have restrictions in the ordinances governing all of the franchise corporacompanies are permitted to do practically as they please in spite of us-Lobeck Does Not Insist.

After the resolution had been attacked from all sides and the discussion had subsided the president asked Mr. Lobeck if he would like to speak. He ruefully replied that he did not see much use of talking. What he could not quite understand was that both those in favor of the ordinance and those opposed to it should object so vigorously to this resolution, but since it appeared to be so generally unpopular he would not try to force its adoption. He wished to say, however, that the measure was introduced by him in good faith.

The resolution, when put to a vote, was lost by 6 to 2, Mr. Mount being absent. The council authorized the city treasurer to sell to Spitzer & Co. of Toledo, at private sale, the prospective issue of $200,000 of funding bonds at a premium of $3,000. These bonds, as first framed to draw interest at 3% per cent, were advertised for sale with practically no offers. Then on November 27, as 4 per cent bonds, they were again offered, and Spitzer & Co. and one other firm were the only bidders, the highest premium offered being $200. These bids were rejected by the city treasurer, who did not believe they were in good faith, and since then Spitzer & Co. have increased their offer to $3,000. Sustains Mayor's Veto.

The mayor's veto of a voucher to pay $3,-900 to the clerk of the district court in satisfaction of a judgment in the case of Richardson against the city was sustained. In his message the mayor stated that he understood that there was a case now pending that might have some bearing on this matfer, and he would favor waiting at least until the court should mandamus the city

Boys Break Windows.

Pupils in the public schools are reported to be guilty of throwing pebbles through windowglass in school buildings. Slingshots are used and in the territory west of Q street windows in schoolhouses are broken daily by mischievous boys. An effort is to be made to stop this practice, as the constant breaking of glass incurs a heavy expense upon the taxpayers. The plan now is to have officers in citizen's clothes frequent the school buildings for the purpose of arresting those found destroying city property. Members of the School board think that if a few arrests are made and the boys sufficiently punished there will be no more trouble from this source.
