Board of Review Increases the Omaha Assessment Roll.

BUSY NOW WITH THE JOBBING FIRMS

Property Overlooked by Assessor is Added to List and Several Assessments Are Materially Added to After a Hearing.

A number of representatives of business firms appeared before the Board of Review yesterday on citation to give information regarding the personal property of those firms and the entire session was thus occupied.

Among others to appear was A. B. Jaquith, vice president of the Omaha Elevator company, who discussed at some length the method of taxation employed in this city. He was unable to furnish at this time, however, the information desired by the board as to the assessment upon the property of his company located outside of the city of Omaha, and no action was taken upon his case.

In the adjustment of the assessment of the William Bushman warehouse, Ninth and Leavenworth streets, it was found that the Union Selling company, one of the occupants of the warehouse, had been overlooked and an assessment of $2,500 was entered against that company. William Bushman's assessment was fixed at $500.

Another company found to have been overlooked was the Milwaukee division of the International Harvester company, of which J. H. Kroh is the local agent. Its assessment was fixed at $4,000.

Increases in Assessments.

The following increases were made by the board in the personal assessments of firms: Reichenberg-Smith company, from $17,500 to $20,000; People's Furniture and Carpet company, from $300 to $35,000; Porter-Hyerson & Hoelber company, from $6,575 to $15,000; Barber Asphalt company, from $10,000 to $20,250.

The personal property assessment of McWhorter, Hollinger & Sutherland was reduced from $10,500 to $5,000; that of Floyd J. Campbell company $10,500 to $5,000; that of Harry Miller, grain broker, from $5,000 to $1,000, and that of the Omaha Electrical works from $3,000 to $2,000.

After hearing representatives of those firms the board determined to allow the tax commissioner's figures to remain for the personal property assessments of the Martin Cott Hat company at $16,000 and Capel & Johnson at $1,000. In each instance these were the figures returned by the firms themselves.

The assessment of the Omaha Casket company was increased from $10,000 to $15,000, and that of Orchard & Wilhelm was allowed to remain at $5,410, as returned by the firm.

M. E. Smith Company's Plea.

In the afternoon the M. E. Smith company came to appear at that time to show cause why its assessment should not be raised from $200,000 to $375,000, was represented by an attorney who brought a letter from the firm. In this letter the company submitted a protest against the proposed increase, giving figures to show comparisons with alleged competitors in St. Joseph, and arguing that it was not fair to tax mercantile houses on the full value of their property. The attorney was unable to give the information desired by the board as to the affairs of the firm and the board decided to allow the assessment to stand at the increased figure until this information had been submitted.

The board issued a citation to the Pacific Express company to appear Thursday morning and show cause why its assessment should not be raised from $15,500 to $5,555.67. This company made a return of capital stock which it represented to be worth $480,000 and showing exemptions in the form of property taxable elsewhere of $484,473, leaving the remainder to be taxed in this city. The tax committee of the Real Estate exchange brought to the attention of the board the fact that large dividends were earned on all of the company's stock issued for $4,000,000 and the board proceeded on the theory that the stock in worth per and to be taxed here less the deductions presented by the company.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Judge Day has granted Katherine Muriel Mary Baird divorce from John because of non-support. They were married December 23, 1901, in London, England.

The county commissioners have provided transportation to St. Louis for Charles Stewart, victim of Ellis Tolls and her acid peddler. Stewart's eye is still in very bad condition.

James Cooke, Phillip Bressman and John Cooke have incorporated the J. Cooke company to manufacture and sell stamps and stencils. Capital stock, $10,000.

Daniel Blacker, residing at 1304 Capitol avenue, was taken into custody Monday afternoon by Officers Ryan and Kuesen and charged with having made an assault upon his wife.

Rev. Bishop Worthington, S. T. D., will hold an ordination at Trinity cathedral at 10:30 this morning. Rev. Mr. Bate of York, Neb., will be ordained to the priesthood.

John Wise of Millard, Neb., who was brought to this city suffering from exposure, experienced Sunday evening in sleeping outdoors, will not be compelled to undergo the amputation of his fingers.

Alice McClennahan asks divorce from William, alleging nonsupport and infidelity. She also asks that her husband be restrained from attempting to secure the custody of their child. They were married in Council Bluffs March 7, 1900.

A jury in Judge Estelle's court has found for the defendant in the suit of Daniel McKenna against Minnie Fairchild to recover her infidelity alleged to have been received when the defendant's colored housemaid threw him downstairs because he insisted on going up to see the lady.

In county court last evening Judge Vinsomler found for the plaintiff in the replevin suit instituted by Hattie Cain to recover possession of the rooming house at 211 Douglas street and the furniture therein, which furniture Miss Cain's sister, Mrs. Nettie Hillaris, had sold without right to Miss Mary Webber for $100.

In Judge Baxter's court yesterday afternoon the county attorney secured a continuance until Wednesday morning of the state's case against Alonzo V. Miller of the South Omaha school board, charged with accepting bribes. The county attorney had inadvertently neglected to indorse on the information the name of A. L. Lott, an important witness.

Live Stock Exchange Discusses the Fancy Stock Show.

COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE MATTERS

Breeders and Others Will Be Given an Opportunity for Expressing Opinions Before Any Definite Action is Taken.

Live stock men, not only in South Omaha, but all over Nebraska, are interested in the proposed show of fancy cattle to be held here next year. At the meeting of the South Omaha Live Stock exchange yesterday afternoon the matter was brought up and it was decided that a committee should be appointed to investigate. This committee is made up as follows: Captain D. S. Parkhurst, president of the exchange; W. J. C. Kenyon, general manager of the Union Stock Yards company, and J. M. Child, secretary of the Live Stock exchange.

Captain Parkhurst said last night that the mission of the committee was to see what could be done toward securing a first-class show. The idea of the exchange is to have the committee correspond with breeders connected with the different associations in the western part of the country and to ask assistance. Communications will also be sent to the Omaha Commercial club and the club will be requested to do what it can. No definite plans were made by the exchange, as the discussion and the appointment of the committee came along toward the end of the proceedings. The members of the exchange seem to think that the matter is in good hands and will receive proper attention. A report of the committee will not be made to the exchange until January.

It was expected that officers for the ensuing year would be nominated by the exchange yesterday, but this matter was laid over until the latter part of the week. A resolution for cleaning of traveling solicitors was turned down. In lieu of this a substitute was offered recommending that all solicitors be members of the exchange. This amendment will be considered at the January meeting of the exchange. The mayor's talk about railroad rates, etc., but the matter was referred to a committee.

City Council Meets.

Mayor Koutsky had his way last night when he sent in a veto to the council in relation to the payment of $50 to Clark Howard for services alleged to have been rendered as city stock inspector. In his veto the mayor held that the finance committee had no right to place the name of Howard on the appropriation sheet, as the office had been declared vacant. When a vote was called on the veto, three of the four members present voted against the mayor. Mike Smith stood by the administration. The mayor declared that as a majority of the members elected had not voted against his veto, it stood. Then there was some discussion and the city charter was brought out and the three opposing members perched over its contents for some time. The mayor finally called the council to order and other business was proceeded with. As it is now the veto of the mayor stands. One of the members of the council said after the meeting that it would only be for a month, as next month a majority of the council would vote in favor of giving Howard his salary and retaining him in his position.

Two special improvement ordinances, Nos. 157 and 158, were read for the first time and referred to the judiciary committee. Some money was ordered paid to the steward at the Emergency hospital, and then the council adjourned. The next meeting will be held on December 15.

Watkins Gets Back.

Colonel J. B. Watkins and W. S. King returned yesterday from down the river, where they started aboard Castalia. The colonel says that the sailing was bad and that most of the time the crew was engaged in shoving the boat off sand bars on account of low water. About twelve miles this side of St. Joe the boat landed on a bar and was frozen up so that it was decided to abandon the trip to St. Louis. Watkins, King and Talbot walked to St. Joseph, where they thawed out and then returned home by train. The boat will be left where it is in charge of a keeper until spring.

Suit for Possession.

Yesterday City Attorney Murdock commenced suit in the district court against the Anton Bajuk and wife to recover to the city a portion of an alley in block 3 in Alsbright's Choice. This alley is at the intersection of the county road and Washington streets. It appears from the statements made by the city officials that Bajuk has gone beyond his lot lines and has erected buildings which practically close the alley. The suit is brought for the purpose of having the alley opened to traffic.

General Teachers' Meeting.

J. A. McLean, superintendent of the public schools announced yesterday that there would be a general meeting of teachers at the high school building on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. There will be discussions by a number of the teachers, the principal ones being: "The Duties of the Principal," Miss Lena M. Sengert; "Science Teaching in the Grades," Miss Eva O'Sullivan; "English Grammar in the Grades as Related to the Study of Other Languages," Miss Mary Ross. Each of the topics will be followed by a general discussion.

North Star Society Affairs.

The North Star society adopted a resolution at a recent meeting declaring on December 15 its affairs would be dissolved. All claims against the society should be presented to J. A. Nelson, 125 North Twenty-sixth street on or before the date mentioned.

Cavalry Troop Dance.

The South Omaha cavalry troop gave a dance at the troop armory last night. It was the second of a series. Before the dance the men, under command of Captain McCulloch, gave an exhibition drill which was very creditable. Excellent music was furnished and the troopers and the friends of the organization enjoyed the entertainment.

Magic City Gossip.

Jack Begley is seriously ill and has been taken to a hospital. A finance committee of the city council is being organized. E. L. Gustafson, deputy treasurer, is reported on the sick list.

The local Odd Fellow lodges went to Omaha last night to visit lodge No. 10.

The women of the Presbyterian church will give a dinner at the troop armory on Friday.

A broken trolley wire on Twenty-fourth street delayed travel for nearly an hour yesterday morning.

Patrick McNeill secured a permit yesterday for the erection of two cottages at Thirty-first and L streets.

Mrs. Ella Frederick of Keokuk, Ia., is here visiting her sister, Mrs. Esther Ferrill, 328 North Twenty-first street.

The National bank is quite sick. He has typhoid fever and it will be several weeks before he will be able to go to work again.

Wright wrongs no man. Wright's old fashioned buckwheat flour is pure.
