

STATEHOOD IN THE SENATE

Substitute Bill Withdrawn in Order that Amendments May Be Made.

TEXT OF REPORTS READ DURING SESSION

Quay Pleads for Rejection of Omnibus Bill Proposed by Committee, Saying Indian Territory Is Not Ready for Annexation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Almost the entire session of the senate today was devoted to the discussion of the omnibus statehood bill. Early in the morning Mr. Quay (Pa.) submitted a report of his own and its reading lasted until 2, when the statehood bill was laid before the senate. Its reading was begun immediately, and was followed by the reading of the substitute. Mr. Beveridge (Ind.), chairman of the committee on territories, then presented the committee report giving the reasons for recommending joint statehood of Oklahoma and Indian Territory, and for not favoring the omnibus bill.

In between the senate passed a bill refunding certain revenue taxes to owners of private dies and relieving importers from the duty on tea placed in bonded warehouses. Just before the adjournment Mr. Nelson (Maine) secured permission to withdraw the substitute in order to perfect it. Mr. Quay promptly insisted that it should be sent back to the committee, but the chair ruled against him.

When the senate convened today Mr. Quay (Pa.) submitted a number of resolutions of citizens of Oklahoma favoring the omnibus statehood bill and protesting against joint statehood with the Indian Territory.

A wave of laughter swept over the chamber when the clerk read one telegram which expressed the opinion that joint statehood for Oklahoma would make it "hopelessly democratic." Mr. Quay announced that he had sent it to the desk by mistake.

Mr. Quay submitted an individual report favoring the passage of the omnibus statehood bill and opposing the one state bill of the majority committee on territories.

At 2 o'clock the statehood bill was taken up and read at length.

Mr. Bacon (Ga.) offered an amendment changing the name of the proposed state from Oklahoma to "Jefferson."

Report Opposes Statehood. Mr. Beveridge, chairman of the senate committee on territories, presented the report of the majority of committee on territories, which was adopted by the senate.

The admission of New Mexico and Arizona is opposed on the grounds that the population in both territories is sparse and insufficient in numbers, that a vast majority of the people of New Mexico are Spanish descent and speak the Spanish language only, that many of the people of both territories do not understand American institutions. The assertion is made that many of the people do not want statehood.

Accepting the report of representation, which, under the census of 1900, it is found that New Mexico, with 155,810 people, would come in but Arizona would all short of the requirement. The committee lays down the general rule that while no new state should be admitted as large in population as any existing state, it should be large enough to take its fair place with the rest of the republic, and it is declared that it would be well to adopt a rule compelling any new state to have a population equal to the average population of the other states. Such a rule would require a population at the present time of 1,550,000.

Replying to the contention of New Mexico and Arizona, that development has been retarded because of the lack of statehood, the committee points out that Oklahoma developed without statehood and says: "The two territories of Oklahoma and Indian Territory are declared to have a combined population of about a million. Of the people of the Indian Territory only 58,000 are Indians, and attention is called to the fact that many of the people of New Mexico and Arizona, while called Mexicans, are descendants of Indians as well as of Mexicans and Spaniards."

Conferring for the Indian Territory and Oklahoma, the report says that Oklahoma is too contracted in territory for statehood alone, and that "nature, commerce and all human conditions have decreed that they should be united." "If it is a mistake not to admit New Mexico and Arizona at the present time, it is a mistake which can be remedied by any future congress. If it is a mistake to admit them and that mistake is consummated it never can be undone."

Quay Vigorously Opposes. Senator Quay's report in favor of the omnibus bill says the Indian Territory could not be included in the state of Oklahoma, because treaty agreements between the United States and the five tribes provide for a separate political organization for Indian Territory and extend the jurisdiction to the tribes government in 1908.

The proposition of liquor into Indian Territory, which he says would follow a union of the territory with Oklahoma, would demoralize the tribes. The Indian Territory is sunk in all respects to enter the union.

In conclusion Senator Quay says: "For the reasons, therefore, that the republican party in 1900 promised statehood to the territory of New Mexico, and that the territory of New Mexico and Oklahoma, while on this pledge, were made to be admitted to the Indian Territory, which will not move for statehood, and that these territories compare favorably in number of character of population as well as in resources and territorial extent with nearly all the states admitted to the union, the majority of the senate in accordance with the present of the senate, I recommend the passage of the omnibus bill."

GROW SPEAKS OF LABOR

Venerable Representative Urges Industrial Peace Through Profit Sharing Scheme.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The feature of the house proceedings today was a thoughtful speech by Mr. Galusha A. Grow (Pa.) on the situation between labor and capital.

At the end of the present session he will retire, at the age of 79, after a public career extending over half a century. His speech today was consequently regarded as his valedictory and was listened to with close attention.

His conclusion was that some sort of co-operation between labor and capital was the only solution of the problem.

A bill was passed designed to relieve tea importers from the effect of the recent decision imposing a 10 per cent duty on tea imported in bond prior to January 1, 1903.

Another bill to refund the duties collected on merchandise from Porto Rico and the Philippines during the period between ratification of the treaty of Paris and the congressional revenue acts also was passed.

Argues Profit Sharing. After disposing of the tea duties and bill refunding Porto Rican and Philippine payments the house went back into committee of the whole and entered upon the consideration of the bill for the distribution of the president's message. This course was pursued to permit Mr. Grow (Pa.), the venerable speaker, to make some remarks. For years it has been Mr. Grow's custom to take this opportunity to make a speech on the state of the union.

Today he discussed principally the relations of labor and capital in the United States. He said in part:

A labor strike is an unequal contest at best. It is a contest of endurance between hunger and thirst of the human stomach and the income of capital. Capital's endurance consists less in its accumulation of wealth, unless an industry itself should be destroyed, and in such a case labor would be the greatest sufferer. The income of capital would be temporarily lessened. That would be all.

The existence of labor itself is dependent upon constant employment and its condition cannot be improved by idleness or by lawless violence or a disregard of the rights of law-abiding citizens. The relations of both capitalists and laborers, like that of both masters and servants, should be based on justice and equity. The income of labor is of vital importance to the general welfare of the community. The rest upon the comfort of the home and the happiness of the fireside of labor.

Upon motion of Mr. Hepburn (Ia.) the bill to prevent the misbranding and adulteration of food in the District of Columbia and the territories (a pure food bill) was made a special continuing order until disposed of, the order not to interfere with appropriation bills.

Several bills were passed by unanimous consent. One of the bills was to confirm the title of Nellie Eit Heen, the Caucasian wife of a Chinaman, to a homestead entry in South Dakota. Heen made entry in 1895 to 160 acres, being in ignorance of the law which prevented him from acquiring citizenship. Subsequently his wife carried out the provisions of the homestead and the bill confirms her title. The house then adjourned.

Read Bill From Iowa. Was the bill that passed the senate on G. B. Steadman, Newark, N. J., for the Arnie Steadman v. Mrs. Steadman. For sale by Kuhn & Co.

LOCAL BREVIETTES. Judge Carland of South Dakota took up the equity calendar of the circuit court yesterday morning, hearing the case of Francis Malm against Fred W. Munn. Charles P. Southard left for Chicago last night, being called there on account of his brother Albert B. Southard, who was struck by a street car and is expected to live.

Steve Horton, who gave Detectives Donahue and Hettfield and Officer Thomas a run for their money Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning, was held in the station until Thursday at the request of the officers.

William Cook, who is alleged to have assaulted Harvey Thomas Tuesday night while he was employed by the police, was held in the station until Thursday at the request of the officers.

J. D. MacRae, administrator of the estate of Michael Hines, has settled his $5,000 claim against the Union Pacific Railway company for $150. Hines died June 13, 1901, and the claim was received three days prior in the shops at Cheyenne, where he was using a gasoline flame blower, which exploded and threw burning gasoline all over him.

The Benson Methodist Episcopal church has a record of 100 members. Rev. J. W. Jennings, presiding elder of the Omaha district, and Rev. D. K. Russell, having spiritual jurisdiction in a part of this state. Rev. John C. Moore, minister of the proposed church, and William H. Merrill, Edward G. Hillis and Harvey J. Grove, laymen of the parish.

The suspicious characters who founded up Tuesday evening by Officers Bloom and Crowe, who found the men, Henry Butler, Bert Wallace and J. H. Lee, in Sunday school, corner of Thirteenth and Dodge streets. Officer Bloom thinks that Wallace is the man who attempted to hold up the Gull. He is a stranger and continually asks questions. Smith became alarmed lest Wallace try his alleged methods on him and asked for his arrest. Wallace's record will be investigated.

For the benefit of the Union Pacific strikers and their families a display of the "Heart of Navarre" will be given Monday and Tuesday evenings at Washington hall. These paintings have been shown in the largest cities of this country and Europe, and owing to the nature of the subject, they are of particular interest to ministers, bible scholars and all other Christian workers. The City of the New Jerusalem has been heralded as the masterpiece.

Attorneys Lynde J. Abbott and Anthony G. Quinn, of the Parkersburg branch of the Elberfeld company of New York, have filed five bills of complaint in the district court of the United States against the Elberfeld company of Omaha and William H. Dakin and Lincoln Drug company of Lincoln.

EXPLOSION OF STEAM TABLE

Creates Some Commotion in Bee Building, but Injures No One.

SEVERAL PEOPLE HAVE NARROW ESCAPES

Crash is Caused by Bursting of Steam Pipe in Stereotyping Department. Where Damage Amounts to Five Hundred Dollars.

The explosion of a steam table in the stereotyping department of the Bee shortly before noon yesterday completely wrecked the table, tore the plastering from the ceiling of the office directly beneath and caused near being of serious consequences to three men who were in the stereotyping room and two women in the office below. The accident was caused by the breaking of a steam pipe.

At the time the table exploded Foreman S. L. Rowzee and William McKenna of the stereotyping department were each working on opposite sides of it. Without the slightest warning the table was rent in several places, followed by a deafening report and clouds of steam which filled the room. Flying pieces of the debris struck the two employees, who miraculously escaped serious injury, not fatal injuries, however. The most remarkable escape, as the heavy legs of the table just grazed his clothing, while the top of the table struck Rowzee a glancing blow on the leg as it whirled past him. John Fleming, a visiting stereotyper, who was in the room at the time and standing in close proximity to the exploding table, was also uninjured. To add to the excitement, the escaping steam caused consternation for a time.

Women Have Close Call. Directly beneath the stereotyping department, in room 613, two people had very narrow escapes. The force of the explosion was downward, which caused the plaster and fireproof filling of the floor to give way and crash to the suite occupied by Miss A. Mayer, manufacturer of the Re-No-May preparations.

Miss Mayer chanced to be standing at her desk at the time of the accident and the debris dropped with force to the floor of the room within a few feet of her. She had moved from the spot where the wreckage fell just a second or two before the crash came. Miss Mayer's maid was just returning from an errand and had opened the door to step into the office when the explosion happened.

Miss Mayer's maid at the time and who had been caught directly beneath the debris had the accident happened a few seconds later. Escaping steam from the pipes in the room above added to the fright of the two women.

The force of the explosion was heard on several floors and caused some consternation among the occupants of the building. The loss in the stereotyping room alone is estimated to amount to about $500. One other steam table, standing near the one which exploded, is thought to be damaged. Repairs will be completed at once.

How to Avoid the Dangers of a Cold. Everyone must realize the dangers attending a severe cold and that it is always prudent to remain indoors until the danger is passed. Many, however, do not feel able to leave the house and are thus subjected to the danger of catching a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is not only cures, but cures quickly and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia.

Amusements. At the Creighton University Hall. Undergraduates of Creighton university in "For the House" the following list of names in a farewell song of "Auld Lang Syne."

Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

Death Record. Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

Recreation and good exercises in Ping Pong. Tables are 30 cents an hour. Bee Building parlors, 214 South 17th street.

Death Record. Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

Recreation and good exercises in Ping Pong. Tables are 30 cents an hour. Bee Building parlors, 214 South 17th street.

Death Record. Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

Recreation and good exercises in Ping Pong. Tables are 30 cents an hour. Bee Building parlors, 214 South 17th street.

Death Record. Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

Recreation and good exercises in Ping Pong. Tables are 30 cents an hour. Bee Building parlors, 214 South 17th street.

Death Record. Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

Recreation and good exercises in Ping Pong. Tables are 30 cents an hour. Bee Building parlors, 214 South 17th street.

Death Record. Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

Recreation and good exercises in Ping Pong. Tables are 30 cents an hour. Bee Building parlors, 214 South 17th street.

Death Record. Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

Recreation and good exercises in Ping Pong. Tables are 30 cents an hour. Bee Building parlors, 214 South 17th street.

Death Record. Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

Recreation and good exercises in Ping Pong. Tables are 30 cents an hour. Bee Building parlors, 214 South 17th street.

Death Record. Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

Recreation and good exercises in Ping Pong. Tables are 30 cents an hour. Bee Building parlors, 214 South 17th street.

Death Record. Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

Recreation and good exercises in Ping Pong. Tables are 30 cents an hour. Bee Building parlors, 214 South 17th street.

Death Record. Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

Recreation and good exercises in Ping Pong. Tables are 30 cents an hour. Bee Building parlors, 214 South 17th street.

Death Record. Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

Recreation and good exercises in Ping Pong. Tables are 30 cents an hour. Bee Building parlors, 214 South 17th street.

Death Record. Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

TRYING TO PROVE CONTEMPT

Union Pacific Employees Appear in Court Against the Strikers.

CLAIM TO HAVE BEEN INTERFERED WITH

Testimony Falls to Bring Out Any Evidence of Violence on the Part of Strikers—Intimidation is Suggested.

Yesterday morning the hearing of the contempt case against the Union Pacific strikers was resumed. A number of men who are now employed in the Union Pacific shops were examined by Mr. Baldwin and cross-examined by Mr. Smyth.

These men each testified that they had been accosted at times on their way to or from work by the strikers. While they admitted that no violence had been used or attempted they said that violence had been threatened, and detailed live names and phrases which they alleged had been used toward them by the strikers.

Little Dramatic Feature. James Gallier added a dramatic feature to his testimony when he rose from the witness chair at the request of Attorney Baldwin and pushing his way through the crowd of spectators pointed his finger at John H. Bixton, one of the defendants, and accused him of being the man who had called him "scab" and "liar" and other names.

Harry B. Ward, employed in the fuel department of the Union Pacific and living at the shops hotel, said that he had been repeatedly threatened before the injunction, and that since the injunction had been stopped by strikers and made the subject for vile epithets. He also pointed out one of the audience as the man who accosted him.

Frank Bernard testified to having been followed by men whom he believed were strikers in general. P. Szozzpaniak stated that several men had come to his house Sunday last and labored with him in an effort to induce him to leave the employ of the Union Pacific, for whom he is working in the capacity of a machinist. Edward Hill and Julius Hiesley, shop employees, asserted that they had walked past men last Thursday evening who had abused them with profane language. Frank Gray, a machinist, testified that William Richardson met him Sunday morning and argued with him against working in the shops.

Proceedings of the Afternoon. Paul Stein was the first witness called yesterday afternoon. He had served in the capacity of special agent for the Union Pacific and introduced in evidence his notebook in which he had kept a list of the names of strikers he had seen in the vicinity of the Union Pacific shops, and the dates and places he alleged he had seen them congregated. Photographs were also introduced in which he pointed out the faces of the strikers he recognized. On cross-examination he stated he had never seen any action other than "peaceful" on the part of the strikers about the shops.

Thomas W. Wilson was called to the stand in regard to the publication of daily bulletins by the machinists. Copies of these were given in charge of the court for examination.

Michael English, P. J. Leahy and James Cosgrove, watchmen of the Union Pacific shops, each testified that they had seen strikers about the streets in the vicinity of the shops, but said that they had noticed nothing out of the ordinary in their actions.

Jerry C. McMahon, employed in his father's saloon at 1205 Cass street, stated that he was present at the time of an altercation between strikers and strike breakers in front of the saloon on the evening of November 5. This affair, in which William B. Lindsey was charged with assault, was aired in police court and the records in that case was introduced for the judge's contemplation.

Fred Tillman, employed in the Union Pacific shops, pointed out John H. Bixton as the man who had accosted him on the evening of November 17 and sought to induce him to stop working in the shops.

The Union Pacific at 5 o'clock finished with its list of witnesses. At the convening of court at 9 o'clock this morning time will be allowed Attorney Baldwin and Smyth, representing the plaintiff and defendants, respectively, for arguing the legal phases of the case. If this proceeding does not interfere the examination of the witnesses for the defense will follow.

Michael English, P. J. Leahy and James Cosgrove, watchmen of the Union Pacific shops, each testified that they had seen strikers about the streets in the vicinity of the shops, but said that they had noticed nothing out of the ordinary in their actions.

Jerry C. McMahon, employed in his father's saloon at 1205 Cass street, stated that he was present at the time of an altercation between strikers and strike breakers in front of the saloon on the evening of November 5. This affair, in which William B. Lindsey was charged with assault, was aired in police court and the records in that case was introduced for the judge's contemplation.

Fred Tillman, employed in the Union Pacific shops, pointed out John H. Bixton as the man who had accosted him on the evening of November 17 and sought to induce him to stop working in the shops.

The Union Pacific at 5 o'clock finished with its list of witnesses. At the convening of court at 9 o'clock this morning time will be allowed Attorney Baldwin and Smyth, representing the plaintiff and defendants, respectively, for arguing the legal phases of the case. If this proceeding does not interfere the examination of the witnesses for the defense will follow.

Michael English, P. J. Leahy and James Cosgrove, watchmen of the Union Pacific shops, each testified that they had seen strikers about the streets in the vicinity of the shops, but said that they had noticed nothing out of the ordinary in their actions.

Jerry C. McMahon, employed in his father's saloon at 1205 Cass street, stated that he was present at the time of an altercation between strikers and strike breakers in front of the saloon on the evening of November 5. This affair, in which William B. Lindsey was charged with assault, was aired in police court and the records in that case was introduced for the judge's contemplation.

Fred Tillman, employed in the Union Pacific shops, pointed out John H. Bixton as the man who had accosted him on the evening of November 17 and sought to induce him to stop working in the shops.

The Union Pacific at 5 o'clock finished with its list of witnesses. At the convening of court at 9 o'clock this morning time will be allowed Attorney Baldwin and Smyth, representing the plaintiff and defendants, respectively, for arguing the legal phases of the case. If this proceeding does not interfere the examination of the witnesses for the defense will follow.

Michael English, P. J. Leahy and James Cosgrove, watchmen of the Union Pacific shops, each testified that they had seen strikers about the streets in the vicinity of the shops, but said that they had noticed nothing out of the ordinary in their actions.

Jerry C. McMahon, employed in his father's saloon at 1205 Cass street, stated that he was present at the time of an altercation between strikers and strike breakers in front of the saloon on the evening of November 5. This affair, in which William B. Lindsey was charged with assault, was aired in police court and the records in that case was introduced for the judge's contemplation.

Fred Tillman, employed in the Union Pacific shops, pointed out John H. Bixton as the man who had accosted him on the evening of November 17 and sought to induce him to stop working in the shops.

The Union Pacific at 5 o'clock finished with its list of witnesses. At the convening of court at 9 o'clock this morning time will be allowed Attorney Baldwin and Smyth, representing the plaintiff and defendants, respectively, for arguing the legal phases of the case. If this proceeding does not interfere the examination of the witnesses for the defense will follow.

Michael English, P. J. Leahy and James Cosgrove, watchmen of the Union Pacific shops, each testified that they had seen strikers about the streets in the vicinity of the shops, but said that they had noticed nothing out of the ordinary in their actions.

Jerry C. McMahon, employed in his father's saloon at 1205 Cass street, stated that he was present at the time of an altercation between strikers and strike breakers in front of the saloon on the evening of November 5. This affair, in which William B. Lindsey was charged with assault, was aired in police court and the records in that case was introduced for the judge's contemplation.

Fred Tillman, employed in the Union Pacific shops, pointed out John H. Bixton as the man who had accosted him on the evening of November 17 and sought to induce him to stop working in the shops.

The Union Pacific at 5 o'clock finished with its list of witnesses. At the convening of court at 9 o'clock this morning time will be allowed Attorney Baldwin and Smyth, representing the plaintiff and defendants, respectively, for arguing the legal phases of the case. If this proceeding does not interfere the examination of the witnesses for the defense will follow.

Michael English, P. J. Leahy and James Cosgrove, watchmen of the Union Pacific shops, each testified that they had seen strikers about the streets in the vicinity of the shops, but said that they had noticed nothing out of the ordinary in their actions.

Jerry C. McMahon, employed in his father's saloon at 1205 Cass street, stated that he was present at the time of an altercation between strikers and strike breakers in front of the saloon on the evening of November 5. This affair, in which William B. Lindsey was charged with assault, was aired in police court and the records in that case was introduced for the judge's contemplation.

Fred Tillman, employed in the Union Pacific shops, pointed out John H. Bixton as the man who had accosted him on the evening of November 17 and sought to induce him to stop working in the shops.

The Union Pacific at 5 o'clock finished with its list of witnesses. At the convening of court at 9 o'clock this morning time will be allowed Attorney Baldwin and Smyth, representing the plaintiff and defendants, respectively, for arguing the legal phases of the case. If this proceeding does not interfere the examination of the witnesses for the defense will follow.

Michael English, P. J. Leahy and James Cosgrove, watchmen of the Union Pacific shops, each testified that they had seen strikers about the streets in the vicinity of the shops, but said that they had noticed nothing out of the ordinary in their actions.

Jerry C. McMahon, employed in his father's saloon at 1205 Cass street, stated that he was present at the time of an altercation between strikers and strike breakers in front of the saloon on the evening of November 5. This affair, in which William B. Lindsey was charged with assault, was aired in police court and the records in that case was introduced for the judge's contemplation.

Fred Tillman, employed in the Union Pacific shops, pointed out John H. Bixton as the man who had accosted him on the evening of November 17 and sought to induce him to stop working in the shops.

EXPLOSION OF STEAM TABLE

Creates Some Commotion in Bee Building, but Injures No One.

SEVERAL PEOPLE HAVE NARROW ESCAPES

Crash is Caused by Bursting of Steam Pipe in Stereotyping Department. Where Damage Amounts to Five Hundred Dollars.

The explosion of a steam table in the stereotyping department of the Bee shortly before noon yesterday completely wrecked the table, tore the plastering from the ceiling of the office directly beneath and caused near being of serious consequences to three men who were in the stereotyping room and two women in the office below. The accident was caused by the breaking of a steam pipe.

At the time the table exploded Foreman S. L. Rowzee and William McKenna of the stereotyping department were each working on opposite sides of it. Without the slightest warning the table was rent in several places, followed by a deafening report and clouds of steam which filled the room. Flying pieces of the debris struck the two employees, who miraculously escaped serious injury, not fatal injuries, however. The most remarkable escape, as the heavy legs of the table just grazed his clothing, while the top of the table struck Rowzee a glancing blow on the leg as it whirled past him. John Fleming, a visiting stereotyper, who was in the room at the time and standing in close proximity to the exploding table, was also uninjured. To add to the excitement, the escaping steam caused consternation for a time.

Women Have Close Call. Directly beneath the stereotyping department, in room 613, two people had very narrow escapes. The force of the explosion was downward, which caused the plaster and fireproof filling of the floor to give way and crash to the suite occupied by Miss A. Mayer, manufacturer of the Re-No-May preparations.

Miss Mayer chanced to be standing at her desk at the time of the accident and the debris dropped with force to the floor of the room within a few feet of her. She had moved from the spot where the wreckage fell just a second or two before the crash came. Miss Mayer's maid was just returning from an errand and had opened the door to step into the office when the explosion happened.

Miss Mayer's maid at the time and who had been caught directly beneath the debris had the accident happened a few seconds later. Escaping steam from the pipes in the room above added to the fright of the two women.

The force of the explosion was heard on several floors and caused some consternation among the occupants of the building. The loss in the stereotyping room alone is estimated to amount to about $500. One other steam table, standing near the one which exploded, is thought to be damaged. Repairs will be completed at once.

How to Avoid the Dangers of a Cold. Everyone must realize the dangers attending a severe cold and that it is always prudent to remain indoors until the danger is passed. Many, however, do not feel able to leave the house and are thus subjected to the danger of catching a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is not only cures, but cures quickly and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia.

Amusements. At the Creighton University Hall. Undergraduates of Creighton university in "For the House" the following list of names in a farewell song of "Auld Lang Syne."

Prof. Calvin W. Green. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 10.—Prof. Calvin W. Green, professor of mathematics of the Illinois Wesleyan university here, died today aged 45. He was a graduate of the Greenville (Ky.) college and served for a time as principal of the science department of Grove seminary at Roberts, Ky. He had been connected with the local institution for thirteen years and his ability was widely recognized.

Recreation and good exercises in Ping Pong. Tables are 30 cents an hour. Bee Building parlors,