Rev. Yest Announces that St. Mary's Avenue Congregational Will Be Clea.

PLEDGES FOR TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS

After Several Months of Hard Work Committee Secures Pledges Which Will Bring About Burning of the Mortgage.

Christmastide brought unusually good cheer to the members of St. Mary's Congregational church in that the church debt, which has been a burden upon the members, has been provided for and will be discharged. Prior to the delivery of his sermon Sunday morning Rev. Yost stated to his congregation that the $10,000 debt which had been held against the society since the erection of the church building had been man. provided for in pledges which had been secured by the committee, consisting of Judge Day and Messrs. McIntosh, J. B. Piper, J. D. Ware, S. P. Bostwick, L. M. Talmage and M. J. Kennard. These pledges are to become due in January, 1905. He announced that of this sum the Ladies' Ald society of the church had pledged itself to give $1,000. He said also that it was hoped to be able to burn the mortgage on the first Sunday of that year. The securing of the pledges marks the close of three months' most arduous labor on the part of the committee, which was remembered in warm words of in part: speciation and thanks from the lips of are two kinds of joyful songs—those which are two kinds of joyful songs—those which "The songs of angels were all that echoed the peals and booming of cannon announce the birth of the son of a king. But still for 2,000 years the earth and all things, human and animal, have been paying homage to the Son of Christ."

He said that redeemed motherhood began with the birth of Jesus, since when it had been held sacred and dignified. Manhood, he said, had become more exalted, for Christ had made humsuity great; had made labor great and had robbed it of its curse, for even He labored as a carpenter. "The lowliest hodcarrier in Omaha is sacred," he said, "because Christ made him so. He made the sacred human beings in the Pennsylvania coal mines, whose labors would have been lightened and their difficulties ended earlier if that fact could have been pounded into somebody's head."

ON THE BOOK OF REVELATIONS. Rev. Harry G. Hill Begins Series of Seven Sermons.

Rev. Harry G. Hill, pastor of the conhas undertaken to make revelation of the meaning of the Book of Revelations, and will devote the morning services of the next seven Sundays to pointing the sig-nificance of the figures used in the letters to the seven churches of Asia, written by John on the Isle of Patmos while serving centence under Nero. It is his desire that his congregation make comparisons with their church and those of Asia as the study progresses, that they may reap the greater profit from John's counsel. He stated that there are three theories as to the letters, one being that they were really written to seven churches in Asia, another that they were so designated as showing seven ages of the church of Christ, and finally that they typified conditions that exist in various churches always. He accepts the first and the last, and will conduct the study on Rev Mill reminded his hearers in the be-

These Rev. Hill is content to attempt at his own destruction. He was leave untouched, devoting himself to those closeted with Acting Captain Dempsey for he has unraveled. The first of the sermon nearly an hour, at the end of which interseries will be next Sunday's address on view he said that he was fully satisfied the letter to the church at Ephesus. His head and hairs "white like snow" were simply emblematic of purity, His eyes "were as a flame or fire" because so penetrating in their keenness. His feet were as burned brass tried by fire because so firm in the path of righteousness. The two-edged sword proceeding out of His mouth signwied His ability both to exalt virtue and reprove sin. The stars in His right hand were the seven ministers of the seven churches addressed. And all was summed up in the clause, "And His countenance was as the sun shineth in his strength.

In taking up this theme Rev. Hill denied the propriety of the mun-created title, "The revelation of St. John, the divine." He holds this to be disposed of by the very first verse of the book, which begins, "The revelation of Jesus Christ which God gave unto him, to show unto His servants things which must shortly come to pass; and He sent and signified it by His angel unto His

"We are very enthusiastic up in our coundate," continued Mr. Williams. "The snowfall has been unusually large and is unpre cedented for the last decade. For a month now we have had anow on the ground all the time. Then previous to that it was rain and sleet, and so we are generally soaked. A stunner in the crop line is expected as a result of all this precipitation. We are tending more and more to winter wheat each year, but will have big returns proportionately in other grains."

CREAMERY TRADE FLOURISHES

Visitor from Tilden Says This Greatest Year for the Industry.

"The creamery business is more than flourshing in Nebraska," said M. Halsey of Tilden Sunday. "That is my line, and with the end of 1902 at hand it is easy to see evidences of this on every side. I may safely say that we are just finishing the biggest year the state has ever known in that industry. One good proof of this may be found in the manner in which the creamery men are spending money to improve their plants. There is a remarkable demand from all quarters for everything in the line of creamery machinery and equipment, and the very best manufactured product is demanded. This is a good index to the health of the business.

Senator Millard returned from Washingon yesterday morning and will remain in Omaha two weeks on business. The senposition at the capital and will be busy during his stay in the city.

'Matters at Washington will be quiet for two weeks," said he, "and as I had pressing business in Omaba I concluded to come here during the holiday vacation. There will be little done after the recess, anyway, in my opinion. I confidently look for works. Then educate them spiritually, Give the adoption of the reciprocity treaty with Cuba. It appears to me that Senators Elkins and Babcock and the rest of us who were called 'insurgents' are ready to withdraw opposition; at least, I am. I understand that there is practically no change between the treaty proposed last year and the one now up for consideration

There is really nothing being done by the department in the marter of the fencing of the public land. There is a lot of newspaper talk, but nothing in the way of removing the fences can be done with general appropriation bill. "So far as I know, the centest over the appointment of United States district attorney is as it was at the beginning. Mr. Gurley has filed final application for the place and the matter is under consideration. Mr. Summers' term expired December 20, but he will continue in office until a suc cessor is appointed.

"As regards other appointments, there has been nothing done. The term of the present surveyor of the port will expire soon, but I have done nothing in the matter, and there is no activity among applicants for the place. The term of the postmaster does not expire until next December and the present incumbent will be permitted to serve out his term, at least."

Settlement Must Come in Omaha.

No word has come to local strike headquarters from the leaders who have gone to New York to meet E. H. Harriman. WHAT CAUSES DANDRUFF.

Greatest European Authority on Ski Diseases Says It's a Germ.

The old idea that dandruff is scales of skin thrown off, through a feverish condition of the scalp is exploded. Prof. Unna. Hamburg, Germany, European authority on skin diseases, says dandruff is a germ dissease. The germ burrows under the scalp, throwing up little scales of cuticle, and sapping the vitality of the hair at the root. The only hair preparation that kills dandruff germs is Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect.' Not only cures dandruff, but stops falling lightful hair dressing.

Card.

Another stray fact regarding the Union Pacific system has pipped the shell. It bears upon the system in its relation to the strikers, and therefore affords some interesting lights, yet it does not definitely show what is to be done in the case of the strikers.

The constitution of the system is said to contain one section which provides that as a last condition of eligibility under this pension system an employe must be able to furnish a card of good record, and that this card, of course, must come from the department where he was last employed. It is thought that this provision was inserted with special reference to the men who have been on a strike for the past six months. It is assumed that the company would claim justification in refusing to grant good record cards to all these men regardless of whether they had been in the service for ten, twenty or thirty years prior to the strike with unblemished rec-

Omaha Contingent of One Hundred is Put Into Commission for the Big Production.

Omaha's contribution to the "Ben Hur" cohorts, who are to be citizens of Jeru salem and citizens of Antioch, Roman galley slaves and Roman soldiers, Bedouins, camp followers and race track frequenters, to the number of more than 100, assembled on the stage of Boyd's theater yesterday to be given their first work as dramatic accessories. They were taken in care by A. L. Rankin, stage director of "Ben Hur," aided by Charles Feleky, the musical director of the production. One hundred supers were carefully selected from the crowd which responded to the call. Senators, citizens and soldiers are needed to augment the ompany of 220 which arrives on two special trains next Sunday. The choruses, ballets and dancers are all carried with the company, but these additional supernumeraries are selected in each town, one week in advance, for the impressive scenes, especially the Mount of Olivet and the amphitheater after the charlot race.

The work of the necessary drill was taken up yesterday. Applicants were parceled off into senatorial, military and populace groups, each group going under one of Mr. Rankin's assistants. Men, women, boys and girls make up the walting throng at the Mount: at another point some pose as galley slaves and in one scene they are among the populace that crowns the victor after the thrilling race. The drill will continue throughout the week.

Amusements.

"On the Stroke of Twelve," one of the recent blends of oldtime melodramatic situations with modern stage mechanics, alternately convulsed and thrilled two large audiences at the Boyd on Sunday. In a great many respects the piece is remarkable, but in none more so than in the author's total disregard for the intelligence of his audience. He has prepared some most preposterous conditions, and without asking leave precipitates situations, climaxes and minor episodes, such as murders, forgeries, driving from home of affectionate children, and the like, with a readiness that is almost enough to challenge admiration. These are merely episodes, prefatory and in a measure explanatory to the great central incidents, which comprise an escape from Sing Sing prison and the introduction of a scene showing a counterfeiter's den with the counterfeiters busy making money. This latter is, of course, sketched from life as depicted by O. Sleuth in his very voluminous and reliable works on the subject. Another innovation is the introduction of wo pairs of lovers, and the author also imitates the days of the creation in his provision for villains, for "male and female created he them." And it all comes out well in the end. The people who paid to get in enjoyed the show very much and gave audible expression to their feelings.

At the Creighton-Orpheum,

Katherine Osterman is easily the feature of the bill at the Creighton-Orpheum this week. She has a one-act comedy that is by far the best thing she has ever done in Omaha. It is just a scene between two artists in a studio, but it gives Miss Osterof her fine talent as a comedienne. Its lines are bright and witty, occasionally far beyoud the requirements of vaudeville, and the situation is so perfectly natural that New York is concerned, that cannot be the fun is really irresistible. The arraignment of Clyde Clifton Taylor, the little colored lad, in the police court Saturday, and the subsequent exposure of his mothers' alleged neglect of the boy, touched a tender chord in the parental heart, and she called at police headquarters Sunday morning to learn what disposition had been made of the case. When informed that he was still occupying a cell there, the mother quickly informed the desk sergeant she had made arrangements for the lad's future welfare on a farm in Iowa. Upon condition that she provide a proper home for Clyde, he was permitted to be sent across the river.
