Outlook for Spring Business Encouraging to Both Jobbers and Retailers.

GENERAL TENDENCY OF PRICES UPWARD

No New Developments in Rubber Goods Situation, Prices Remaining Firm, but Merchants Seem to Be Holding Back Orders.

The splendid outlook for future business is the one feature which now occupies the minds of Omaha jobbers and manufacturers. They are confident that the situation could not be improved upon and that unless something unexpected happens to change conditions they will sell more spring goods this season than ever before.

Prices on most commodities have not fluctuated to any great extent during the week under review, but still there have been a few instances of upward movement. The general tendency of prices is upward, rather than downward, and values seem to be on a good, firm basis.

Sugar Market a Little Higher.

The sugar market advanced 10 cents per 100 pounds last week and the market may be quoted strong at the advance, with an upward tendency in prices, especially in London, while the demand in New York City shows a moderate improvement.

The bean market is strong and active at the last advance, while fancy hand-picked beans from the United States are in demand. Hand-damaged and discolored stock sells at 100 cents per bushel lower than fancy stock.

In the line of canned goods, futures largely closed in January, but the market remains unchanged. The demand for spruce is usually large for this season of the year, but it is not so active as it was a week ago.

The coffee market is in just about the same position it was a week ago. Ten to fifteen cents per pound is the current price in the market at present, rather dull, the trade in general having all the time on hand that will sell at the current price.

The demand for staple lines of groceries is steady, with a moderate improvement in making comparisons with last year. Jobbers find that their sales for the year are about 10 per cent better than the same period a year ago.

Spring Dry Goods Selling Freely.

Fully as many buyers arrived on the dry goods market last week as in any previous week so early in the season, and they expressed very nice orders. Advice received indicates that there will be a moderate improvement in the outlook for spring business.

Present indications are that the hardware market will be in much the same condition it was last year. By that local jobbers mean that the way the market is going will continue to experience a great deal of difficulty in getting goods as rapidly as they can be ordered, which will mean much annoyance to everyone.

Hardware Market Good and Firm.

There have been no new developments in the rubber case market, with the foreign export. Jobbers are still holding prices good and firm, the same as announced a week ago, but they are confident that there is no prospect of a demoralization of prices.

Rubber Prices Still Hold Firm.

The demand for fruits and vegetables was exceptionally high last week for even this time of year. In view of the light demand there was no particular feature to the market, but the prices for various commodities remained unchanged.

Fruits and Produce.

The receipts of prices were more liberal last week and the market was accordingly a little better. The same was true of butter, but the supply and demand of poultry held about even and prices remained unchanged.
