The assessment of railroad property and at fair cash value like all other reperty, in place of taking the figures the State Board of Equalization, believing that any provision for the assessment any class of property otherwise than in minorally with the constitution would of be valid. The constitution of the state chairs that every person or corporation not be valid. The constitution of the state requires that every person or corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his or her or its proportion to the value of his or her or its proportion to the value of his or her or its proportion in respect to person and property within the Jurisdiction of the hedy imposing the same. The taking of figures returned by the State Board of Equalization for assessment of right of way and certain other railroad property has always seemed inequitable, but became the more so when the law was strictly enforced in regard to assessment strictly enforced in regard to assessment of all other property at full fair cash value.

Departure from Old Practice. I realize the gravity of a departure from long established practice supported by stat-utory provision and can only defend the assumption of seeking a remedy because of the great inequality apparent, and as an of the great inequality apparent, and as an officer bound by the constitution as well as by the law. Where a conflict appears it is not inadmissable to place the matter in such a position that the constitutionality of the provision for assessment through the state board as applied to this municipality be tested before the supreme court as were the five franchised corporation cases a year ago under similar conditions. The action of your tax commissioner in this was enforced by the board of review; the opinion of your tax commissioner in this was enforced by the board of review; the opinion of the city attorney was favorable to the right of the local Board of Equalization to consider the matter and equalize, and the Board of Equalization endorsed the findings of the Board of Review. It seems in every way desirable that the principle at stake should be passed on by the highest court, where so much was involved as in this case.

The assessment as fixed by the two hoards was as follows: State Board. City Board. Union Pacific ... $ 67,649

Mr. Fleming calls attention to the inerease of the assessment of the Pacific Express company by the Board of Equaliza-tion from $115,500 to $5,000,000. This, he says, is so much greater than any former assessment upon the property of the company that it will no doubt be contested, but he notes that the full assessment of capital stock was supported by the city attorney, and says he believes it will be upheld by the courts.
