

ESTIMATES GO TO THE LIMIT

Department Heads Ask All the Money the Law Allows Them.

FIRE CHIEF SALTER ARGUES FOR INCREASE

Presents Showing in Favor of an Appropriation in Excess of the Sum Provided by the Present Charter.

Among the estimates of expense submitted to the mayor and city council, by the heads of departments, in anticipation of the coming tax levy, is that of the chief of the fire department, Chief Salter, who has carefully prepared a statement of the present status of the department and its most urgent needs, and will make the same report that he has in years past to secure sufficient money to place the city's equipment for fire protection on at least an efficient basis and keep it from falling into decay.

Demand for Money is Urgent.

Beside the charter limit of $125,000 for maintenance of the department, Chief Salter has asked that some means be found to provide an appropriation through the general fund of $150,000 to rescue the department from its present run-down condition and place it on a footing of efficiency. He directs attention to the fact that in the cramped condition of the fund for some time past it has been impossible to keep even the apparatus on hand in proper repair or properly painted. One indication of the condition of affairs is that twenty-five of the horses now in service are between the ages of 16 and 25 years, and many of them are crippled and worn out as to be practically useless.

New Houses Needed.

The principal one of the new houses is the one at Eleventh and Jackson streets, already partially provided for, and this is the only one where a new engine would be required. The total cost of building the house and equipping it fully for service as it should be, is estimated by the chief at $20,200. He would place another new house at Twenty-third and Davenport streets or thereabouts, to provide for a district now entirely unprotected, and the cost of the house, with such additional equipment as would be necessary, he estimates at $11,120.

Besides these new houses the chief advocates the idea of buying property and putting up buildings at Fourteenth and Howard and Eleventh and Harney streets, to take the place of the two stations now maintained in rented quarters at Thirteenth and Harney and Eleventh and Harney. This change would not require any expenditure for new apparatus or equipment and he estimates that the cost of property in the vicinity of Fourteenth and Howard streets would be about $10,000 and the cost of a building $15,000. He figures that a lot near Eleventh and Harney could be secured for $7,500 and the house there would cost about $20,000. He suggests that a new building, to cost about $10,000, be put up at Twenty-seventh and Jones streets in place of the one now there, which was formerly a barn and is unfit for occupancy. The chief states that if these changes were made the additional annual expense in salaries and maintenance of the department would amount to about $42,000.

What the Police Want.

Chief of Police Donahue will ask for the charter limit of appropriation for his department, which is $115,000, and in his communication will urge that he shall not be expected to get along with any less amount. His estimate is $91,250 for salaries for a force of 100 men and $16,500 for expenses outside of salaries. The present numerical strength of the force is ninety-four men, which includes the fifteen recently appointed. The chief will call attention to the fact that last year it was found necessary to cut down the force by the removal of sixteen men just at the time of the year when they were most needed and will urge the council to obviate the necessity of any such measure of economy in the present year. The miscellaneous receipts of the police department are about $7,500 per year, and with 90 per cent of the full charter appropriation, or $102,500, there would be available in the fund $111,000.

The health department will ask the council to appropriate the full charter limit of $5,000 and it is generally recognized among the city officers that that amount is not sufficient. The park board will ask for its maximum limit of $30,000 and hopes to get that amount, although the appropriation allowed that department last year was only $30,000.

Man Who Works Interchangeable Mileage Game Said to Be Coming Here.

Will H. Webber, chairman of the railroad committee of the Missouri division of the Travelers' Protective association, writes from St. Louis that the "interchangeable mileage taker" is on his way to Omaha and asks that all persons interested be put on their guard against him. According to reports the game of the man is to present himself as the representative of some organization of commercial travelers which has for its purpose the adoption of a system of interchangeable mileage books by all of the railroads of the country. He approaches jobbers and manufacturers and asks them to contribute money toward the expense of circulating the petition to be signed by travelers and others requesting the roads to adopt the system. The collection of the money is said to be the end of the work so far as the collector is concerned.

The Travelers' Protective Association, through its railroad committee, has taken the matter of interchangeable mileage books before all of the passenger associations and it has been adopted by some of them for certain territory, and there is hope that it will ultimately become universal, but the association has been hampered by the action of this collector and others of his kind to such an extent that it has decided to leave him out of business. He was in St. Louis before Christmas and from there went to Kansas City, where he has operated for a month.

WORD FOR DIETRICH BILL

Thomas Coffey Says Legislature Should Not Have Turned It Down Flat.

Thomas Coffey of Chadron, former representative from that district in the Nebraska legislature, is at the Merchants on his way home from the Stockmen's convention at Kansas City, and more directly from New Orleans, to which place he went on the excursion which followed the convention. "I think that the Nebraska legislature made a mistake in turning down the Dietrich leasing bill," he said. "It should have suggested an amendment and approved the general provisions of the bill, as they are undoubtedly what the majority of people in the cattle country desire. We must have some form of leasing and the failure of the legislature of the state to endorse the Dietrich bill generally probably will result in the defeat of any leasing bill in this congress."

"The south is showing many evidences of prosperity to the traveler at this time," he continued. "I went south of New Orleans into some of the parishes, although the excursion proper ended at the crescent city. Everywhere there were signs that the people are awake to the opportunities now presented by the country and it looks as though the south is really to forge to the front."

CRIMINAL TRIALS TO COME

Twenty-Three Cases Ready for Opening of February Term of Court.

County Attorney English and his staff of deputies are preparing to focus the light of legislation on twenty-three offenders against the peace and dignity of the state of Nebraska, such focusing to begin next Monday afternoon, when the February term of the district court opens. These particular twenty-three are chosen because they are in jail without bail. Most of the cases are of burglary or small forgeries, with one of incest and another of arson. The latter involves Hans Jurgens, charged with the firing of a Florence woman whose daughter had refused to marry him. Attorney English will follow custom and alternate his deputies at the police station, allowing each to carry cases begun there on through the district court.

Funeral of B. Newman.

WILL RESUME CONFERENCE

President Burt Will Receive Strike Leaders Again This Morning.

ALL BIG UNION MEN HERE EXCEPT ONE

President McNeill of Boiler Makers Says President Burt Will Be Told that Piece Work Will Not Be Accepted.

The conference between President Burt of the Union Pacific railway and representatives of the strikers on that system, discontinued in New York three weeks ago, will be resumed at 10 o'clock this morning at Union Pacific headquarters.

When the strike leaders returned from New York they awaited the arrival of Mr. Burt and then asked for a continuance of the conference. He replied "not before two or three weeks, as I am too busy." That was on January 13. The three weeks will be up next Tuesday and the conference begins today.

All the big strike leaders who have had a hand in this matter save one will be here for the conference. John McNeill, president of the International Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Shipbuilders, reached Omaha at 6 o'clock Wednesday night from Denver. James W. Kline, national executive committee man of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, now at Kansas City, was telegraphed yesterday and will be here today. Tom L. Wilson, fourth vice president of the International Association of Machinists, is already here. Only John Slocum, president of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, will be absent, and Mr. Kline is expected to act for him.

Strikers Now in Season.

When it became known yesterday that the conference would be resumed today, a special meeting of the Locomotive Builders Trades council was at once called. The body convened at 12 o'clock, with two objects in view. One was to determine upon a course of action with President Burt tomorrow. The other was to select three representatives from the council, the boiler makers, blacksmiths and machinists, to attend the conference.

A FORMER NEBRASKAN'S SUCCESS.

Henry D. Perky, Head of the Natural Food Company, Visits Omaha.

Henry D. Perky, a former Nebraskan, and the discoverer of shredded wheat biscuit, is visiting Omaha. He is the head of the Natural Food company of Niagara Falls, manufacturer of shredded wheat biscuit. The Natural Food company has recently erected the finest industrial building in the world as their plant. It is not at all in the nature of a factory, as factories are known in the history of America; there have been a number of model factories. There have been co-operative institutions where men have been asked to live with nothing but the golden rule to govern them. But never has any immense manufacturing undertaking been launched, from which a broad, practical platform of ideas as that of the Natural Food company at Niagara Falls. Throughout the whole premises, inside and out, ideas have been successfully carried out which have never before been suggested.

Entering the conservatory through the lobby of this administration building one steps directly into a large foyer or reception room. All the woodwork in the building is white enamel and immaculate in its cleanliness. On either side are writing and reading rooms, and a waiting room. On the roof of the building is a beautifully appointed roof garden furnished with palms, settees and tables which commands a fine view of the river and the rapids.

Dining Room for Employees.

On the fifth floor of the administration building is a thoroughly equipped dining room, the country and it looks as though the building is very handsomely fitted up and with the liberal ideas and broad-minded generosity of the company, is tendered free to conventions.

All the floors of the building are equipped with electric lights, and also with marble and mosaic and also with needle and shower baths. One hour of the company's time is allowed each employe every week. If they choose to take advantage of this luxury. But few hotels can match the sanitary arrangements to be found in the Natural Food conservatory.

No Waiters Allowed.

Around each of the manufacturing floors extend a view from which one can view the making of shredded wheat biscuits without interference to the operatives. In the room where the shredders are located the company has equipped this balcony like a restaurant, but with a very unique style of service. Instead of waitresses, a miniature trolley system, railroad cars and all, operated by electricity, will convey the edibles to the visitors at the plant. At intervals of a few feet along the line stationary chairs have been provided, from each of which one can sit on a level with the track, there is a small desk on which is placed a bill of fare and a tablet. When the order is written it is placed on one of these flat bed trolley cars and a turn pressed. The operator of the system turns a switch and the car travels rapidly to an electric kitchen, near the center of the room, where the meal is prepared and sent back to the visitor; the little flat bed car serves also for a table. This is without doubt one of the most unique arrangements in existence; it is interesting solely for presenting to the visitor the various dishes which can be prepared from shredded wheat.

This is the largest and finest industrial building in America, is a monument to what Mr. Henry D. Perky, its head, found hidden in the gift of nature.

Mr. Perky lived at Wahoo, Neb., several years ago. In 1874 and 1875 he was state senator from Saunders, Dodge and Sarpy counties in the Nebraska legislature. His mother, 91 years old, now lives on a farm seven miles from Stuart, Ia.

WILL BUILD WATER WORKS

War Department Will Construct Its Own System at Fort Leavenworth.

The installation of a water system for Fort Leavenworth is one of the principal undertakings of the military department of the Department of the Missouri for the year. The post is now supplied with water from the city plant at Leavenworth. The intake for the water is just below the sewer from the fort and the officers at the post have decided to have the post be self-sufficient and for some time all the water used by the officers and men has been boiled. This process is both expensive and tedious, so it has been recommended to the War department that a system of water works be made of the post. The capacity of the post is now 3,000 enlisted men, which will give a total population of about 4,000 people, and including the water required for the animals and the grounds, it is believed by the commander of the department and his engineer officers that a plant can be operated almost as cheaply as water can be purchased from the city of Leavenworth.

The chief commissary officer is inspecting the samples of food and supplies sent with the bids opened Wednesday at quarterly supplies. Omaha bidders are generally successful in supplying samples up to the requirements.

SOMETHING IN BUTTER NAME

Secretary Wilson Rules that "Renovated" Cannot Be Replaced with "Process."

Process butter manufacturers of the city have received from James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, a letter, in which he refuses to consider the request of the national association of process butter manufacturers that a change be made in the regulations of the department by which the word "process" may be substituted for the word "renovated" on the packages of butter sent out by the factories. In his letter the secretary says that the word "renovated" was adopted by the department after considering the question at length and upon the recommendation of dairymen, and that no good reason has
