

claimed Mr. McIntosh. "It costs more to support the city of Omaha than it takes to meet the demands of the entire state of Nebraska. Our city taxes are three times what our state taxes are. Why do we not compel the railroads to do their duty and contribute their share toward bearing this burden? Why should the richest and strongest property owners in the city of Omaha be allowed to shirk this obligation?"

Value of Omaha Terminals. Chief Engineer Boggs of the Union Pacific in the maximum rate case, where he said the Union Pacific terminals in Omaha were worth not less than $10,000,000. On 200 blocks in Omaha last year he showed that the Union Pacific paid the municipal sum of $15,566 for all taxes.

After having at first refused to hear Mr. McIntosh and then limiting him to twenty minutes, the committee then listened to a talk from Ben White, attorney of the Elkhorn. Mr. White argued that passing the pending bill would create an equality in Omaha and inequalities in other parts of the state.

After being called to their chairs for four hours, one of the committee-men, Dr. Wilson of Pawnee, woke up and indignantly proclaimed: "Mr. Chairman, we are using hounded here. We have fooled away four or five days listening to arguments on a matter that comes before the legislature and not this committee."

Everybody seemed to agree with the doctor and wondered why he and his colleagues had not discovered this sooner. The joint session of the two committees appointed today has decided to recommend adjournment over next week to allow the revenue committee time to complete its work. The matter will be settled tomorrow.

Baldwin Brought In. John H. Baldwin was smoked out by the Omaha Real Estate exchange committee this afternoon and forced to appear before the joint committee. At first he flatly refused to appear today, despite his recent open letter to Chairman Wend of the tax committee. This position was rather a surprise as he had professed to be extremely anxious to debate the matter before the joint revenue committee, and this challenge was sent to Mr. Baldwin at the Lindell hotel by the real estate men from Omaha.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 29.—Hon. John H. Baldwin, Lindell Hotel, Lincoln, Neb.; Des Moines—Archieve to your letter of the 25th inst., we are glad to hear that you are here with our representative prepared to sustain before the revenue committee of the house of representatives of Nebraska, H. R. 111, the following propositions: 1. That the city of Omaha not pay their fair share of municipal expenses.

Here is Mr. Baldwin's answer: LINCOLN, Jan. 29.—Mr. F. D. Wood, Chairman Omaha Real Estate Exchange, Lincoln, Neb. I have your communication, dated Jan. 29, 1903, which was received by messenger at 1:30 p. m. today. You ask me to appear before the revenue committee of the house of representatives of Nebraska, this date, in joint discussion before the house revenue committee. This is the first information I have received that you expected to discuss this question with you before the house committee at the hour mentioned. I am sorry that I cannot do so.

Something brought about a change in Mr. Baldwin's program, for he appeared this evening before the committee, and made an apology, stating that he had been asked to appear before the revenue committee on Monday night, and that he had been unable to do so.

It should be said that the Lincoln Commercial men are working zealously with the Omaha men for the passage of this bill and want one that will benefit Lincoln in a similar way to that of this bill. The city addressed the meeting today along these lines.

Howell, of Douglas in the senate today introduced a bill providing for the establishment of a greater Omaha. The bill is reviewed in detail in the senate reports.

BILL FOR GREATER OMAHA Joint Resolution Introduced in the Senate by Howell of Douglas. (From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Senator Howell of Douglas this afternoon in the senate laid the first stone in paving a way for greater Omaha. S. F. 120, introduced by Senator Howell, provides for a bill for a joint resolution to amend the constitution of the state of Nebraska, to establish a greater Omaha, to be known as the Douglas senator is as follows: That there more than one-half of the inhabitants of any county shall reside within the corporate limits of some city, town or village, and that such city, town or village may be designated within said county into one political organization to be known as the city, town or village, and that the same shall be governed by one set of officers, and the outgoing territory, if any there be, of such county may be divided into as many wards as the adjacent county or counties without the vote of the inhabitants, and to such new municipal organization the right to make its own charter by a vote of the people within the limits of such territory, and upon the division of any territory, no provision shall be made for the inhabitants, and to such proportion of the general indebtedness, to be paid for by the city, town or village, as may be determined.

time it would not result in a greater Omaha, but its object was that should Omaha at any time want to take up the matter it would have the legal right to do so. NEBRASKA. More Money from Insurance. Senator Hasty of Furnas is very anxious that Nebraska should get more money out of the insurance companies doing business in the state. In the nature of taxes, and to find out the reason that Nebraska is not getting as much as its sister states he introduced a resolution that a committee of three be appointed to investigate. With the resolution, which under the rules went over to tomorrow, Senator Hasty handed in the following comparative statement of business transacted by insurance companies in Iowa for 1900 and for Nebraska for 1901, and the amount of taxes and fees paid into the state treasuries for the respective years by the respective insurance companies not included.

The Central Labor union of Omaha has requested Senator Harrison to introduce a resolution, passed by that body, requesting the passage of a law which would permit the assessment of railroad property within the city limits at its actual cash value. Gambler's Can Come. Some little amusement was created in the usually dignified senate in the discussion of S. F. No. 141, providing for the appropriation of money by county boards for the county fairs.

"Gentlemen," he said in support of the amendment, "at Hastings at the last fair there were some city dudes out there and stole more money from the county folks than was taken in by the fair management."

This aroused Senator Hedge, who stated emphatically that there was no gambling in Hastings. "The preachers of the town destroyed every gambling device in the city, so do not argue for the adoption of the amendment along that line."

Although Senator Hasty announced that it "pained" him, the amendment was lost without a single vote being cast for it. Senate Routine. The senate started the day's business at 10 o'clock by signing "America." It was the first attempt in the song line and some little discord was noticeable.

On behalf of the Central Labor union of Omaha Harrison of Hall introduced a petition asking that the city charter be amended that railroad terminals may be taxed for municipal purposes.

The senate resolved itself into a committee of the whole, with O'Neill of Lancaster in the chair. The following bills were reported back to the senate with the recommendation that they be passed: S. F. 25, giving villages the same right to issue bonds for heating and lighting purposes as cities of the first and second classes.

R. 18, by Douglas of Nebraska, which empowers county treasurers to maintain official seals that would enable them to validate tax files occasioned a heated and protracted debate. The bill having been referred to the judiciary committee, was by a majority recommended to pass and for indefinite postponement by the minority.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury, was the principal speaker at the McKinley dinner given by the West Side Republican club at the Waldorf-Astoria tonight. He admitted the length with the rival claims of protectionists and free traders, claiming that while the latter were right in theory, practically their ideas would play havoc with the country.

Secretary Shaw said in part: I am aware that most of the textbooks and many of the colleges teach free trade, and I am also aware that nearly every man who is educated theoretically is a free trader. I am, however, a protectionist, and I believe that the industrial prosperity in the United States during the past few years has been due to the fact that we have had a tariff which has protected our industries.

After reviewing the opposition to high prices in 1882, resulting in the election of Mr. Cleveland, Mr. Shaw said: There are indications that another campaign will be fought in 1904, and it is again urged that American-made goods can be bought in foreign markets at a lower price than in this country.

Some people complain that our newspapers are too large, and that it is difficult to read them. I believe that it is so unusual for a customer to make a fuss because he has a newspaper that is too large for him.

How about the advertiser? The daily newspaper is the best medium through which advertisers can reach their patrons. If you print from twenty to 200 columns of advertising in a small newspaper, the whole proposition is so absurd that it is astonishing that it is still being done.

would like to introduce the word "reciprocity" into the vocabulary of the masses as well as into that of the government. McKinley at Buffalo seems to me to have driven back the forces of the American future far more than almost any man I know. I think he knew better than we know that the future of the nation was to be decided by the tariff. He knew that if we would "let well enough alone" that we would lose the opportunity of providing for the future of our country. He knew that the markets of the world had been considered by the cabinet, and that the American people can never forget the bullet of the assassin's bullet which struck him down. The reciprocity which will send out the products of the future of our country will be apparently forgotten in the archives of the senate, do not criticize the policy of the tariff, but do not let the reciprocity which is only used as a high sounding phrase to mislead the people and the American people.
