Frank Moore, alias Mail, the negro arrested for the theft of a silk skirt from the residence of Mrs. H. Westcott, when arralgned in police court yesterday insisted that he be allowed to take a change of venue to a justice of the peace court. Judge Scott, believing that Moore was anxious to get a county jail sentence and thus be sure of three meals a day for the next thirty days, continued the hearing until this morning, intimating that he would simply give him a bread and water sentence on a general vagrancy charge and not try him on the larceny charge, thereby preventing a change of venue.

Youngsters Turn Tables.

The second of the series of the bowling contests at the Elks' clubhouse resulted last night in the defeat of the Old Bucks, the former winners, by the Young Bucks, and consequently the supper which for lowed at the Grand hotel had to be paid for by the Old Bucks. The score follows: YOUNG BUCKS.

most emphatic declarations of the views of the Iowa supreme bench on the question of the "original package" subterfuge, by which eigarette dealers, in common with were given in an important decision rendered by the court today, sustaining in every way the lowa law which imposes a nulct tax of $300 a year on all dealers in cigarettes. The opinion, written by Jus-tico Weaver, sustains Judge Burnham in the Marshall county case, and reviews at length the decisions covering similar questions. There were three points at which; the law was attacked by the American Tobacco company and not one was found good. The decision clearly indicates that the tobacco people have little to hope on their becond test case from Muscatine

county, not yet submitted. Justice Weaver said the claim of immunity under the "eriginal package" law is based on the United States court's decision in Lelay against Hardin, and the real question is whether or not ten cigarettes in a small box constitute an original package in the meaning of the law. "As an original proposition," says the court, submitted to commonsense, aided by conscience of average enlightenment and uncomplicated by precedent there would question should be answered in the negative. It must be admitted, however, that authorities are not wanting affording the appellants some ground to believe that any scheme or device-no matter how transparent the fraud-is sufficient to baffle the power of a sovereign state so long as it bears the magic legend 'original package.' This theory has been founded upon what has been supposed to be the holding of the court of last resort in the cases already referred to; but as we view it these decisions do not justify the deductions made."

"Original Packages" a Subterfuge. Reverting to the first case in which "original packages" are mentioned, that of Brown against Maryland, by Marshall, the court says: "In this, as in some other notable instances, the principle then announced has been so distorted and wrested from its original simple meaning that if the great jurist were permitted to return to the scope of his historic labors he would doubtiess hesitate long before acknowledging the legitimacy of the descent of the modern doctrine."

The court concludes by virtually declar-'original package" route to be a fraud, and pholds the law, declaring that the small packages containing ten cigarettes each are not original packages at all. On the other grounds the law is also upheld-that it was properly passed and that it is uniform in its application.
