What the committee should have done was to have made four or five amendments to the present law that would have given temporary relief and then, after the present constitution had been amended to suit present conditions, an entire new revenue law, conforming to it, should be adopted."

Bulk Sale Bill Under Fire.

Most of the day to the senate was taken up as a committee of the whole in discussing the bulk law; providing that no retail merchant should be allowed to sell his stock, entire or in part, outside of the regular trade routine, without first having potified his creditors and filing a list of creditors with the county clerk. The bill was amended and discussed so much that it was finally sent back to the committee which was instructed to patch on the amendments and again bring it forth. Hall of Douglas took a prominent part in trying to pass the bill and Wall of Sherman took an equally prominent stand for its rejection. A majority of those who opposed the bill expressed the opinion that it was an instrument for the benefit of the whole-
