

BLADDER TROUBLE AND WEAK KIDNEYS

Had to Pass Water Very Often Day and Night Cured by the Great Kidney and Bladder Remedy, Swamp-Root.

DR. KILMER & CO., Binghamton, N. Y.

About two years ago I had a very severe case of kidney and bladder trouble. The pain in the small of my back was so severe that I could not stand it to stay in one position more than a moment or two, and was obliged to pass water very often day and night.

PREFER BRIDGE TO COURT CEREMONIALS

Reader Puffles His Efforts to Make These the Center of Social Life—Thanks the Duchess of Marlborough.

(Copyright, 1903, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, Feb. 21.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—King Edward's ill-temper at the opening of Parliament was generally observed.

He especially thanked Consuelo, Duchess of Marlborough, for attending the opening of Parliament and said that if there were more Americans in the English peerage they would know how to make the court what it should be.

An astonishing illustration of how English politics is dominated by royal social influences is afforded by the success so far attending the effort to hush up the Grenadier Guards scandal.

William Bromley Davenport, M. P., in behalf of Colonel Kinloch, who has been retired and Admiral Cochrane, for the hazed officers wrote to the Times announcing that the matter would be brought before Parliament immediately.

But on Tuesday afternoon Lord Knollys, the king's secretary, saw Prime Minister Balfour and conveyed to him the king's wish that the subject should not be debated in Parliament if it could be avoided and now it is announced that no Parliamentary action will be taken.

German Court Circles Preparing for the Forthcoming Functions.

(Copyright, 1903, by Press Publishing Co.) BERLIN, Feb. 21.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—The greatest activity is displayed in German court dancing circles. All the best dancers are teaching young courtiers their steps.

The chief exercising ground of the young aristocrat is the large rooms of the Kaiserhof, but in private circles also the lessons are being vigorously learned.

One of the biggest functions at the coming festivities will be a grand ball in Frederick the Great style.

CITIZENS UP IN ARMS (Continued from First Page.) The subject which the meeting was called to consider, he said, "I think there is a misunderstanding as to the telephone company and it is only fair to show where it stands. Under the new method it will pay more taxes than at present. This is not the bill the company wants put through. It desires to be placed on the same basis as the railway and telegraph companies and have its valuation distributed in the same manner over the state by the State Board of Equalization."

From a financial standpoint I think it is wrong to estimate the value of a franchise by the gross earnings. The value of the franchise can be best determined by capitalizing the net earnings. The enactment of the proposed method would take out of taxing jurisdiction much property that is now yielding revenue. We must remember that the bill applies to the whole state as well as to Omaha, and that it will benefit powerful corporations in Lincoln and elsewhere. I would favor the passage by this meeting of a resolution, declaring that the present system of taxing franchised corporations should be maintained.

Equitable Method of Assessment. T. J. Mahoney spoke directly on the merits of the question. "The relative value of the franchise to the tangible property may differ greatly according to the kind of franchises and privileges, it accords," he said. "Capitalization of net earnings provides an equitable basis for the taxing of franchises, one franchise necessarily being of greater value than another because it is worth more. The earnings of both the tangible property and the franchise should be taken into consideration jointly. The valuation of the franchise by gross earnings is a purely artificial and arbitrary means of estimating the value, there being no relation at all between the value of the franchise and the annual gross earnings. The citizens ought to oppose any proposition that closes the door to ascertaining the real truth as to the value of a franchise."

OFFICER'S CLUB IS MIGHTY

New York Police Commissioner Comments on London Department.

MEN HAVE EASIER TIME THAN FINEST

Crowds in British Metropolis More Tractable Than in New York—Officers Seldom Need the Locoat.

(Copyright, 1903, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, Feb. 21.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—"One policeman with a club is worth ten without," is the conclusion Deputy Police Commissioner Piper of New York has arrived at, he tells the World correspondent, after having studied the London police system all this week. Captain Piper came here for rest, he says, but he has been working hard twelve hours every day.

"Any opinion I may have given heretofore regarding the London police arrangements necessarily were superficial," he continued. "It is only now that I am beginning to get into the matter. One thing that is perfectly clear is that the police problems here are quite different from those in New York, because of the different conditions and the different people."

"With us the natural propensity is to break regulations, if it can be done with safety. Here the inclination is to obey the law."

"Londoners are very subservient to the police and do not mind being held up for a little time. Our people are in a greater hurry to 'get there.' They are more impatient and less amenable to authority. The club with us is a necessity. Whenever the London police get into difficulty they get along without the club. You had police 'burn' when the king was opening Parliament."

"I see hostile comment here on my preference for getting at people in the rear of a crowd, and also pushing forward instead of thrusting the helpless people in the front rank back, as you do here; still I adhere to my view. It is the people who are pushing that you want to stop, not those who are being pushed."

Take Kindly to Delay. "I visited yesterday and today the traffic-congested parts of the city of London, near the Bank of England, and the Mansion House. I saw nothing phenomenal in the management of the traffic there. If we held up traffic at the corner of Fifth and Forty-second street as long as they do at the bank we should have a solid mass stuck for eight blocks. The system works well here because the temperament of the people is different. Here as a rule the people don't mind being delayed."

"The police here don't patrol as much as they do in New York. They seem to stay about the most attractive part of their beats. They would be smartly fined in New York if they hung around as they do here. That the London police are polite is unquestionable, but they are obeyed so readily they have nothing to ruffle them."

"In street cleaning, Londoners are somewhat ahead of us. I like the iron boxes you have on the sidewalks into which the road's refuse is immediately thrown, so it is not trodden over, as it is in New York."

"But here again different conditions explain the different system. Without tenants it would be impossible to secure sanitation except in that way."

Being asked what he thought of the condition of Piccadilly Circus and Regent streets, when thronged with giddy women at night, Captain Piper answered: "There is nothing as bad as that in any thoroughfare in New York. The police here don't appear to have instructions to interfere with the women, but such a state of affairs would not be tolerated in New York, especially in the main thoroughfares."

The correspondent inquired if the deputy intended to look into the London detective department. "If I have time," he replied. "I shall sail on Thursday. I have been obliged to abandon the trip to Paris owing to the pressure of work here. I have been treated with the utmost kindness and consideration, but I am about done up."

SAILORS DESERT A BRIG. Attempt to Row to Land in Small Boat and Three Are Drowned.

HONOLULU, Feb. 21.—Seven sailors deserted from the brig Geneva last night and attempted to row ashore in a small boat. Only four of the men have since been heard from and it is believed that the others were drowned.

The men who deserted are Frank Hutcheson, George Doppen, J. Gillespie, James Bryan, James Kelly, James Davis and George Hutton.

Their boat was broken by striking on a reef, and four men were seen to come ashore. They are in hiding and it is not known where they were drowned.

(Copyright, 1903, by Press Publishing Co.) PARIS, Feb. 21.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—Another American girl, Miss Ruby Savage of Boston, has made her debut on the French stage. On Thursday night she sang the role of Euridice in Gluck's "Orpheus" at the Municipal opera house. Perfect Confidence. Where there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptoms of croup, there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of that disease. Mrs. M. I. Bastford of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of her experience in the use of that remedy, says: "I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, for I have used it with perfect success. My child Garland is subject to severe attacks of croup and it always gives him prompt relief."
