Councilman Hascall dragged the "open door" ordinance from its resting place in the files last night by a resolution which was instantly seconded by Councilman Mount. The measure had been read the first and second times, been advertised and there was not a single barrier in its way. The councilmen who have stood pat on the Rosewater ordinance held a short consultation and evidently agreed that resistance was hopeless, as they made but little. This is the way the vote went: Ayes-Hascall, Hoye, Mount, Whitehorn, Karr. Noes-Burkley, Lobeck, Trostler, Zimman, Lobeck explained his vote, saying: "This is not the genuine Rosewater ordinance, is not fathered by Mr. Rosewater and has no right to bear his name. It is not what he asked for and is not what the citizens want. His ordinance has been changed so this one is no use to him and one that he can do nothing with.
