

ELKHORN BECOMES DIVISION

Chicago & Northwestern Takes Complete Control of Transmissouri Lines.

BIDWELL REMAINS IN GENERAL CHARGE

J. A. Kuhn Becomes Assistant General Freight and Passenger Agent and Major Buchanan is Apparently Retired.

"The Nebraska and Wyoming division of the Chicago & Northwestern railway" will be the name of the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railroad, George F. Bidwell will remain in general charge of the division, C. C. Hughes will remain in charge of the operating department and John A. Kuhn will be assistant general freight and passenger agent of the Chicago & Northwestern railway, with headquarters at Omaha, and in charge of the traffic department of the Nebraska and Wyoming division. W. H. Jones will be division freight agent in charge of the freight side and J. W. Munn will be division passenger agent in charge of the passenger department.

All this is to take effect on March 1, and the information was brought to Omaha yesterday from Chicago by General Manager Bidwell and General Freight Agent Kuhn, who went there on Monday for this purpose. Mr. Bidwell on his return made the following statement: "The Northwestern lines west of the Missouri river will on and after March 1 be operated as the Nebraska and Wyoming division of the Chicago & Northwestern railway. The office will remain in Omaha and the business of the line will be conducted in all essential particulars the same as heretofore. I think I am safe in saying that I shall remain in charge as manager, Mr. Kuhn in charge of freight, and Mr. Hughes in charge of operating. Some details had not been fully arranged at the time of my last advice and I am not in position, therefore, to say more at this time."

No Mention of Buchanan.

Thus the changes in the traffic department are all arranged and the new titles set. Mr. Jones has been chief clerk in the freight department, Mr. Munn chief clerk in the passenger department. The circular announcing the new appointments is issued by H. R. McCullough, third vice president of the Chicago & Northwestern railway and in charge of traffic matters. No provision is made for General Passenger Agent Buchanan in this circular, both freight and passenger jurisdiction being combined under Mr. Kuhn, who has been general freight agent.

In the operating department exact titles are not yet published. This department is in direct charge of President Marvin Huggitt, who has been ill for ten days, and has not yet issued his circular on this matter. Mr. Bidwell's statement conveys the general information, save as to the titles he and Mr. Hughes will have. Mr. Bidwell will probably be made an assistant to General Manager Gardner and Mr. Hughes division superintendent in charge of the Nebraska and Wyoming division.

Thus the three divisions of the Elkhorn line, the South Platte, the Eastern and the Black Hills divisions, are to be combined into one division of the Northwestern. All lettering, advertising, stationery and transportation will be changed immediately. The division will be an integral part of the Northwestern line and will have no distinguishing mark from it.

No change in the office forces will result. Staffs will remain as now and the same headquarters be occupied as now. They are far more commodious and dignified than the usual division headquarters in most places on almost any road.

Railway Notes and Personal.

E. L. Lomax, general passenger agent of the Union Pacific railway, has gone to Chicago.

Gerritt Fort, assistant general passenger agent of the Union Pacific railway, has gone to Chicago.

Gus Swanson, a gateman at Union station, is on duty again after a two months' absence.

J. C. Stubbs, traffic director of the Harriman line, and third vice president of the Southern Railway, will be in Omaha Wednesday night en route to St. Francisco. He was in his private car, accompanied by his wife.

On March 10 Robert J. Collier, of Collier's Weekly, will bring through Omaha a party in a special car from New York to St. Paul. They will remain here till night, going south then via the Burlington to Kansas City and St. Louis, thence west to Pennsylvania.

Objection has been made by some lines to the proposition of the Chicago & Northwestern railway to put collector rates in effect on its line from March 1 to 21. The remonstrance made is that the section is not an agricultural country, and has no reason for offering one-way collector rates to it.

NEW HEADGAR AT CITY HALL

Biggest and Proudest Variation on the German Yachting Cap Appears.

A new automobile cap has arrived at the city hall and has been declared the "thing" by the fashion dictators there. It is the biggest and proudest variation on the German yachting cap, made famous and popular by Mayor Moore and others. A man wearing one needs no umbrella when it rains nor Panama in blistering sun, for the eaves of the cap project out like the halos in pictures of the saints. The roof of the crown pokes its nose in the air toward the front at an angle of 45 degrees and with an immense flare. Comptroller Westberg made the find the other day in a shop window. Thirty seconds later he had one of the sky-pieces thought to cost him $10 in cash. Within two hours after he had worn it in the city hall and been duly congratulated Councilman Trostler appeared under the same kind of a lid. When he walked in on a meeting of the Advisory board a general sigh of admiration went up and "Bill" Coburn, City Engineer Roseward, Health Commissioner Ralph and many others tried it on. Yesterday there was a plethora of automobile caps in the city hall. Their wearers declared enthusiastically that they would try any kind of a face and asserted that at a special session of the mayor's office it had been declared that a city official didn't need to own an auto in order to wear the haberdashery.

More Salary for Pastor.

At the meeting of the society of the St. Mary's Avenue Congregational church Wednesday night, the recommendation of the board of trustees, the salary of Rev. Robert Yost was increased from $2,000 to $2,500 per year, with the effect of the beginning of his second year as pastor, April 1.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES

"The Second Mrs. Tangueray" at the Boyd.

Rose Coghlan in Arthur Wing Pinero's society drama, "The Second Mrs. Tangueray," at the Boyd. The cast: Aubrey Tangueray, Franklin Ritchie; Rose Coghlan, Lydia; Oscar Norbert, Captain Hugh Ardale; David Elmer, Frank; James F. Donnelly, Harry Gordon; Jayne, M. D.; Harry Calvin, Mrs. Coghlan; James F. Donnelly, Mrs. Cortelyou; Adelaide Raton Colton, Mrs. Coghlan; Paula Ray, Rose Coghlan, as...

Paula Tangueray in her best aspect is not a very attractive person. Her features are people who have old-fashioned notions on certain points of personal behavior and responsibility, and the peculiar attributes of her character that might appeal to those who affect the "modern" ideas of social existence are hardly those that Rose Coghlan in her mature years is capable of giving their best expression. So, in a word, the one-night engagement of Miss Coghlan in the Arthur Wing Pinero exposition of an admitted fact may be classed as both an artistic and a social failure. Some two or three hundred people braved the storm to attend the performance, but these were neither responsive to the efforts of the actress or greatly moved by her anguish of soul. Some, in fact, were sufficiently dense of understanding as to actually snicker at her that she had made a comedy of a thoughtless person, but which were intended to represent a long-borne of desperation and the despairing admission of an inexorable fact. This lack of sympathy and understanding on the part of the audience at least, has not been a disaster to the company, with a very obvious result.

Miss Coghlan shows plainly the flight of years. Even at the best she was never by nature or training fitted for the part of the woman who tried to break down that barrier erected long ago against the actor who has slanted. Mr. Pinero merely gave more extended expression to a social axiom in writing "The Second Mrs. Tangueray," and while some actresses have undertaken to make the part a plea for the forgiveness of the woman, Miss Coghlan merely succeeds in making plain the utter hopelessness of her situation. From any standpoint the piece is not especially inspiring, and with such interpretation as it had last night it becomes positively depressing.

In some respect Miss Coghlan's support is as unfortunate in conception of the intention of the play as she is in her interpretation of the leading role. For example, Mr. Ritchie, who has the part of Aubrey Tangueray, admits his defeat before the first shot is fired in the battle. According to his idea of the role, Tangueray knew he was making a blunder, but refused to withdraw even while he had an opportunity, and persisted in going ahead to what he was convinced could only bring misery to him. The real Tangueray had some sort of Quixotic notion that he would win in time, but the Ritchie Tangueray fails to disclose this at any time. David Elmer as Caley Drummie, the hard-headed, cynical man of the world, who really loved his friend, seemed to be the only one with a real good notion of what was expected of him. The engagement was for one night only.

FOOD PROTECTION

The Circuit Court of the United States Decides in Favor of the In-ner-seal Package.

A decision far-reaching in its effect and of interest to all lovers of pure food, has been handed down by Judge Adams in the circuit court of the United States.

The suit in question was brought against the Union Biscuit company for infringement on the in-ner-seal package, controlled exclusively by the National Biscuit company, for the protection of biscuit and crackers against moisture, and other conditions in all parts of the country, from New Orleans to New York, from Florida to Minnesota and from California to Massachusetts. The uniform testimony from all these regions is to the effect that the contents of the box are preserved in their original freshness and flavor.

"The whole testimony in my opinion clearly shows that the box of the patent materially facilitates the distribution of inexpensive food products to the consumer and at the same time lessens the cost and enhances the intrinsic value of such products." Judge Adams' full decision against the infringement not only shows the great importance of the in-ner-seal package, but is so broad and conclusive as to prevent any further violation of the rights of the National Biscuit company.

TO BUILD THE AUDITORIUM

Directors Open Bids on Superstructure and Will Award Contract.

THEY DESIRE TO HURRY CONSTRUCTION

Time Limit Proposed by Lowest Responsible Bidder is Said to Be Too Extended to Suit Majority of the Directors.

The Board of Directors of the Auditorium company opened bids Wednesday night for the construction of the stone and brick work for the superstructure of the building, and within a few days will let the contract for the work.

It is said the contract would have been awarded Wednesday night but for a question raised as to the time in which the work can be completed. The board desire to have the building completed as soon as possible, and the lowest responsible bidder would not make as short time in the contract as some of the others, so the matter will be taken up with him to see if he cannot reduce the time.

The exact figures were not given out, but it is understood that the bids were comparatively close, and that the bid which was considered the most desirable was approximately $65,000.

The contract cannot be entered into until the return of F. A. Nash, president of the company, who left the city Wednesday night for a few days.

TROOPS FOR FAIR DEDICATION

Officers of Department of the Missouri Are Beginning to Make Plans.

Officers of the Department of the Missouri are beginning to discuss the movement of troops to St. Louis to attend the ceremonies of the dedication of the Louisiana Purchase exposition. It is expected that troops from Forts Crook, Riley, Leavenworth and Jefferson barracks will be present. General Corbin, adjutant general of the army, has written to the managers of the exposition to act as grand marshal of the civic and military parade and it is expected that he will personally designate the troops which will be in the line of march. The United States has no money available for the payment of the transportation of the troops and the extent of the demonstration will depend to a large extent upon the funds voted by the exposition management for the purpose.

From the Department of the Missouri 2,500 men, with their arms and accoutrements of officers, can be sent if desired, including every branch of the service with the exception of the coast artillery. This number is made up of artillery, cavalry, engineers and infantry to the number of 1,400 from Fort Leavenworth, artillery, cavalry and infantry from Fort Riley of the number of 1,000; cavalry and artillery from Jefferson barracks to the number of 400 and infantry from Fort Crook to the number of 350. The dedication exercises will be held April 20 and May 1 and 2.

JOBBERS TO ENTER PROTEST

Large Delegation Will Attend Meeting of Western General Passenger Agents.

The Western Association of General Passenger Agents will hold its session at Hot Springs, Ark., March 5, and a large number of the jobbers of Omaha and towns on the Missouri and Nebraska rivers are making arrangements to be present to protest against the change in the excess baggage rates. These rates were to have gone into effect March 1, but their effective-ness was postponed one month in order to permit the jobbers to make their protest.

Said a Omaha jobber: "If this new rate is enforced it will cause the establishment of a hock line paralleling every railroad line in the west. The new rate is excessive only as it applies to short distances, and the towns are so close together in Iowa, Nebraska and the northern part of Kansas that a little judicious division of time a man can make two or more of them in a day. He can drive the six or seven miles intervening and carry his simple cases cheaper than he can carry them by train if the new rates are enforced, and this will be done by those houses which carry large lines of samples."

PLEASURE CLUB WINS SUIT

Judge Day Grants Permanent Injunction Against Former Secretary Myers.

No cessation of gaiety by the Pleasure club in Moran's hall each Saturday night will be compelled, as Judge Day yesterday made permanent the injunction against James J. Myers and W. R. Moran from interfering with the regular Saturday night dances. Even though it is Lent, the club may now devote itself solely to its title role and no longer participate in court litigation. The case was brought about by Newman and others on behalf of the club. It was alleged that Myers, who was secretary of the organization, had secured the cancellation of the club's lease for use of the hall during the season by certain representations to the proprietor, W. R. Moran, who had issued another lease to Myers.

No Verdict in McKenna Case.

In the case of Ed McKenna, charged with the burglary of Lewis O'Neare's house on North Sixteenth street, the jury reported an unparaleled record. Judge Sibley ordered the jury dismissed and a new trial for the case was granted. The jury had been in session for several days and the testimony that should be considered in determining McKenna's guilt, but were unable to all view it in the same light.

WOMAN IN CLUB AND CHARITY

The Woman's club of the Railway Mail service held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carl Egge, at 402 Hamilton street, eighteen members being present.

The "Tenure of Office" was the subject of an interesting paper given by Mrs. J. O. Burger in connection with the club's study of civil service reform. The remainder of the afternoon was spent socially. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. F. H. Cole.

Club women will be interested to know that the much-talked-of model school, to be supported by the Massachusetts federation, has at last been opened in Georgia. It is the first of the kind in the world and was proposed as a part of the effort to overcome the evils of child labor in the south. Donations were made by the various clubs of the Massachusetts federation, and now their plan is in operation.

Four acres of ground surround the school, and the children will be taught gardening and scientific strawberry growing, in addition to their other studies. There is also a model kitchen in the school, and domestic science will be an important part of the training. It is expected to keep the school open at least six months in the year.
