Popcorn Crop Pays.

TECUMSEH, Neb., March 1.—(Special.)—H. J. Taylor of North Platte has been visiting relatives here the last week. He tells good stories concerning the raising of popcorn in Valley county. A great deal of it is grown there. A year ago last fall Mr. Taylor went out there and bought a farm, saying it was for a corn crop. He has since planted twenty-eight acres of popcorn, which gave him a yield of 75,000 pounds. He sold the grain for $700. In other words, it paid him $25 an acre. This year he will plant a much larger acreage. He says there is always a demand for the corn, and that the price is very good. He has agents of his breakfast food concerns from the east being on hand to contract for it as soon as it is planted. Prices range well.

Easy Term of Court.

TECUMSEH, Neb., March 1.—(Special.)—A vacant of work is being accomplished at the court in the county. Judge J. S. Stull of Auburn is on the bench and both a grand and petit jury is at work. Of course, the work of the grand jury is secret, but many witnesses have been called for examination during the last week. The case of J. L. Carman against the county, wherein Mr. Carman wanted damages for the loss of his traction engine, which went through a bridge when J. B. Gooch was killed, went in favor of the county. Several small cases have been decided and a number of divorces granted.

FARMERS' ELEVATORS TO INCORPORATE

Executive Committee of Corn Improvers Association Adopts Rules for the 1903 Competition.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, March 1.—(Special.)—The story of the separation of a husband and wife, the remarriage of the latter and the death of the former, and the tangle of years after, of their son, to claim a portion of the estate of his grandparents, will be told in the supreme court Tuesday in the case of E. N. Bailey, guardian of Claude W. Mason, against Thomas B. Garrison, guardian of Claude W. Mason. The plaintiff seeks to prevent the defendant securing $500 which he had paid out in attorney fees in settling up the estate. The story differs from fiction only in that after everything was settled to the satisfaction of everybody the guardians are squabbling over the portion of the money. The case came to the supreme court from Ord, Neb. Claude W. Mason, a long-lost son and heir, is the cause of all the controversy. Shortly after he was born to the wife of Walter C. Mason his father and mother separated. His mother, Mrs. Miller, from Geneva Lake, Wis., and joined his parents, N. H. and Melissa Mason. The mother and the infant son, Claude W. Mason, removed to Sac City, Ia., where she was later married to a man named Miller. Claude W. Mason then took the name of Miller and was known as Miller's son. In the meantime Walter C. Mason, the father of the boy, posed as a single man in Ord, and the fact that he was ever married was known only to one person outside of the Mason family. During his residence in Ord Walter C. Mason lost all track of his former wife and his son and later died there. In 1899 N. H. Mason and Melissa Mason went to Massachusetts. N. H. Mason died there and Alfred Mason, another son, was appointed administrator of his estate and the fact that he was the guardian of the boy was duly proven. Then Thomas B. Garrison was appointed guardian of the boy in Nebraska and E. N. Bailey was appointed guardian in Iowa. Garrison made a verbal contract with Norman to assist in settling the estate of the boy and the fact that he was the guardian of the boy was duly proven. Then Thomas B. Garrison was appointed guardian of the boy in Nebraska and E. N. Bailey was appointed guardian in Iowa. Garrison made a verbal contract with Norman to assist in settling the estate of the boy and the fact that he was the guardian of the boy was duly proven.

Now, when we take into consideration that the beet growers of 1895 were only a small part of the beet growers of 1896, it is very plain to see that the state cannot afford to make fish of one and flesh of another of its citizens. In view of the above facts, surely no fair minded member of the legislature can vote to pay the Oxnard company and leave the beet growers of 1896 holding the sack. Yours truly, C. CUSACK.

Sick Headache.

This is one of the most distressing diseases that we have to contend with, and it is the experience of almost every sufferer that it grows worse with each recurring attack, and that the family physician is powerless to give even temporary relief. As it usually originates from a disordered stomach, a remedy to restore that organ to a healthy condition is what is most needed. Mr. George E. Wright of New London, N. Y., tells what Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets did for his wife. He says: "For several years my wife was troubled with what physicians called sick headache of a very severe character. She doctored with several eminent physicians and at last grew so weak that she was unable to do any kind of work. About a year ago she began taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and today weighs more than she ever did before and is real well." He has since recommended the use of several of his neighbors who are enthusiastic in their praise of the remedy.

FILIBUSTER DELAYS WORK

House Continues Thursday Sitting for Four Sabbath Hours

DEMOCRATS KEEP CLERKS ALWAYS BUSY

Six Roll Calls and Many Points of Order Raised by Minority Still Fighting Against Butler's Unseating.

Sugar Beet Bounty.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The house of representatives held a four hours session today and put the District of Columbia appropriation bill through its third reading in the face of the democratic filibuster. The previous question on the report of the Alaska bounties bill was ordered, and the vote on its adoption will be taken when the house reconvenes at 11 tomorrow. That was the net result of the Sunday session. Although it was Sunday by the calendar, it was still Thursday, February 28, according to parliamentary action. The democrats put a block in the legislative wheel at every opportunity and it required six roll calls to accomplish what was done today. Large crowds watched the proceedings from the galleries.

When Speaker Henderson dropped the gavel at noon Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, was on his feet. He announced that there was evidently no quorum present and that the house could not do business on Sunday without a quorum. Thereupon, on motion of Mr. Payne, the majority leader, a call of the house was ordered. The doors were closed and the sergeant-at-arms was instructed to bring in absentees. At the conclusion of the call 241 members had appeared, more than a quorum, and Mr. Cleary (Minn.) called up the conference report on the District of Columbia appropriation bill. Mr. Underwood (Ala.) attempted to interpose a point of order that the call had not been completed, but the speaker ruled that a quorum having appeared business could proceed.

The doors, which meantime had been opened, were, however, again closed by Mr. Underwood, who insisted that the speaker's point of order that further proceedings under this call had not been dispensed with by the action of the house. After a brief explanation of the report, against the protest of various democrats who desired to be heard, it was adopted, 144 to 59.

There was another roll call on the Alaska homestead bill, which was presented by Mr. Lacey (Ia.). Half a dozen points of order raised by the democrats were ruled out and the chair declined to entertain appeals, on the ground that they were dilatory. At 3:55 the house recessed until 11 tomorrow morning, with the motion to adopt the conference report on the Alaska bill before it.

ROSEBUD TREATY IN DOUBT

Dakota Representatives Are Considerably Discouraged Over the Outlook.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(Special Telegram.)—It now seems less than an even gamble whether we can get consideration for the Rosebud treaty bill this session," said Representative Martin today. "My colleague, Mr. Burke, is watching the matter very closely and no opportunity will be lost to bring the measure up and filibustering against every measure, and much valuable time is being frittered away. There will be opportunities, I hope, to get the Rosebud bill up under suspension of the rules during the closing hours. I must confess, however, that the tactics of the President Roosevelt remain over a day, and many other meritorious measures now on the calendar."
