A Story of the Flood. There was a cloud burst and the grocery store basement was partly flooded. The grocerman sent the boy down to see if any damage had been done to the stock stored there. 15 minutes passed and the boy failed to return; 30 minutes and still no boy. Then the grocerman investigated. He found the boy there all right, seated well above high water mark; a package of Uneda Biscuit in his hand; his mouth full of the contents. 'What in the name of common sense have you been doing down here all this time?' inquired the grocerman. The boy looked up with a good natured grin; gulped once or twice; finally gained control of his speech and replied: 'Geel! I ain't found a spoiled package of Uneda Biscuit yet I've opened and tried all of this big pile here, and this is the last package. They're just as good and fresh as ever!' MORAL—A hungry boy will 'spoil' more good, fresh Uneda Biscuit than a cloud burst. Protected from dampness and dirt by the In-cr-seal Package. NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

ST. LOUIS BOWLERS VICTORS. Beat Cincinnati by 525 to 525 in Match Between Picked Teams.

CINCINNATI, March 1—While Knapp's parents, his brother Cyrus and sister, Mrs. King and Mrs. Wenzell of Hamilton, are not under surveillance, the officers are incidentally keeping track of them. It seems that the family all agree in their statements about Alfred being insane, but his father says Alfred will be better off dead than alive, but his mother worries over such an ending. His brother Cyrus and his sister, Mrs. Wenzell, are doing all they can for his defense and have created so much sympathy in the neighborhood for their aged parents that the Knapp home was thronged today with visitors and filled with flowers.

At the same time, the Kings have added to the apprehension of the prisoner. After killing his third wife in Hamilton on December 22 Alfred Knapp called on his brother-in-law, E. F. King, in Cincinnati, and inquired if his wife had been there. King had suspected Alfred of former murders, but on account of the appeals of the family was restrained from calling the attention of officers to the cases. When it came to the disappearance of wife No. 3 neither Mr. or Mrs. King could suppress their suspicions. Hannah Goddard and lived with them and was regarded as a daughter.

It is now generally believed here that King had his suspicions confirmed recently by Knapp's mother, who got a letter from her son telling about his crime and that the aged mother would do so as to prevent Alfred from murdering his fourth wife. All possible efforts were made here to get this letter and others, but it is believed that Mrs. Wenzell is correct in insisting that Alfred's letters were burned.

Mrs. King said Alfred wrote Mrs. Wenzell some time ago that Hannah was out of the way. Mrs. Wenzell denies receiving such a letter. The counter statements of the sisters are attracting much attention, and it is thought that one may be called at the attention of the prosecutors, while there is no doubt of the other being called for the defense.
