It was fought over until 4:30 o'clock, when, rather than allow it to come to a vote, those who would defeat it, had it recommitted to the judiciary committee. It is to be returned to the senate next Tuesday and is to retain its place on general file.

The bill is an act to regulate railroad companies to erect and maintain a sidewalk, or switch, extending a reasonable length, the outer edge of which shall be at least within four feet of the right-of-way, to any bridge, viaduct, trestle or other structure over which the railroad may pass.

Wall of Sherman attempted to explain by saying the original bill was a one-day affair and that the amendments were further and made the bill broader. That was the only explanation that was offered for the amendments, and he pointed out the section of the statute which the amendment to the bill repealed and said that the repeal of that section would take from the shippers their greatest privilege.

Day of Nuckolls was in favor of the amendments and believed the original bill had been intended for a specific case. Senator Day said that he believed the amendments had been offered in good faith.

Standing committees of the senate reported the following bills for general file: S. F. 278, prohibiting members of school board from using position to secure relative position in business or profession.

nothing particularly new. He said it proposed measures too drastic upon the railroads to get together and do something for the state. He said it was time they stood square-toed and flat-footed on the Caldwell amendment.

Sprulock of Cass, who is against the Caldwell amendment, appealed to the members to do their duty as senators.

Loomis of Dodge, the fusion floor leader, concluded the debate in a most forcible speech for the Caldwell amendment.

It was contended that a Colombia never really had parted with the canal zone as that country was guaranteed an annual income of $250,000 for the proposed canal.

This company, he said, "bought from the president of Colombia for $2,000,000 franchise in French coin, to be paid in Paris, a prolongation of the extension for six years, from October 21, 1904."

Senator Morgan Declares French and Colombian Action is Invalid COMPANY TRIES TO SQUEEZE AMERICA

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Ten minutes after convening today the senate, on motion of Mr. Cullom, went into executive session.

Senator Morgan severely criticized Attorney General Knox's opinion as to the validity of the French and Colombian actions which can be given by the Panama Canal company.

Colombia Alone Could Sell. He contended that a Colombia never really had parted with the canal zone as that country was guaranteed an annual income of $250,000 for the proposed canal.
