New Law Passed to Remedy Special Assessments in Omaha.

CITY CAN COLLECT FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Assistant City Attorney Adams Succeeds in Getting His Curative Act Passed by the Legislature.

After a week's incessant labor before the legislature at Lincoln, Assitant City Attorney Adams has returned to Omaha successful in having his proposed curative act made a law. The measure has to do with designed to save the city of Omaha a great deal of money. Concerning it Mr. Adams

"The bill is intended to cure all irregularities in the preliminary proceedings under which special assessments have been devised under the charter of 1897 for all kinds of public improvements, such as paying, repaving, curbing, guttering, sidewalks, sewers, grading, etc. It is estimated that about $950,000 of these special assessments have been levied since 1897, of which about $450,000 have been paid, leaving unpaid

"This curative act puts every property owner on an equal footing and will make special assessments from 1897 down to date as collectible as regular taxes are and will take away the inducement to litigation. It is confidently expected that this new law will put an end to a great deal of troublesome and expensive litigation for the city and bring a very large amount of these special taxes into the treasury.

IGNATIUS LOOKING FORWARD

Crusader of the Donnelly Name Reverses the Style in Complaint Against Sherman.

Ignatius Jehovah Dunn, modern crusader, has taken a new tack in his effort to bring the South Omaha tiger trainers to time. Formerly he has made complaint against alleged offenses that were past. Now he is looking ahead or looking backward like that other Ignatius. Or looking sideways. For he has filed complaint in county court charging that Myron Sherman of South Omaha set up and kept for gain certain gambling fixtures on or about "the 24th day of April, 1903," which date is, accordbuildings women were carried down ing to most folks' calendars, about two weeks ahead. Sheriff Power will wonder if this is a reflection upon him. When Dunn was "deputy county attorney in and for Douglas county" he used to have the sheriff stealing forth with padded shoes and a false beard every little bit to make a "raid." Dunn would enjoin such mighty secreey that Power was afraid to blink in a dust storm lest it be taken for a wink to the in order to save valuable papers, a fireman gamblers. When he reached the rooms specified he discovered almost invariably that there was nothing doing and upon so reporting Dunn would smile discrediting smiles and ask why he didn't push open > other remarkable feats. The fact that the crusader now files a paper dating the offense two weeks ahead would seem to indicate a determination to be early enough. But the county judge has sent him word that that court doesn't feel it has jurisdiction over posterity and the offenders that are to be, and has requested times that are.

A definite announcement concerning the possible new department store in Omaha is promised for three weeks hence. A close friend of Maurice Magnus, promoter of the project, said yesterday: "Mr. Magnus will return from New York in just three weeks and he will be able to tell at once what will be done. He went east with plans wel, in mind and will be able to make a very tangible proposition to the capitalists whom he hopes to interest. Personally I have no doubt that he will accomplish what he has set out 12 do."

Clark Gets His Revolvers.

The forty-three revolvers which were found upon Lawrence Drony, the prisoner arrested in Chicago charged with the Walter G. Clark burglary in this city, have been found to be the weapons stolen from the Clark store. They will be returned to the Omaha police by Superintendent O'Neil of the Chicago department. No word has yet been received from the Windy City relative to the disposition of Drony's case on the habeas corpus proceedings.
