

BODY TRACED TO THE RIVER

Wagon Tracks Found at Almost Inaccessi- ble Point Near River.

WOMAN SAW THE WAGON DRIVEN AWAY

Mrs. John Andreas Says Two Men Were in Vehicle and She Heard It Going to River an Hour Before.

There is evidence to show that the body of Mrs. Ida Rose Knight, who probably was poisoned by her husband a week ago last Saturday night, may have been thrown into the river at or near the foot of Nicholas street.

The evidence is furnished by Mr. and Mrs. John Andreas, who live along the river bank beyond the ice houses at the end of Nicholas street.

Sees Wagon and Two Men.

Mrs. Andreas looked out of the window and saw the outfit driving back through the yard toward town. She then thought that the party—there were two men in the wagon and it was drawn by a single horse—had lost the road and had turned back toward town. The horse, she thought, had a short tail and further than this she did not take any particular notice of the outfit.

It was not until a few days ago that they heard of the disappearance of Mrs. Knight and the report that the body had been buried or thrown into the river. The wagon incident then recurred to Mr. Andreas and he determined to follow the trail through his yard toward the river. This he and two or three of the neighbors did and they discovered that the wagon tracks led directly to the river, through a copse of willows, the tracks showing distinctly through the willow underbrush crushed down by the wheels.

Footprints in the Sand.

Reaching the sand bars, the wagon tracks stopped, and from this point human footprints were distinct, as was a track as if a box or trunk had been dragged and thrown into the river. The water there at the time was quiet and about fifteen feet deep near where the footprints ended.

The water was low and still at that time, but now a heavy turbid current flows there from the high water of the last few days. The wagon tracks are still visible, and also the footprints, as well as the trail of the box or trunk.

Place is Seldom Visited.

The hypothesis that Knight might have taken the body of his wife to the river at this point finds some credence from the fact that the locality is very seldom visited and can only be reached by Parker street north of the Stone Brewing company's establishment on Sherman avenue, and thence south on Eleventh street to what would be a continuation of Nicholas street to the railroad tracks. A blind road leads from the end of Nicholas street up the river to the Andreas place.

Chief Donahue yesterday received a message from Chief Ingalls of Cheyenne stating merely that Knight passed through there Monday enroute to the coast. Whether the Cheyenne chief accompanied Knight to the depot and wished him well upon his departure from that city is not stated in the dispatch. The Cheyenne sleuth had a full description and a photograph of Knight and knew that he was wanted in Omaha for murder. He also knew that Knight would in all probability visit his paramour in Cheyenne, but with all this information at hand, he lets the fugitive "pass through enroute to the coast."

Monday Morning Chief Donahue, re-

strengthen the chances of catching Knight at Cheyenne, telegraphed the sheriff there to get the description from Chief Ingalls and assist in looking for the man. Later in the day the sheriff telegraphed Chief Donahue that Chief Ingalls had refused to let him have the description of Knight.

City Treasurer Howe Approves Bonds of School Board Members.

MEETING LIKELY TO BE HELD THIS MONTH

City Council Has a Number of Grad- ing Bills to Pass On at Its Meeting Scheduled for Tonight.

City Treasurer E. L. Howe had a sudden change of mind Tuesday and without any comment he approved the bonds of Lett, Kubat, Loehner, Miller and Schroeder as members of the Board of Education. In justification of his action Howe displayed a letter signed by A. H. Murdock, city attorney, which stated that the bonds were all right. Howe was placed in a peculiar position, as the bonds given by the members of the board mentioned were issued by the same company which bonds the city treasurer and the school treasurer of South Omaha. If he had insisted upon turning down the bonds offered him on account of their being worthless his own bond would then be brought into question and there might have been plenty of grief for Mr. Howe. As five members' bonds have been accepted a meeting of the board may be held at any time during the present month.

Miller, Kubat and Lett say there was no intention to hold a meeting this month, but the action of Howe has put them on their mettle and a special meeting will be called for some day this week. At this meeting teachers may be elected and perhaps some janitors chosen.

One member said that if Howe had kept his nose out of the deal a special meeting would not have been held, but as it is the members are mad and propose showing Mr. Howe that he is not the whole works even if he does handle the cash for the board. A. V. Miller, president of the board, is still confined to his home on account of illness, but he is able to get about the house and hopes to be able to attend a special meeting of the board to be held the latter part of the week.

As neither Morrill, Beck or Lavery fled bonds with the city treasurer yesterday those who are interested in school board affairs say that Treasurer Howe is still in the play to block a meeting of the board. The plan, so it was divulged last night, was to let five members file bonds and attempt to hold a meeting. When a call for a special meeting is issued the three members who have not filed bonds will proceed to secure an injunction restraining the board from meeting or transacting business of any kind. Since the plans of the three members who still withhold their bonds are known those who have filed proposed to start in and give the bunch a lively chase.

Knight Not Paid Yet.

The cashier at Swift's stated to a Bee reporter yesterday afternoon that no demand for the $12 due F. E. Knight had been made. As far as the cashier is concerned the money still owed Knight a week's wages. Inquiry around the plant shows that Knight was not known to any extent. He was a storekeeper in the main house and with over 1,000 men employed the disappearance of one man would not attract any attention. Those who happened to be acquainted with Knight say that he was of peculiar disposition and did not make friends readily. While at work at Swift's he reported promptly for work and quit when the whistle blew. Beyond this little is remembered of him.

Smallpox Breaks Out.

Two cases of smallpox were reported at the health office yesterday. The first was Mrs. Fairfield, Thirty-fourth and K streets. An hour later Samuel Channell, Thirty-fourth and H streets, was reported to be down with the disease. The health officers decided to remove both patients to the emergency hospital at once.

During the winter only half a dozen smallpox patients had to be cared for by the city and the officials were congratulating themselves yesterday on the low expense account for emergency cases as compared with a year ago. A thorough investigation is to be made in the locality where these two cases were reported yesterday and every effort will be made to stamp out the disease.

City Council Tonight.

This evening the city council will meet in adjourned session to take action on some grading contracts and it may be that the two ordinances pertaining to railroads will be read for the third time. Bids will be received today for the grading of Q street from Twenty-third to Twenty-fourth.

Trinity Cathedral Parish.

At the meeting of the members of Trinity cathedral parish Monday H. W. Yates and E. Wesley were elected wardens and S. D. Barklow, F. H. Davis, R. S. Hall, Guy Barton, Louis E. Reed, Frank Halter and J. C. French were elected vestrymen. The vestrymen have received the nominations of the bishop for the position of dean of the cathedral, but so far have taken no action, the matter having been deferred until the newly elected officers take charge.

Waste City Gossp.

A. V. Miller is still quite sick, but hopes to be out by the end of the week. The remains of K. N. Broomfield were forwarded to Newton, Ia., yesterday for interment.

Mrs. W. N. Holt, 2811 L street, is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Grace Davis, who is enroute to Minneapolis from the south.

The South Omaha hospital now has three patients and one of these will go to St. Joseph's hospital as soon as he is able to be moved.

Cattle and sheep receipts at the stock yards include an increase, but hogs are way behind as compared with the present date last year.

TRUST CORNERS TOBACCO

Drives German Manufacturers Into Despair by Buying All Raw Material.

AMERICAN COMPANY SEEKS MONOPOLY

Berlin Chamber of Commerce Reports on Move, Opposing, However, that Fatherland Will Be Able to Resist Attack.

BERLIN, April 14.—The manner in which the American Tobacco company cornered the market for cigarette tobacco is reported upon by the Berlin Chamber of Commerce to the Prussian commerce minister, Herr Moeller, as follows:

The American Tobacco trust, in a skillful, well-planned manner, secured the output of cigarette tobacco in order to meet its increased demand for raw tobacco by buying not only in the markets of producing countries, but in the chief staple markets. The warehouses are at present empty and prices for the choicest qualities have risen 20 to 25 per cent. It cannot, however, be asserted that the American trust has been successful for purposes of speculation or to control the markets of the world. They appear on the other hand, merely to have been made to cover the trust's enormous demand. So far as the German product is concerned the American trust has cleared its warehouses and America the dealer kinds were also purchased.

While it is hardly planned to make the German raw tobacco market dependent upon American interests, still the domestic industry feels keenly the deficiency in raw material and the enhancement of prices. The influence of the trust to a lesser degree, of course the trust completely controls the raw tobacco supply for Havana cigars. The trust began operations in the German cigarette market with the purchase of the factory of George A. Jarmat of Dresden at the beginning of 1929. Since then it has succeeded in increasing its business 60 per cent.

In order to create a large market for its product, the trust grants court rebates, but there is nothing unusual in this method doing business apart from the fact that rebates are given even for small quantities. On the other hand it appears that the trust has cleared its warehouses and the orders are ordered. Furthermore, it has developed a system of loaning which is strongly disapproved by German business circles.

We believe the trust intends to try to secure control of the entire German cigarette market, but there is nothing to indicate that it will soon succeed. The German cigarette industry is strong enough in capital and technical equipment to take up the fight.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS

A very fair audience of the prominent musical people of Omaha, including a good representation of the professionals, assembled at the Kountze Memorial church last night to hear what Mr. Cusaden had to offer as artist and manager for his third concert. As an artist, his offerings were highly acceptable. He is a skillful violinist, absolutely above all attempts at trickery, or anything bordering on the illegitimate, the "Romeny" type, for instance, God rest his soul. Robert Cusaden is true to the highest precepts and ideals of his art. His tone is not as big as it will be, but it is beautiful, it is solid, it is certain and it has a finesse to it which one marvels at sometimes in a man who is still so young. By times the music that he comes to the conception, interpretation and delivery of a composition. Here is his maturity in evidence. His best work last night was done in the Landsberg sonata, and in the Ries numbers. The Faginal numbers could be easily done without the Roy Smith "Norwegian Legend" was good music, but not sufficiently interesting to hold one's attention. One would like to hear it again, for Roy Smith has ability and is a good writer of songs; therefore detailed criticism it may well be deferred.

Mr. Sigmund Landsberg's sonata for violin and piano was the piece de resistance of the evening. It surprised the musicians beyond doubt. It is one of the most interesting pieces that has not appeared in violin literature of modern times. It is spontaneous, virile, emotional in turn and there is not a monotonous measure in it. Mr. Landsberg is indeed entitled to all of the applause he got, and more than that, he is entitled to the thanks of the musical community for the production of what may, without exaggeration, be termed a masterpiece.

Mr. Cusaden lent his best ability to the portrayal of Mr. Landsberg's ideas. The composer himself playing the piano part with inspiration.

Mrs. Lincoln Hynes of Council Bluffs sang several numbers and was well received. Mrs. Hynes has a beautiful voice and she is a very intelligent artist, with a tendency to do some things that thrill one, and at other times the tone lacks concentration and of course falls short of expectation. Mrs. Hynes seems to be struggling at times between two systems of tone-production, and when she holds to the one and forsakes the other she will be heard to better advantage. Mrs. Hynes is evidently a musician and she is certainly a decided acquisition to local musical circles. Her little concert, "The Gift of the Hedge" was given beautifully and with artistic grace all around.

Cancerous Ulcers ROOTED IN THE BLOOD.

After the age of 45 or 50 when the vital powers are naturally weaker it is noticed that a hurt of any kind heals slowly and often a very insignificant scratch or bruise becomes a bad ulcer or sore. At this time of life warty growths, moles and pinpoints that have been on the body almost from birth begin to inflame and fester, and before very long are large eating, sloughing ulcers.

Whenever a sore or ulcer is slow in healing then you may be sure something is radically wrong with your blood. It is beginning to assert itself, and breaks out and becomes a bad ulcer and perhaps the beginning of Cancer. These old sores are rooted in the blood, and while washes, soaps, salves, etc., keep the surface clean they are not healing. A blood medicine to purify and strengthen the polluted blood and a tonic to build up the general system is what is needed, and S. S. S. is just such a remedy. No poison is so powerful and no germ so deadly that this great vegetable blood remedy cannot reach it, and ulcers of every kind quickly yield to its wonderful curative properties. If you have an old sore or ulcer, write us all about it and medical advice or any information you may desire will be given by our physicians without charge.
