SAINTS PROVE EASY MONEY

Omaha Hands Them the Small End of Ecore of 16 to 9.

PRESTON'S PROBOSCIS TAKES A SLIDE

Pa's Middleman Does a Little Comic Acrobatic Work Just to Earn the Money-Same Teams Play Today.

Omaha excelled in yesterday's game with Mr. Robe's Saints by a score of 16 to 9. The sun came out just before the game opened and the two teams started right in poking the ball all around the field. Doubles, triples and home runs were the order of the day and at times the game resembled a batting carnival. Hits came so thick and fast that one had to wear an automobile mask to follow the game.

In the second the Omahans brought in five runs and got the lead they held through the remainder of the game. It began with two men out and Schafstal on first. Carter got to his base and Genius hit a long one out to the right garden, Flavin dropped it and the two came in. Then Preston knocked another into the air and Robe got under it and let it hit his nose. Another man came in and Preston stole second, making a sensational slide on his note while stealing the bag with no one within seven miles of him. Next came Wright with a double and Dolan with a single, and they all came in but Dolan, who died when Stewart popped up one to Belden.

So it went during the entire game; some one was always hitting the ball, and then the Saints would do a fool trick and a few more scores would come in for Omaha. The Unable to Connect with Curves Saints' runs were garnered through a combination of hits and "phony" plays.

The same teams line up this afternoon at Vinton street for a second game.

NEBRASKA LAYS KANSAS OUT Beltzer's Pitching Too Much for Boys from the Sunflower

State.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, April 18.—(Special.)—The University of Nebraska won another game of base ball today from Kansas, and aside from some crude work in the two opening innings by the Jayhawkers, it was a brillant contest. Both pitchers, Beltzer for Nebraska and Trevett for Kansas, were in splendld form, the Cornhusker twirler pitching a no-hit game until the ninth inning, when a drizele set in, making the sphere a bit slippery, and three sizzling hits, two of them two-baggers, netted two runs and saved the Jayhawkers the humiliation of a shutout.

The Cornhuskers gave Beltzer almost perfect support, a bobble in the first inning, which had no damaging results, constituting their only error. For seven innings thereafter but one Kansas man reached first base, Beltzer's pitching being so much of a puzzle that only once was the ball knocked out of the diamond, while nine of the visitors struck out.

Nebraska touched up Trevett in lively fashion, eleven men being retired on long flies to the outfield. Sexton, in left garden for Kansas, gathered in seven drives without an error. Captain Boyle of Kansas had an off day on first, being charged with four misplays.

The mutes played a tairly good fielding game, but failed to make good with the stick. In nine innings not a hit was made off of Creighton's pitcher, Colber, and the latter succeeded in making fourteen men fan the breeze. Kennedy and Curran also played a star game for Creighton, the former making three clean singles and accepting six fielding chances without a mistake. The mutes had a good pitcher, but none of the nine could connect with Golfer's concocutions. The same teams play Thursday on

DIEFENDERFER'S GOOD WORK Nebraskans Return from Trap Shoot at Kansas City Proud of the Winner.

It is pleasant to relate that a Nebraska man took the Grand American handicap at Kansas City last week and that each of the ten other Nebraska contestants was included in the winners of the prize money. There were 190 entries in all and practically all of them were the pick of the United States and Canada. With this stock of oid heads and men used to the worries and excitements of trap shooting a Nebraskan who was practically a novice at the sport swept the platter.

The judges had little idea as to this man's ability and he shot from the scratch, or sixteen yards. No one except a few who knew their man had any idea that the honor of being the winner of the handicap would fall on his shoulders, and he was considered an S1 to 1 shot by those who managed the pools on the shooting. The Nebraska men, who knew a little of him and his abilities, backed him with a little of their spare cash and were amply repaid for their spare cash and were amply repaid for their risks.

The scores, as a whole, are much lower than is usual at the handicape, but were of their spare cash and were amply repaid for their risks.

The scores, as a whole, are much lower than is usual at the handleaps, but were really very good for the adverse conditions that obtained during the shoot. By comparison with the scores of some of the men who have an international reputation as trap shooters it can be readily seen that the scores of the shooters were really very good. The days were dark and cloudy and windy and made good shooting difficult. Beside which the background was very poor, being formed by a line of dead timber along a creek, which showed in dark.

With the trap shoot over in Kansas City many of the shooters tarried and will go to Concordia. Kan, for the Kansas state shoot, which is to be held there on this Tuesday. Wednesday and Thursday, while the Nebraska state shoot will be held at Lincoin on the same days of next week. A both of thisse rhoots a number of incracks from the more remote districts will be in attendance, beside an unusual large showing of Nebraska men. M. Diefenderfer of Wood River, who carried away the honors at Karsis City. Will 10 be at either of these shoots, as his work is such that it is very difficult for him to get away for any protracted length of time. His absence will be regretted very much, as it is thought that he might have done even better in a second shoot than in the last.
