

LABOR RECRUITING STATION

Thousands of Men for Railroad Work to Be Sent Out of Omaha. MANY WILL COME FROM NORTH AND EAST. Plans for Busiest Construction and Repair Season in Many Years and Omaha is to Be Central Labor Market.

Omaha is to become the recruiting station this summer of vast armies of laborers for western railroad work. If present plans are carried out, coincident with the tremendous amount of railroad construction now in progress and pending is a movement to mobilize men from the east and north in Omaha and ship them to various western points.

At present great numbers of men are employed throughout the southwest and west where the new Kansas City, Mexico & Orient, and the Southern Pacific are doing a great deal of building, the former new and the latter repair and extension work.

However, this is not the only work demanding this class of laborers in the west. Considerable is being done or mapped out in the northwest and even nearer the middle west there is need for a considerable number of men for repair and improvement work.

Naturally this outlook is not discouraging to the man who has to work. With the increased demand is anticipated and doubtless will come a corresponding increase in wages, which have been on a gradual rise for several years.

The effect of this movement doubtless will be materially felt in Omaha, not only because this city has been decided on as the recruiting station, but because just at present there is a spell of idleness due to various strikes. This means that a vast number of men are not at work. While the majority of these may be skilled workmen, yet no inconsiderable proportion are unskilled laborers, and among them doubtless are many who will follow the vast caravan that is to move westward from the Gate City this summer.

Back of this movement is said to be considerable local influence. A number of Omaha men of means are understood to have invested in the stock of the Orient road to such an extent, some of them, as to become very much interested in seeing the construction work rapidly advanced. These factors are said to be wielding a potent influence in the mobilization scheme.
