Carpenters Have Not Come to Any Understanding with Contractors

MEN WILL INSIST ON ADVANCE IN WAGES

More Than Half the Members of the Bricklayers' Union Go to Other Cities While Trouble is on in Omaha.

Carpenters, members of the Building Trades council and contractors contradict the statement of the member of the arbitration committee of the Central Labor union, published yesterday, in reference to a sottlement of the difficulty between the carpenters and contractors. The facts, as sathered from the different sources, seem to be that at the meeting Saturday night the contractors submitted a proposition for a sliding scale which members of the carpenters' union said might be a good basis of compromise, but which they would not endorse until after the meeting of the union. At the present time the carpenters stand for their demand of 10 cents an hour advance, but members express the opinion that they will accept a compromise, but probably not the sliding scale.

Work was to have been suspended at the new Krug theater yesterday because of the employing of a nonunion plasterer. During all of the general suspension of building operations work has continued at this building, all being done by day labor by the owners, who live in Kansas City and had sufficient building material on hand to keep busy. The plastering was let to a contractor who desired to employ a man who was under fine by the union. This man was discharged yesterday morning and there was no suspension.

Sixty-five members of the bricklayers' union out of a total of 114 have left the city, the majority having taken jobs for the summer and a number having gone for three months. The larger number are in Council Bluffs, Des Moines, Sloux City and Kansas City, although a number have gone to Denver, Salt Lake City and San Francisco. The men who went to Council Bluffs expect to return to the city if work is resumed here in the summer, but have work enough on hand to keep them busy during the summer. A number of the forty-nine remaining members have signified their intention of withdrawing cards and leaving the city in case work is not resumed shortly after May 1.

It was given out yesterday that all conferences between the linemen and the telephone company having failed to produce results there would be no more conferences until requested by the company. It was admitted at Labor temple that a number of the members of the linemen's union had returned to work yesterday, but the statement was made by the business agent that these men had been reporting the work of the union to the company since the strike and that the union is in better shape now than before they

Tom L. Wilson left last evening to attend the convention of the Machinists' union, which will be held next week at Milwaukee. The delegates from the Omaha lodge will leave later. It is said that one of the principal matters for consideration will be the proposition to extend the strike on the Union Pacific to other western roads. A number of the delegates are opposed to this course and one of them, who was in a general railroad strike in Scotland a few any set of men We had all Scotland locked up for several days when we had a general strike there. result was that there were many idle The men belonging to no union who would take places of men who were required in places where more immediate necessity existed for resumption of work, and the strikers had no sources from which to draw from, as their friends were not earning wages."

Omaha Has Greeted Theodore Roosevelt,

President of These United States

With one accord the citizens of this great city, regardless of political creed, united in welcoming the nation's chief. To the thousands of visitors who came from all over the state to join in this ovation we extend a most cordial invitation to make this store their headquarters while in Omaha. We want you who are strangers in the city to feel at home in this store. To walk about its various sections and see everything that it has of interest to offer you. We want every man who has ever heard of this store or who has ever done business with us to come to our clothing department and see the wonderful fine spring suits that we have on sale at $9.00. They'll please you. They'll surprise you-you'll find nothing as good as them anywhere for less than $13.50. Then, we want you to go to our men's hat department and see the sample line of hats we have on sale. You'll find hats there worth $2.50 that you can buy for $1.50. Hats worth $3.00 for $2.00. Hats worth $3.50 and $4.00 for $2.50.

OMAHA, April 27 .- To the Public: I desire to inform you that the business men of Omaha in conjunction with my competitors have threatened to "stop my supplies" -that is refuse to sell me supplies unless I recede from my agreement with the cooks and waiters' unions. I have signed the scale presented by the unions, being desirous of sharing my prosperity with those who help to make it. As a consequence i am threatened with the displeasure of and persecution by my competitors and Omaha business men, provided I do not increase my prices and rescind my agreement with the unions. This I refuse to do. I am of those who believe that the "union is here to stay" and I cannot say I regret that fact.' I believe that honorable and equitable dealing between employer and employe is the true basis of domestic peace and harmony in any community, Omaha not excented.

I have been in business in Omaha more than twenty years; I have thriven during presperous times and in common with others have suffered in years of adversity, which later years prompted me to introduce the "ten cent meal." My venture was crowned with success. I now refuse to be intimidated by my competitors or Omaha

Announcements of the Theaters. The special train which is to bring Richard Mansfield and his enormous company and equipment to the Boyd tonight to present "Julius Caesar," is made up of ten CHTS. They are the great actor's own private car, four palace cars for the artists, musicians and others of the company, five extra long cars for the scenery, furniture, properties, hangings, armor and costumes of the production. No time can be set for the arrival of the Mansfield special. It will arrive, however, at the earliest moment that swift engines can bring it, for it has the right of way over all railroads, and there will be a whole caravan of scene and baggage wagons at the station to transport the production to the theatre. The train comes from St. Joseph, Mo.

WHY THE BOILER EXPLODED

Plaintiff in Damage Suit Avers that it Was Used While De-

Nathan P. Dodge, jr., as administrator of the estate of David R. Jenkins, has brought suit against the Union Pacific railroad and Richard Paul, the company's engine inspector in the round house at Council Bluffs, for $5,000. The petition alleges that the company and

Paul are responsible for the explosion of a freight engine boiler at Haven, June 13, 1001, which explosion killed Jenkins, its hension, which will, of course, go to Chief fireman. The specific allegation is that the | Donahue. boller of the engine was defective because built without crown bars and provided with water guage defective because the pipe leading to it was so small that it clogged and made the gaage show more water than was in the boller. Had Paul made a proper nspection of the engine before it was taken from the round house for the trip the accident would not have happened, the petitioner argues. Dodge sues to recover for Jenkins' widow and young son

SAYS ASSOCIATES HAVE CONSPIRED Charges that They Propose to Contract Future Indebtedness Despite

His Protest as Board Mem. ber and Taxpayer.

Upon the prayer of Jay Laverty as esident taxpayer of South Omaha, Judge 25 Montgomery street, San Francisco, will Dickinson yesterday signed a restraining order enjoining until the hearing Laverty's fellow members of the South Omaha Board of Education from prematurely electing teachers over his protest, which, he alleges they have conspired to do, though the condition of the city treasury does not warrant such action nor the law justify it. Their contemplated action, he explains, would have the effect of contracting obligations for a period beyond the official life of the present membership of the board.

The order enjoins Alonzo V. Miller, Theodore Schroeder, Anton L. Lott, Joseph L. Kubat, John H. Loechner and James Murphy from "electing any person or persons as school teachers or employes for the next ensuing school year within the school district of South Omaha," and from entering into any contract with any employes whereby debts will be contracted which will be binding upon the district in violation of law,
