Omaha Team Puts Up a Faultless Fielding Game and Looked Like a Winner Until Last Half of Ninth.

DENVER, April 30 .- (Special Telegram.) -The Western league season opened in Denver today under the most auspicious circumstances. Denver and Omaha were the opposing teams and presented the large crowd of 3,000 enthusiastic fans with an excellent article of the national pastime. Denver wrested the game from the visitors by scoring two runs in the ninth inning. Miss Fleckenstein, a Denver girl of 16, walked out to the home plate, bearing a splendid floral design of a horseshoe, which was presented to Left Fielder Preston of Omaha as he stepped to the bat, a token of esteem by friends in this city. Carter was first up for Omaha. He went to first on balls. Genins pushed him along a base on a nice secrifice. Preston was next and hit a hard one to Eyler, but went out at first. Wright singled. Dolan singled and Wright and Carter came in on errors by Denver. Nothing was done till the third, when Carter was scored by a hit by Preston and Hartzell's error.

Omaha got another run in the sixth. Preston drew a horse collar, but Mobler misjudged an easy pop-up by Dolan. On a short field that Dundon could not get to a hit was credited and Wright was brought in on Dolan's hit.

Denver scored again in the eighth. Eyler went out on a pop-up. Jones got a double to the clubhouse and Dundon followed with a long one in the same place, scoring Jones. Denver acored two again in the ninth. Hartzell singled. Whitridge swiped out a twobagger, advancing Hartzell to third, while Whitridge died at second. Eyler went out on a pop-up and Schlei scored two men with a single. Score: DENVER.

MANCHURIAN TRADE MENACED

New Chwang Consul Declares Russia's Action Inimical to America.

WASHINGTON, April 30 .- The United countries have in every way equal facili- and destruction.

American trade in Manchuria today con sists principally of cotton goods, kerosene and flour, and is largely in excess of that of any other country. In order that this commercial supremacy may be maintained Consul Miller makes the following recommendations:

(1) Establishment by American manufac-(1) Establishment by American manu-turers of an expert agent in Manchu-who shall sell directly to the native fi-instead of to Shanghal and Hong Kong (2) That the Washington government v the opening of all Manchuria to the tr of the world as free to us as to Ru or any other country.

(3) That a new consul general be added to the American consular service, to be known as the United States consul general for Manchuria. "If these things are not done," Mr. Miller continues, "it is clear to my mind that the entire mining interests of Manchuria, together with whatever trade is desired by Russian merchants, will be entirely in their hands. Russian merchants are already strong in the kerosene trade and are laying plans to capture flour and cotton goods trade." The consul is of the opinion that Manchuria, Mongolia and Siberia are destined soon to become enormous grain growing Foreign imports into Manchuria have in creased in ten years at a rate ranging from 100 to 500 per cent, reaching the high water mark in the year just ended. Free exportation of all products, Mr. Miller says, would increase trade development for years to come as greatly as in the past decade and if in addition Manchuria could be made free to the commerce and industry of all people and its mines opened there would be a growth of prosperity astonishing to China and the world.

PEKING, April 30 .- The denial from St. Petersburg of the authenticity of the Russian demands on China has created comment among the members of the interested legations. The woman, who was supposed to be Mrs. Schmidt, but whom Schmidt says is Miss Sarah Crawford of Toronto, whom he was to have married May 5, was also held in the same amount for examination tomorrow. Both pleaded not guilty to the charge of smuggling. Schmidt denies that he is a smuggler

He says the jewels are personal property that he has had for years and that he brought them here to endeavor to raise some money with which to meet a mortgage which falls due tomorrow.

burg is fatally injured. The powder factory is located in a remote portion of the county and authentic details are unobtainable at present. Near the factory are limestone quarries of the American Wire and Nail company,

Superintendent Harry Taggart of Pitts-where 500 men are employed. Cause of the Explosion.

The cause of the explosion is a mystery. The eight men killed were blown to pieces. The remains have been brought to Williamsburg. Superintendent Taggart was the only man in the factory who escaped alive. The buildings caught fire immediately after the explosion and are still burning. Because of the immense quantity of dynamite stored in the plant the rescuing party dare not approach the place, as an explosion is feared. A house owned by William Treese, located near the factory, was wrecked by a second explosion which occurred about an hour after the factory was blown up. The Treese family barely escaped with their lives. The list of victims has been increased to nine. Andrew Gabrillac, a foreign laborer was found dead 100 feet from the factory. There are two storehouses belonging to be plan, both of which are now in flames. In one storehouse there are 1,400 pieces of dynamite and in the other store house 800 boxes with a capacity of 100 pounds to the box. The dynamite in the house is sufficient to level every house and to desolate the territory within a radius of five miles. The first two explosions occurred in the factory where there was only a comparatively small quantity of explosive. These quarries have been deserted by the fleeling of the men, who all lived in the neighborhood, to places of safety. The magazines and store houses of the factory contained 1,400 blocks of explosives and it is feared the greatest explosions are yet to come. The Piney Creek branch of the Pennsylvania railroad runs past the factory and because of the danger the railroad company has refused to allow any trains to pass over this branch.

Fourteen men and sixteen women were employed in the factory which was destroyed. Most of them were brought from Pittsburg. They were regarded as experts In the manufacture of powder. The women managed to escape from the building before the explosion came that hurled their follow workmen thto eternity. All were cut and badly burneds
