WOMAN'S AMBITION TO RULE

convention, and I ask her again to re-

President in Predication.

With blanched face and lips quivering, Mrs. Baily faced the convention, saying apologetically, "I do not know what to do." An outburst of applause followed, and when, by vigorous use of her gavel, Mrs. Baily had restored order, she explained that she had repeatedly refused to allow her name to be used, but that within the last few weeks the persistent insistence of club women had caused her to alter her original decision.

"Is your refusal now final?" came the question from the floor, and she replied that it might not be, but that she did not wish to be misjudged or to have her honest feelings questioned.

Then came a motion that the house give Mrs. Baily the unanimous election by acclamation. The election of officers this afternoon preceded the most exciting session of the fifth biennial of the Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs, in fact it was the most exciting session in the history of the federation. Nearly two hours were consumed in a fruitless and clamorous effort to secure the re-election of Mrs. W. H. Baily as president, while that woman was subjected to the embarrassing ordeal of presiding during the proceedings because of the failure of the vice president, Mrs. Barkley, who sat upon the platform to take the chair and relieve her.

It has been evident ever since the beginning of the session that Mrs. Baily and Mrs. Horace Deemer of Red Oak were the popular candidates, but Mrs. Baily's overwhelming popularity was not known until the chairman of the nominating committee announced the result of an informal ballot that had been taken for the guidance of the committee. Mrs. Deemer, 62; Mrs. Fletcher of Marshalltown, 53, and Mrs. Walter L. Smith of Council Bluffs, 50.

Mrs. Baily Had Withdrawn.

Mrs. Baily was always objected to as president's serving a second term, but was persuaded a few weeks ago to allow her name to be used. Hearing that she had been criticized for this and that the women of the western part of the state also objected to a second term and were favorable to Mrs. Deemer on the account she announced that she would withdraw her name. The result of the informal ballot occasioned hearty applause, after which the chairman of the committee announced that Mrs. Baily and Mrs. Deemer had both refused to accept the nomination, leaving Mrs. Alice C. Fletcher and Mrs. Walter L. Smith the candidates. This refusal the house would not accept, Mrs. Fletcher leading the objection to Mrs. Baily's withdrawal, and withdrawing her own name on the condition that Mrs. Deemer would allow hers to stand. Mrs. Deemer absolutely refused. There was a clamor for recognition from all parts of the house, each speaker in turn insisting that Mrs. Baily allow her name to stand. A third time Mrs. Fletcher got the floor and said: "Ladies, I cannot believe that Mrs. Baily's power is final, when she sees as we all do that she is the choice of the delegates to which each club is entitled should be entertained. The possible embarrassment of such a necessity was evident to all, and the question arose as to whether or not such a plan would not tend to decrease the attendance of delegates, and so work an injury by decreasing interest in the state work. The difficulties of providing entertainment for so large a gathering, even in a large city, was next presented, and the resolution was amended to provide that one delegate should be entertained and that each club should pay for the entertainment of its second delegate. Some of the clubs have several delegates, and by this resolution all except two from each city are left unprovided for, and the amendment and the motion were both passed by the individual clubs.

Some General Discussion.

A discussion of federation finances, led by Miss Harriet Ladd of Independence, and brief talks regarding the St. Louis convention out of order, reminding the women that there was still one name before them that had not been mentioned—the woman who could get the floor asked Mrs. Baily if she would accept the unanimous nomination if Mrs. Walter L. Smith would withdraw her name. Mrs. Baily hesitated as a hush fell upon the house, but as Mrs. Smith was not inclined to withdraw her name Mrs. Baily firmly and finally declined the nomination and ordered that other nominations be made.

Result of Election.
The election then proceeded, resulting as follows:

For president, Mrs. Alice C. Fletcher of Marshalltown, 53; Mrs. Walter L. Smith of Council Bluffs, 50; Mrs. W. H. Baily of South Omaha, 50.

Other officers elected were: Vice president, Mrs. M. C. Cory of Spencer; recording secretary, Mrs. Richard Burke of Ottumwa; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harriet Ladd of Independence; treasurer, Mrs. A. H. Gibson of Ames; auditor, Mrs. Levy of Waverly.

Delegates at large to the next biennial of the general federation were elected as follows: Mrs. W. H. Baily of Des Moines, Mrs. Horace G. Everett of Council Bluffs, Mrs. W. L. Eaton of Osage, Mrs. Taxe of Ottumwa; alternates: Mrs. Matt Parrott of Waterloo, Mrs. Walter L. Smith of Council Bluffs, Mrs. Simon of Cedar Rapids, Mrs. McLaren of Audubon.

Question of Entertainment.

A lively discussion was precipitated at the morning session by an invitation to hold the next biennial meeting at Waterloo. It has been known by many this week that the unexpectedly large attendance of delegates, there being 405 present, has somewhat embarrassed the hostesses of the city, who, not being prepared, were unable to find entertainment for many until yesterday. Knowing of this, a resolution was offered during the morning session to the effect that the hostess city or town be expected to provide entertainment for but one delegate from each club represented. At once the question was asked how it should be determined which of the
