WASHINGTON, May 17.—The full text of the formal charges of irregularities in the administration of postal affairs preferred by Seymour W. Tulloch, formerly cashier of the Washington city postoffice, was made public today by Mr. Tulloch. The charges are embodied in a letter to Postmaster General Payne in response to the latter's request. Some of the matters complained of will be investigated immediately by the inspectors.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The full text of the formal charges of irregularities in the administration of postal affairs preferred by Seymour W. Tulloch, formerly cashier of the Washington city postoffice, was made public today by Mr. Tulloch.

Mr. Tulloch says he is at the service of the postmaster general in rendering any further assistance that may be desired. In all instances of irregularity and favoritism he says the proper allowances, records and vouchers, were executed and kept, but his influence was exerted to prevent investigation; as the real facts, behind the allowances and vouchers are not on record and are known to few and therefore, being interested, cannot talk.

Harvest for Nineteen Years.

"For upwards of nineteen years," the letter reads, "the conduct of affairs between the Washington City postoffice and the Postoffice Department was regular; then came the great year, the precursor of a system of allowances and vouchers, the postoffice on account of the departmental expenditures which afterwards led to irregularities, abuses, extravagances and my removal as an obstacle on June 30, 1899.

"Mr. Shephard, then chief of the Salary and Allowance division of the Postoffice Department desired a file case for the use of his office. His requisitions were turned down by his superior officer. Later vouchers were presented to me for a file case, accompanied by an allowance for its payment out of the funds of the Washington office made by Mr. Shephard and signed by the first assistant postmaster general. I directed the contractor to obtain a certificate of delivery. Mr. Shephard refused to acknowledge receipts, fearing exposure during the audit of the vouchers and I refused to pay for the case until some one was willing to father the McKimley administration.

HONEST THIEVING UNLUCKY

Paris Thief Appeals and Then Wishes He Had Been Satisfied with First Judge.

(Copyright, 1903, by Press Publishing Co.) PARIS, May 17.—(New York World Telegram—Special Telegram.)—A Paris evildoer named Courturier, recently sent to prison for four months for theft, appealed yesterday from the sentence. The judge who heard the appeal, said: "My confers of the lower court were too indulgent. I increase your sentence to one year."

POOR EXCUSE FOR BARBARITY

Confesses to Abusing Recruits Because He Was Treated in Like Manner.

(Copyright, 1903, by Press Publishing Co.) BERLIN, May 17.—(New York World Telegram—Special Telegram.)—Noncommissioned Officer Kisch, who has been sent to prison for a year and a half for mistreating soldiers, said he inflicted torments on the recruits because he had been compelled to suffer when he himself was a recruit. He boxed the ears of almost all the recruits daily, prodded them in the back, struck them in the face, used his whip, and he also amused himself between times by chasing the men under beds, making them scramble under five beds as often as fifty times in succession. During gymnastic exercises he made them pick up filth from the ground and stick their mouths, like dogs. He also compelled recruits to rub down each other's bodies with a scrubbing brush and sand. At other times the men had to slog each other.

OPPORTUNITY FOR CURIOUS

Chance to Figure on the Relationship of a Betrothed Royal Pair.

(Copyright, 1903, by Press Publishing Co.) ATHENS, May 17.—(New York World Telegram—Special Telegram.)—Prince Andreas, whose betrothal to Princess Alice of Hattenberg was announced this week, is the fourth son of King George of Greece. The prince was 23 years old last January; the princess was 18 in February. He is a subaltern in the cavalry of the Greek army. She was the favorite great-granddaughter of Queen Victoria, the eldest granddaughter of King Edward's dead sister, Alice, who was the wife of the grand duke of Hesse. The princess' father, Prince Louis of Hattenberg, Prince Andreas' father is a brother of Queen Alexandra. As the prince is a nephew of King Edward, and the princess is a grand-niece, the curious can figure out a puzzling mixture of relationship the marriage will bring about.

(Copyright, 1903, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, May 17.—(New York World Telegram—Special Telegram.)—Father Ignatius, a Protestant high church clergyman, who dresses like a medieval monk, has startled London by a vigorous attack on society and the church. Among other hard things he said: "The English women have forgotten how to blush. Many hardly know their own children." "The Welsh Methodists are giving permission to their ministers to smoke. They want to see them with pipes in their mouths and military mustaches."
