Convention Scope Extended and Many Prominent Speakers Are Expected.

Colonel W. F. Baker is planning to have the scope of the Good Roads convention to be held in this city on Friday, June 5, include the whole of the Ninth congressional district instead of confining it simply to Pottawattamie county. In accordance with this change in the original plans invitations are being sent to all persons interested in the good roads movement throughout the Ninth district.

Efforts are being made to secure either Governor Cummins or Senator Dolliver to address the convention and Congressman Smith has already consented to deliver an address on the occasion. In addition to these it is expected other prominent men from the southwestern part of the state will be present to speak. To Mayor Morgan has been assigned the duty of extending invitations to the executive officers of other cities in the Ninth district to attend and take part in the proceedings. While it is possible that a district or ganization for the improvement of public thoroughfares may be organized, the promoters are determined that at least a county organization shall be effected.

BAKER IS NOT AT ALL WELL

Operation May Be Necessary on Officer Who Was Shot by Felon. .

The condition of Deputy Sheriff Baker fever increased and during the day he was subject to almost constant vomiting, the latter being taken as an especially bad sign. No attempt has been made as yet to locate the bullet and it is likely that unless Mr. Baker's condition improves today an operation will be necessary.

It was stated yesterday that the sheriff's force had positive information showing that young Matheson, who shot him, had been harbored last week for two days by relatives in the vicinity of Logan, and this gives the authorities renewed hope that the young man will be captured before

BARS OUT OLEOMARGARINE

Dairy Commissioner Insists on Law Prohibiting Sale of Uncolored Product.

DRUGLESS HEALERS COMBINE IN IOWA

Central College Contract is Let for Rough Building, Which Trustees Hope to Ornament When State in Richer.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, May 17 .- (Special.)-A determined effort is to be made by the state officials to put an end to the sale of uncolored oleomargarine in Iowa. Some time ago the state dairy commissioner caused a test suit to be brought by the indictment of agents selling so-called uncolored oleomargarine. On the first trial the jury disagreed, but a convinction was secured on the second trial. The oleomargarine sold was not pure white, but rather of an ivory color, like poor butter, but it was that which passes under the United States classification as uncolored, and is in fact not artificially colored.

The contract having been let for the new central college building at Ames, work will be commenced at once and a large expenditure be made this year. The contract went to H. W. Schlueter of Chlcago, who is building the Polk county court house in this city. When plans were first adopted the lowest bid was $350,000. The plans were then medified and other bids were secured and finally the contract was let for a building with little ornamentation. The idea of the trustees is to complete the building in the public, barbers and doctors included, the meeting will be tame. An association dandruff germ. E. Dodd, Dickinson, N. Would Raise Teachers' Pay.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., May 17 .- (Special.) At a meeting of the local Board of Education to be held on Friday evening the question of making a general increase in the salaries paid teachers of the public schools will be disposed of. The leading champion of the proposed increase is Prof. F. C. McClelland, superintendent of the city schools, who has called the attention of the board to the fact that in all cities of the sipe of Sioux Falls teachers' salaries have been materially increased during the last two years, and that owing to the salaries paid here, Sloux Falls has in the last year of his brother, it is important that we understand clearly the consequences of our attitude toward the great questions which engage the attention of the social body of which we are a part. As we build for permanence in our private lives, it is no less our duty to build for permanence in the future of the republic.

B'NAI B'RITH CONVENTION

The aristocracy of usefulness is the only one to which we should aspire. An aristocracy of mere wealth belies itself and is no aristocracy at all. Aristocracy, as originally used, means simply "the rule of best," but in our ordinary use, the "best," on false standards of accumulation and not of accomplishment as the test of worth, too often means merely the highest in rank and wealth, which is too often the lowest in the scale of moral worth and usefulness.

In other lands there is an aristocracy of birth; with us it is of wealth. It is useless to declare that we are demecratic; it is useless to plead the leveling character of our institutions. We have among us an aristocracy of recognized power, and that aristocracy is purely one of possession of wealth. With rare exceptions, the youth of our land are faithful votaries of mammon, and too often they are willing to lay upon the altar their virtues, their reverence for ideals, and their moral interest, in a service the natural tendency of which is to develop their vices; they become servile sycophanis; they become selfish in the pursuit of occupations which permit or encourage misrepresentations, trickery, gambling, speculation, and not infrequently In other lands there is an aristocracy of bling, speculation, and not infrequently downright knavery.

The process of making imparts to it the color which makes it resemble butter, but the state law provides that it must not be of a yellow color, and the court held this meant of a color like butter. Under this ruling the agents were convicted. Immediately thereafter many agents who were selling in this city took in their signs and the business is said to be falling off somewhat. At the same time, however, the revenue office reports that an increasing number of licenses are being taken out for the saie of oleomargarine, and these are now going to the smaller cities of the state. The state dairy commissioner is provided with a list of these licenses, so that he can watch all who are selling the product. He is now sending out a circular letter, in which he refers to the result of the test suit in Des Moines and the conviction of the agents selling so-called uncolored oleomargarine.

"It is the duty of the dairy commissioner in this since of converting the product in the states, "to enforce the law series, the law of right and series of right and across the centuries, the law of right and across the centuries, the law of the success in the accumulation of wealth. It is well for us to remember that every social fact, or phenomenon, is merely an expression of the centural truth from which is about us and of which we are a part. No two facts in our his exert in the entire record of humanity on this earth is related to every other fact of human history, and we, as individuals, and as an ore animal truth from which they spring, and every fact in the entire record of humanity on this earth is related to every other fact of humanity on this earth is related to every other fact of humanity on this earth is related to every other fact of humanity on this earth is related to every other fact of humanity on this earth is related to every other fact of humanity on this earth is related to every other fact of humanity on this earth is related to every other fact of humanity on this earth is related to ever

"It is the duty of the dairy commissioner," he states, "to enforce the law against the sale of oleomargarine in this state. I have refrained from making suits against the numerous dealers until this test case could be decided. This case having resulted in conviction, I am sending you this statement in the belief that dealers will, without further effort on the part of will, without further effort on the part of having any shade of yellow color, whether it be called 'colored' or 'uncolored.'" Mr. Wright believes this will result in practically ending the sale of oleomargarine in this state.

Pensions at Iows Soldiers' Home.

The quarterly payment of pensions to veterans of the Iowa Soldiers' home for the first quarter, ending in April, has been concluded and the money is all in the hands of the members, or to their credit, or with dependent relatives. The total sum paid to pensioners was $17,150.63, which is about more members were in the institution.

President Strelitsky's Address. In his message to the convention, District President J. L. Strelitsky of Grand Rapids, Mich., wrote:

We as Israelites, representing only a very small portion of the communities wherein we reside, are in duty bound for mutual protection to unite for purposes of moral and intellectual advancement. Many of the social clubs and associations are closed to us because of our faith, and this order, standing as it does for all that is rough and true, must raise to a higher this order, standing as it does to at this good and true, must raise to a higher sphere of usefulness the people of our faith, that our neighbors may learn to know us, "For by our acts will we be judged," thus evidencing that we stand for a higher and nobler manhood, and the time will come when all men will recognize us as their equal in all things, and just the standard or prejudice and ignorance exist.

As to Roumanian Refugees.

I might here also say that as to the Roumanian refugees, those sent to this district, as far as I can learn, have been and are doing very well. The majority of them are above the ordinary average of them are above the ordinary average of intelligence, and most of them being artisans are making a good living, and will make good citizens. In connection with the Roumanian problem, I take pleasure in naming Rabbi Mayer of Milwaukee and Jonas Weil of Minneapolis, as being very active in looking after and placing refugees.

The Ghetto work, performed by Brother Lee N. Levi is commendable and deserves ing and we further know that as the Jev ing—and we further know that as the Jew becomes possessed of increased wealth that he seeks greater and larger fields for ac-tion. Take for instance Quincy, Ill., Ot-tawa, Ill., Lincoln, Ill., and many other cities, the Jewish population has dwindled down so that the lodges located there have down so that the longer located there have a precarious existence.

It becomes therefore evident that our efforts should be centered upon the larger cities, Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul. Omaha and Des Moines. These cities could easily double their memberships, and I earnestly beg of you, my brethren, residents of these cities, to work enthusiastically.

Future of the Order.

I had hoped to have started a new lodge at floux City, la., and called the attention of the same to the general committee, and at my suggestion the starting of such lodge was referred to our esteemed brother, Dr. A. Simon of Omaha, with a request to use his best judgment in the premises, but at this writing no favorable report has been received by me from the brother.

My brothers, my experience has taught me that the future of the Order B'nai B'rith, aye the future of American Judalism, lies with our brethren in faith, now the Ghetto dwellers. Let us now try to deceive ourselves. The young American Juda, if regret to say (of course there are exceptions), seems to care very little for Judalism. The majority of them have been college bred, and are endeavoring to break into the select circle, and were it not for the social barriers, hindering their entrance to the select clubs, so known, many of the young Jews would ere this have forgotten the faith of their fathers. With the young men having come to this country within the last fifteen or twenty years it is different. Brought up strictly in the faith of their fathers, they adhere to the tenets of Judaism, and they today stand in the same relation to the German or American born Jew as did the German Jew in his time to the Spaniard or Portugese Jew. The latter, with few exceptions is extinct, at least we hear very little of him any more, and in nifty years this will also be the case with our German and American born Jew of today. Let us therefore use our best efforts to induce the Russian, Polish and Roumanian, as well as all Jews who have found a home here in our giorious Columbia, to join with us in propagating our order, and by it propagate Judaism. This must be our field of activity, and in it we will find men who will give us a listening ear and a ready hand.
