

FOR REUNION OF VETERANS

Opening of the Florence Line Makes Old Fort Omaha Available.

FIFTY THOUSAND VISITORS EXPECTED

Secretary Utt of the Commercial Club Comments on the Benefits Coming to Omaha from the Soldiers' Reunions.

The opening of the Florence line makes it probable that Fort Omaha will be the scene of the veterans' reunion to be held this fall. The Commercial club, which took the lead in the effort to capture the reunion, has conferred with General Bates of the Department of the Missouri, who has promised the use of Fort Omaha if it is desired, provided the club will guarantee to clean up the grounds after the crowd has gone. The line to Florence goes directly past the fort and now that the cars are put in operation the selection of a site, usually quite a problem, has become easy.

Secretary Utt of the Commercial club said: "This veterans' reunion is often confused with the state encampments of the Grand Army of the Republic. They are very different affairs. The encampment is the meeting of the organized body and attended almost exclusively by delegates. The reunion is a free pitch-in attended by soldiers and their whole families. It will occupy some week not yet announced by the council and reunion committee, but likely to be in September or October. Possibly it will be the week of the Ak-Sar-Bon festival, which are to be from October 1 to 10. The total attendance at an encampment in Nebraska is measured by hundreds. The attendance at a reunion amounts to 15,000 some days and for the week will total about 60,000. Tents are provided on the reunion grounds and there many of the old soldiers camp out with their families. There is no program of business, but just a free and easy good time, devoted very largely to the swapping of war tales and reminiscences. For additional amusement a number of the better class of Midway attractions are usually rented space, but neither gambling devices nor liquors are permitted.

The club made no effort to get the reunion away from other towns if the veterans preferred to go there, but we made a liberal bid because the reunion, in addition to being a pleasant affair, is good from a business point of view. Those attending always spend a part of each day in the city shopping and in that way the business men of the entertaining city are given opportunity to meet them and to promote trade relations."
