NOT COMPLETE SETTLEMENT

Union Pacific Machinists Not In on the New York Agreement.

Boiler Makers and Blacksmiths the Only Parties to Return to Work Under the Terms of Present Compact.

"The Union Pacific strike may be settled so far as the boiler makers are concerned, but it is not settled, nor is there any proposed basis of settlement so far as the machinists are concerned." This statement is given out by the local machinists' committee, which is in receipt of this telegram from First Vice President P. J. Conlon, who is in Washington:

"Do not be guided by any reports of settlement sent out. We have arranged for conference with officials in Omaha." A later dispatch says the date for the conference in Omaha is June 1. The press dispatches confirm those of several days ago that the boller makers had cific, so it is probable no further conferences will be held with reference to the are in receipt of telegrams from their representatives at New York confirming the press dispatches of the settlement and saying the representatives left for Omaha Priday night. While there is no disposition to doubt future settlement all around, yet since the $225, going in this sale at $90. machinists constitute the overwhelming majority of the strikers, it is pointed out that the strike will not be settled until an agree ment is reached between the company and the machinists, which cannot be until after the conference that has been decided on Representatives for Conference.

At this conference the strikers will be represented by the executive committee of the International Association of Machinists, consisting of M. J. Ford, New York; H. F. Gerrett, Atlanta; Hugh Doran, Chicago Edward Tucker, Washington; James Reynolds, Cleveland. This committee will arrive in Omaha May 31. James O'Connell, president of the association, of Washington, s an ex-officio member of this committee but as he is sick he may not be at the Omaha conference. Mr. O'Connell or any other representative of the machinists did not attend the conference in New York, as was reported. President John McNell of the boiler makers and President John Slofrom Omaha were there. The blacksmiths having been represented, it is understood they are in on the settlement with the boiler makers.

At Union Pacific headquarters yesterday it was said that no word had been received from President Burt as to the progress of negotiations with the strikers. The local machinists, who are in constant communication with their international headquarters at Washington, are giving out very little information. Vice President Wilson declines to talk on the details or terms of any proposed or rumored settlement, saying he prefers to let matters take their course and have an amicable and satisfactory adjustment made as soon as no part of the habitable globe are there better lady riders than can be found in the west. A girl must be able to ride if she wants to visit her neighbor often. How some of these young creatures can manage a horse! What pictures of beauty, daring and the perfection of health they are as they come dashing along at full speed, playing games, chasing each other or racing just for the fun of the thing, as the young misses of a city or town roll their hoops! Indeed, horseback riding is as common and easy a pastime to a "wild western girl" as are hoop rolling to the

BEAUTIFUL DARING WESTERN GIRLS

With the Lucila Forepaugh-Fish Historical Wild West Shows.

The western girl goes everywhere on horseback. She can join a set of equine quadrilles or Virginia reel and gallop twenty miles on an errand without feeling the slighest fatigue. She keeps "company on horseback, and many a piquant retort and pert speech gain point and pungency from the accelerated gait or sudden dem volte of her beast, respondent to impatient or emphatic pressure of her dainty heel or cut of her whip, in a vexatious conversa-tion or spat with her swain.

Yes, the western girl can ride a horse as you will readily perceive when you witness the performance of the bevy of occidental beauties with the Lucila Forepaugh Fish Historical Wild West. Watch then in the hippodrome races; note their skill and feurlessness; observe their impatience and recklessness; be enchanted by their beauty mellbound by their beauty, spellbound by their achievements and awakened to the pleasures and enjoyment of the competition by their silvery, ringing laughter. There are many things worth seeing in the Luella Forepaugh-Fish Historical Wild West, but not one prettier or more likely to be a gratifying afterthought in your memory than the lovely wild western girl with sparkling eyes and rosy cheeks who flashed by you on the back of a plunging treat.

HANS ARRESTED FOR MURDER

Northwestern Detective Must Answer for Killing of D. O. Luce.

STORY OF SELF-DEFENSE IS DOUBTED

Grand Jury in Brown County Indicts the Railroad Detective and Sheriff Comes to Omaha After the Accused,

Sheriff Curry of Brown county arrived Omaha Friday afternoon and arrested Fred M. Hans, a detective in the employ of the Northwestern railroad, on the charge of murdering D. O. Luce in Brown county

At the time of the killing of Luce there was considerable doubt as to the necessity of the act of Hans, who was acting as a special deputy sheriff of the county, and for two years there have been rumors that the detective was to be brought to account for the act. The story current in Brown county is that Luce, who was a cattle raiser, had incurred the enmity of a number of his neighbors by his uncompromising attitude toward irregularities in the matter of range and brands, which has existed since the cattlemen first went into the country, and that he insisted upon a more strict observance of the laws of private property than had been observed. He had considerable trouble with a number of these neighbors, and it was understood at the time that some of the more radical of his enemies were planning to get him out of the country. It was charged that certain of them had raised $300 which was to be paid to the person who would rid the country of Luce

Beginning of the Trouble.

A few days before the killing of Luce a horse owned by one of his enemies was found dead and he was accused of killing it. A warrant was issued for his arrest, which was placed in the hands of the sheriff of the county for service. Prior to the killing of the horse William Duquette, who is said to be a brother-in-law of Hans. went to the Luce ranch and obtained employment. Between Duquette and Hans a report was given currency to the effect that Luce was at the head of a conspiracy to rob an Eikhorn train near Ainsworth, where the road crosses Blum creek. Hans made complaint before the county judge of Brown county and secured a warrant for the arrest of Luce, at the same time telling of his alleged connection with the train robbers. The warrant was placed in the hands of the sheriff, who upon the request of Hans, turned it over to the detective for service. Hans and Duquette went to the home of Luce, but Hans entered alone. It is said by the friends of Luce that his daughter, a child of tender years, was present, and that she has since said Luce had no time to say a word before he was shot by the detective. On the other hand, it is claimed by Hans that when he went to make the arrest Luce

Detective Gets Notoriety.

Hans and his brother-in-law returned to Ainsworth, where they told the story of the killing in self-defense, and the press correspondents spread it over the country. Hans then gave the public for the first time the alleged plot to rob the Zikhorn train, but the story was never confirmed and was always doubted. No action was taken in the matter until a grand jury was called in Brown county, which investigated the matter for three days with from Omaha boiler makers in New York $19.00-From Chicago to Boston and the result that an indictment was found.

SAYS ASSISTANT IS NECESSARY Building Inspector Carter Comments on the Work of His

ing ordinances enforced they will have to retain the assistant building inspector, said Building Inspector Carter. "This office has a jurisdiction extending over twentyfive square miles, handled by the chief inspector, an assistant, and the clerk, who stays in the office and looks after the business of the boiler and plumbing inspectors as well. "As a matter of fact the force would be too small if the amount of building was being done that should be done. Every new structure has to be carefully gone over and investigated to see that it comes up to the regulations, the fire limits have to be guarded, old buildings have to be inspected and condemned and the matter of the corner of Sprague and Twentieth fire escapes comes under the department, as does the matter of signs and billboards. "There has always been an assistant in this department except during the years of 1895 and 1896, when there was a fight among the candidates for appointment that resulted in the temporary abolishment of the office.
