A WYOMING MAN'S GREAT DISCOVERY

Newspaper Man Investigates and Gives His Opinion of Man and Medicine.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Nov. 15, 1902.—Some time ago an editorial appeared in the Omaha World-Herald discussing the lack of information among the medical profession concerning that comparatively new and more or less dreadful affliction, appendicitis.

Best of the World-Herald: "Appendicitis, the mosquito, is a pest that seems to bite us." This is the judgment of the physicians of today summed up in a few words. It is a disease which has been known and combated by the medical profession for several years, and yet no treatment has been suggested by them other than surgical operation, which is invariably attended by serious complications, often resulting in death. They cannot understand why or what it is, nor are they able to outline any plan of relief.

This condition of affairs not only exists relative to appendicitis, but various other diseases and ailments of the human family are today unsuccessfully combated by the medical profession. Among these ailments we mention a few of the more serious ones, and will relate in more instances in which the sufferer has been permanently cured.

For time immemorial it has been contended by medical men of generations past, and not succumb to medical treatment. That was the decision arrived at by the practitioners of all countries; it being a disease of the blood and not of the bone or flesh, those who sought to remedy or cure the evil were also loath to learn of the real cause of the disease itself.

As an illustration of its power, and apropos of the adaptability to the innumerable diseases, we will cite one instance wherein a prominent Sheridan county ranchman had suffered for years from cancer, first making its appearance on one part of the body, then another, and finally implanted itself well back in the roof of the mouth, causing a swelling from the hips to the top of the head. This man had been examined by several of the best physicians of Sheridan county and two physicians at Buffalo, all of whom were a unit in pronouncing it a case of cancer and also united in a verdict that the case was incurable and absolutely hopeless.

About two months ago the sufferer began using the remedy above mentioned, and ere the close of the first week's usage found himself benefited to a wonderful degree, and before he had completed the first bottle, was able to attend to his duties as overseer of the ranch, and to make himself useful generally around the premises.

He continued taking the medicine, however, and at the consummation of the third bottle found himself absolutely cured and free from cancer, that dreaded of all desolated diseases. Upon our visit to the ranch we found the patient well, happy and contented and joyously singing the praises of the wonderful cure. It is claimed by its manufacturer that this remedy will cure appendicitis, cancer in whatever form or wherever located about the human anatomy; that it will cure Bright's disease; diabetes, scrofula, catarrh, liver, kidney or heart trouble from whatever cause or source; that there is no case of catarrh that it will not cure. Neuritis is a very troublesome ailment with which expert physicians have fought in vain. It is claimed and proved that this remedy has permanently cured neuritis.

I have made a personal investigation into the merits of this wonderful remedy. I have talked with a number of Sheridan county's most highly respected and prominent citizens, whose words are above reproach, and whose statements are unimpeachable. These men and these women will willingly relate their former physical condition and the cure this remedy has brought about.

The manufacturer is a man 31 years of age—a man who has spent years of his life in the study of human ailments of the body and blood. He is an unpretentious, unassuming gentleman, who does not seem to realize the wonderful gift his research has conferred upon mankind.

A company was recently organized for the manufacture of the medicine, incorporated under the laws of the state of Wyoming, with a paid up capital stock of $40,000. Dr. Thomas Farrell is the president. HAYDEN M. WHITE, Press Correspondent.

LIKE THE STOCK YARDS ODOR

Man from Hockburg Goes to Sleep with Erroneous Idea in His Mind.

Alfred Smith of Hockburg, Neb., came to Omaha Friday night after feeling as much of the city as possible in the rain, he hired a bed at the St. James hotel and was assigned to room 23. He did not retire until about 12:30 o'clock, and after getting the covers ready, blew out the gas and turned in. Alfred soon began to inhale the sweet fragrance of the gas, but as he had been about the South Omaha stock yards during the afternoon, he supposed the savory odor of the stock yards were clinging to him still. He covered up his head and went to sleep. It was long until other guests of the hotel, in adjacent rooms, smelled the escaping gas and the night clerk was notified. This was about 2 o'clock and the door of room 23 was bombarded with noise sufficient to awaken every one in the hotel. But Alfred Smith of Hockburg slept on. Finally the night clerk, with the aid of Landford Delaney, climbed in over the transom and turned off the deadly gas, and then tried to awaken Alfred. But he wouldn't wake up until nearly every expedient known to rouse heavy slumbers was resorted to. The doors, windows and hallways were opened on that floor to let the gas escape, and finally Alfred came too. He was astonished that he had been the means of creating such a disturbance, and didn't know that he was doing any harm in blowing out a light. Alfred departed for Hockburg yesterday disgusted with Omaha in general, and gas lights in particular.

Announcement. The undersigned beg to announce to their friends and to the patrons of the Union Central Life Insurance company that the agencies of A. R. Edmiston at Omaha and of J. M. Edmiston at Lincoln have been united and Walter Hugh Edmiston admitted, under the firm name of J. M. Edmiston & Sons, general agents. Offices will be maintained in Lincoln and Omaha, as heretofore, A. R. Edmiston being in charge in Omaha in the new building. The Nebraska agency of the Union Central Life was established in 1882; it has $3,800,000 insurance in force and collects $110,000 yearly in premiums. The Union Central's interests are thoroughly identified with those of this state, for, in addition to the large insurance at risk, it has invested $7,000,000 in first mortgages on eastern Nebraska lands. It is worthy of notice, too, that the company owns no land in this state.

Capable, energetic men desiring lucrative employment, with or without previous experience, are requested to communicate with either office.

AGED JUROR BECOMES SICK

He is Excused and Eleven Men Remain to Deliberate on the Case.

D. C. Sutphen, one of the oldest residents of Omaha and one of its pioneer citizens, is seriously ill as the result of close confinement on a jury. He was a juror in the case of Mary Houghlin against The City of Omaha, which has been on trial before Judge Fawcett for several days. The jury retired Friday night and was found to be divided. It remained out all night and yesterday the bailiff was hurriedly summoned by other jurors, who reported Mr. Sutphen to be dying. An physician was summoned and administered restoratives which seemed to have the desired effect. The physician announced that further confinement in the jury room would be impossible, and upon agreement by the parties to the suit Mr. Sutphen was excused and the jury again took up consideration of the case with eleven members. It was said later that while Mr. Sutphen was in a condition of collapse, there was no anticipation of fatal termination of the illness.

New Orleans Cotton Broker Unbalanced by Business Worry

Cats Throat. NEW ORLEANS, May 30.—His health undermined by business worries, and his mind unbalanced for several days, Frank Emma, a prominent cotton broker who retired from business a few days ago, has ended his life with a penknife. Arrangements were being made to remove him to a sanitarium, but he escaped the vigilant attention of his family after dinner last night, retired to his room and there cut his throat.

Mr. Emma was a member of the Cotton exchange, and had been successful in business. He leaves a wife and six children. Mr. Emma was born in New Orleans and was 45 years old.

Notes from Army Headquarters. First Lieutenant Kirwin T. Smith, Sixth Infantry, has been granted a month's leave of absence to take his family to Europe. Leave of absence for three months, to take effect August 1, has been granted Second Lieutenant Bertram Johnson of the Twenty-second Infantry.

A contingent of mules for the artillery and engineers of this department have been ordered shipped to Fort Leavenworth, where they will be under the supervision of Captain W. Pullman. He has been directed to proceed to Kansas City to inspect the mules to be delivered at Fort Leavenworth and other points of the department.

The board of officers recently convened by orders from department headquarters and comprising Captain George H. Cameron, Fourth Cavalry; Captain Frederick G. Britinger, Twenty-second Infantry; Captain William J. Snow, artillery corps; and First Lieutenant L. W. Oliver, Eighth Cavalry, recorder, is now in session at Fort Riley. The purpose of the board is to prepare a manual to be used in tent pitching contests.

By direction of the secretary of war new instructions for batteries of field artillery have been prepared. They embrace many of the old regulations for the information and guidance of artillery batteries and regiments. The new instructions direct, in detail, for drill, target practice, etc. The new instructions direct, among other things, that when the weather permits there shall be at least two marches of fifteen miles each every month.
