RECOVERING FROM THE FLOOD

Business Men of Papillion Talk of Moving to Higher

Ground.

PAPILLION, Neb., June 5 .- (Special.)-Papillion is slowly recovering from the effects of the recent flood. The creek has fallen to normal condition and the water has receded from the business part of town. Preparations are being made to move sev aral houses and the Episcopal church from the bottoms to higher land. The question of making another business block outside of the flooded district was taken up by the Commercial club at its last meeting, but definite action has been taken as yet. The merchants have suffered from high water for the last two years and many important changes in the business part of town are looked for la the near future. The Papillion Times company has already begun the erection of a building to be used as its office.

its great thirst for knowledge and a desire to learn. The oration of the evening, "The Fall of Aaron Burr," was delivered by Charles Emery in a creditable manner, both in thought and delivery. After reviewing Burr's life the speaker drew the conclusion that his fall was due to the fact that in early life he rejected Christianity and that his greatest fault was his lack of moral character. The quartet followed with another pleas ing number, after which the class play, "Mr. Bob," a comedy in two acts, was given. Those taking part were: Messra. Harold Friedsam, Ralph Waverling, How ard Hauser and Misses Gertrude Sabin, Anna Stevenson, Edna Squires and Imegene Brewster. The concluding number was "The Pipe of Peace," with the farewell address of the chief to his tribe, by Herbert Baker. The thirty-three members of the class appeared as Indians, with red blankets, feathers and war paint, and sat upon the stage in Indian fashion. The pipe of peace was passed around, each of the 'braves" taking a whiff, and in conclusion there was a war dance around the campfire, ending with the class yell, which made the scene seem very realistic.

The program was an interesting one and those taking part received frequent and deserved applause.

Children Who Were Sent to Home for the Friendless Years Ago Now Anxious to Find Their Parents.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, June 5 .- (Special.)-The Niegnfind ghost hasn't walked yet, and the probabilities are that it will not walk until the next legislature meets, and those who expect to get money for helping Nieginfind on his journey will likely wait until the next legislature loosens the reins and starts his ghostship. Today Deputy Auditor Anthes refused to issue the warrant for the $253.80 to pay the expenses of the execution. The auditor wants to know a little more about the matter first. The Board of Public Lands and Buildings did not say from what fund the bills was to be paid, nor for what purpose the $150 item marked "for allowance of board" was

It is the opinion of the deputy auditor that the next legislature will have to create a fund from which to pay the ex penses of executions, and unless the board finds some way around it, the auditor probably will not only refuse to draw a warrant for $150 to Mr. Beemer, but will refuse also to issue a warrant for the $53.80 for George Stryker, the Omaha deputy sheriff, and the $50 for the scaffold.

Nieginfind's execution has certainly caused considerable trouble all along the line. After he had been started celestialward the undertaker exhibited his body which caused considerable comment and threats of executive interference. Then along came the settlement. Warden Beemer first sent in his bill for the $300, of which $103.80 was itemized. This was sent back to him by the board for more details. The bill came back as it was at first, and the $300 was allowed by the board. At an adjourned meeting, however, held yesterday, the board cut down the bill just $50. It also fixed the rate for hanging at $150, and all expenses to be paid out of that sum by the warden. The auditor did the rest. Dates of Normals.

THE SECRET.

How Doctors Protect Themselves from Contagious Diseases.

Doctors rarely catch contagious diseases Almost everybody knows this, but few know how they escape. Many believe that the doctor has some charm or antiseptic which protects him. Dr. Hartman lately made the truth of this matter public, that all might realize its benefit. Contagious diseases are conveyed by minute organgerms And their entrance into the system through the mucous membrane. If the mucous membrane is healthy they cannot get into the system. If the mucous memeasy access. Catarrhal secretions furnish exactly the material upon which they thrive and multiply. To get rid of the catarrh and thus preserve the mucous membrane healthy is the only way to be safe from contagious diseases. This explains why it is that some people catch

Looking for Their Parents. Several parties in Lincoln interested in the inmates of the Home for the Friendless are very desirous of locating a man named Demorest, or Mrs. Demorest, who at one time lived in Omaha and may live there now. About sixteen years ago the man and his wife separated and their five children became inmates of the Home for the Friendless. Since that time one of the children died, three have left the home and one remains. Of these children living three are girls and one is a boy. Those who have left the home are doing well and reside in Oregon and Nebraska and their addresses are known to the officers of the society. The children now desire to find their parents or either of them. The first name of the father is not known, but if a man by the name of Demorest is still living and he is the father of the five children he cannot put his hands on, he is requested to write to Mrs. H. A. Babcock, Lincoln, or some member of the society.
