After That.

Under the canopy of changing skies "Pop" Eyler got back at the Rourkeites in rood style yesterday afternoon and put them on the toboggan slide in their last game on the home grounds for a month to tune of 6 to 2. "Pop" thought it was oming to him after Friday's game and so he started to do it. He hit the ball hard and often to help it along, and did all that he

As for the locals, with the first touch of sunshine they ran into a bunch of bacilli ennul and were thoroughly innoculated, so that they never really got out of their trance on the field. They hit "Pop" often enough, but failed to field other than slowly and, with the lack of control of Companion, it was easy picking for the Grissiles.

After striking out the first two men who faced him, Companion let down for a minute and Jones made a lucky home run down the third base line. Then Hale drew a base on four garbled ones and stole on to second, but Dunden was erased without any argument and Omaha went to the stick. After striking out the first two men who argument and Omaha went to the stick.

Carter and Genins both flew out and Shugart ôrew a single. Doian was up next, fuming to get at the ball, and he landed on one of "Pop's" choice ones like an trate parent, and it sailed over the fence and In the second the Grizzlies began doing things. Patterson was punctured in the laths and got to second on Ratcliffe's sacri-Lattimer hit hard and Genine gathered it in, but Eyler took two bags on a hit of his and Patterson broke over the plate. When Delehanty hit one out to Joe Dolan it looked to be all over again, but Dolan threw wild to first and another run came in. That was all for that inning. In their half of the second Omaha tied the score. Thomas swatted the ball for three bags and came home while Gonding was going out at first. As it happened that was the last score of the day for the Rourkeites, but the Grizzlies kept on counting in the chips. In the third they got one on a pass, a sacrifice and two singles, another in the fourth on three singles and their last in the seventh on a base on balls, a wild pitch and

Carter and Wright made two pretty catches of files after long runs in the early part of the game. DENVER.

Commencement Program Given Orally and in the Sign Language.

SOME BEAUTIFUL EFFECTS ARE PRODUCED

Remarkable Oral Addresses Given by Pupils Who Have Never Heard the Sound of Their Own Volces.

The thirty-fifth annual commencement exercises of the Nebraska School for the Deaf were given yesterday afternoon in the assembly hall of the institution before a large audience. The hall was prettily decorated with the colors of the class of 1903, old rose and white, with Old Glory as a background for the platform. The curtain was of the class colors and on it was the class motto, "Look Ahead," in evergreens. There were only three graduates, Miss Frances Davis of Omaha, Miss Hattle Bell Ren of David City and Mr.

Perry Seeley of Lincoln. The exercises began with a short welcoming address by Superintendent R. E. Stewart. The invocation was delivered orally by Rev. J. M. Ross of Omaha, and was communicated during its delivery in the sign language to the pupils of the school by Superintendent Stewart.

Perry Seeley then delivered the class oration orally, his subject being "Self-reliance," which was repeated to the pupils in the sign language by Superintendent Stewart as rapidly as the speaker talked Mr. Seeley has been totally deaf since he was 18 months old and consequently his oral address was remarkable from the fact that he had never heard the words he spoke. His enunciation was excellent and his pronunciation and emphasis remarkably good.

Then followed an oral exercise by the class of first year pupils under the guidance of their teacher, Miss Anna Kirkpatrick The class consisted of two boys and five little girls, all of whom were totally deaf, out were still able to speak with remarkable distinctness. They readily named illustrated objects and recited in unison, one of them giving a very pretty recitation in verse. They also read from written exer-

Rapid and Graceful.

Miss Frances Davis of Omaha gave an essay on "Florence Nightengale," in the sign language, which was read at the same time by one of the teachers. The rapid and graceful movements of Miss Davis' hands, in unison with the reading of the essay, was one of the most interesting features of the afternoon. The essay was her own production and upon its conclusion the speaker was presented with a handsome bouquet of white roses and carna-

Then followed the sign-song, 'Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," by the Misses Edith Marshall, Frances Davis, Hattle Ren, Mary Smirha and Hester Willmore. The vocal solo was sung by Miss O. W. Hendee. one of the teachers, with Miss Pearl Cole as plane accompanist. The five young women, attired in white and all of them exceedingly pretty and graceful, followed the cadence and pathetic sentiment of the song in the sign manual with the most charming and beautiful effect. It was a poem of graceful movement that gave the old song a new meaning and interest.

L. S. Mole followed with a very entertaining cornet solo, Schubert's "Serenade," with his little daughter as plane accompanist. Manual Class Exhibition.

The manual class, third-year pupils, then gave a very interesting and marvelous exhibition of efficiency under the direction of their teacher, Miss Ota B. Crawford. A not less interesting feature was the exhibit tion by the drawing class of four boys and four girls, under the direction of their teacher, Lloyd Blankenship. They sketched with charcoal on white cardboard. Their productions included landscapes, portraits and animals.

A very pretty number was the parasol drill by thirteen little girls carrying pink and blue parasois, under the direction of the Misses Regnier and Jack. Their evolutions were graceful and carried out in cadence with a song, "Brave Little Maidens." by one of the teachers, with Miss Cole as planist. The valedictory, an essay, "The Path to Fame," by Miss Hattle Belle Ren, was given orally by the valedictorian and in the sign language by one of the teachers, as she proceeded with it. Miss Ren became almost wholly deaf at 5 years of age and at the age of 15 another attack of illness caused her to lose her hearing entirely. She has been a pupil at the school for three years. She has a clear, distinct voice, and her articulation and pronunciation are perfect.

The diplomas were presented by Super intendent Stewart, who accompanied their presentation with the sign language, and his associate principal read the address orally. The program closed with another sign-song, "We Will Never Say Goodbye."
