The day was raw and the attendance coned largels to persons who had passes nd those who had to be there, but even the seasonable weather does not offer a sufent excuse for the misplays that were ande. Gatins of Milwaukee and Hickey of trasha were the chief offenders. Gatins in measure redeemed himself, but Hickey did not and his record for the game is a string of goose eggs except in the error olumn. Vollendorf sent three men to bases on balls, which coupled with Gatins' fumble of Wright's grounder, resulted in three runs in the first inning. Milton, who was in the box for the Nebraskans, was a uzzle to the Creams for the first four innngs and Stone was the only man to get on the bases, and he was put out trying to steal second. In the fifth inning two men were given passes to first and a two-bagger, coupled with errors of Hickey and Shugart, gave the Creams three runs. Omaha could not get another tally until Milton was given a life at first by another error of Gatins, and after being advanced to third came home on Genins' long fly promptly enough to save the run. In the sixth inning Kenna went into the box and Wright made the only hit credited to Omaha off Duffy's star twirler. Attendance, 100. Score: MILWAUKEE

For Neglect of Studies in General Service the sentence is approved and will be duly Staff College.

SENTENCES ARE REDUCTIONS IN RANK First Convictions of This Kind Fall

to Lieutenant Crockett and Lientenant True, Both Soldiers of Excellent Record.

The first convictions under general courtsmartial of officers of the regular army who neglect to make the most of their opportunities when detailed to the General Service and Staff college as student officers have just been promulgated in general orders from the headquarters of the Department of the Missouri. Officers detailed to the colleges for study and instruction who fail to pass the examinations are not only liable to fall behind in the line of promotion, but are subject to court-martial for neglect of duty in devoting their energies to pursuits not in line with their military duties. The Intention of the General Service and Staff college is to stimulate the highest efficiency in the officers of the army and to give them every opportunity to reach that efficiency. First Lieutenant Thomas B. Crockett of the Twenty-fourth infantry was recently tried by general court-martial at Fort Leavenworth for failing in his examination before the college. The charge against him was: Neglect of duty, to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, in violation of the sixty-second article of war. The specifications, seven in number, were in substance that through lack of proper diligence and application in his studies he falled to prepare himself in a suitable manner, for examination in the subject of infantry drill regulations (theoretical); reexamination, school of the company (pratical), engineering (theoretical), re-examination, etc. He was found gullty of five of the specifications and the charge and was reprimanded in orders. General Reviews the Case.

In reviewing the case, General Bates commander of the Department of the Missouri, held "that so much of the sentence

The military record of Licutenant Crockett is a remarkable one. He left school at the age of 15 years, went to Central America and then to the West Indies, where he was employed with the Empire Construction company. He served with General Garcia in his Cuban campaigns, and came back to the United States, and went to northern Washington, British Columbia, and Alaska, and subsequently returned to the United States and at the church of Omaha.
