most reached the point of being an indignation meeting. One speaker said that the Omaha View Improvement club was largely responsible for turning down the big five combine in the old council and that the new members of that body must do something for the northwest part of town in the way of street car extension, sidewalk improve ments and grading of some of the hills in this part of town. "It's time we had the obnoxious sidewalk ordinance repeated se that we can have new wooden walks laid, but at present nothing but repair work can be done unless the street is graded and as very few streets out here have been graded no relief seems in sight, until a new ordinance is passed allowing new wooden waiks to be put down. Other members told of alleged broken pledges by the old council and car company, who, it was said, had positively stated if these residents would submit to a tax for cutting through Thirty-third street from Burt to Cuming they would surely run the car clear out to Maple

The matter is to be pushed until some thing is done and after waiting for a reasonable time the city council is to be appealed to again.

A committee is to be appointed to re quest the Board of Education to do some improving on the Omaha View school The club will proceed at once by petition of the residents to ask the council's assistance in having the gas company extend its mains out in this section. The appointment of the standing committees was put off until the next regular
