A CARLOAD OF OILCLOTH IN A RAILROAD WASHOUT

WE BOUGHT THE ENTIRE CARLOAD AND PLACE IT ON SALE MONDAY

This car was consigned to one of the best known Carpet Departments in the country and consisted of seventy-five rolls of various grades of floor oilcloth, fifty rolls of the best heavy linoleum and ten cases of table oilcloth.

As these goods stood on end in the car, some of them were wet on the edges. MANY OF THEM ARE SOUND AND PERFECT, NONE OF THEM BADLY DAMAGED.

The Railroad Claim Agent wanted to sell these goods and wired us to make an offer. For spot cash we secured this entire consignment at LESS THAN ONE-HALF PRICE. The goods are of a well known standard make and in full pieces (not remnants). We have divided this entire purchase into four lots:—

All the floor oilcloth that is in any way damaged (and most of it is very slightly damaged) goes at 15c PER SQUARE YARD

All the extra heavy absolutely sound and perfect floor oilcloth and all the best heavy linoleum that is slightly damaged, worth to $1, Square yard 25c

All the absolutely sound and perfect extra heavy linoleum, worth to $1.25 These are all new and absolutely sound 49c Square yard

All the 12 wide table oilcloth in white, marble and fancy, the kind that generally sells at 20c a yard, goes at, yard 7c

In view of the fact that these goods are all of the best known make and most of them sound and perfect, with few of them but slightly damaged, this event will certainly be

One of the Greatest Sales of Oilcloth that Ever Took Place in the Country.

DANCE TO THE TOMB OF SAINT

Strange and Ancient Custom Practiced in the Duchy of Luxembourg.

(Copyright, 1903, by Press Publishing Co.) BRUSSELS, June 13.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—A very year on the Tuesday after Pentecost the grand duchy of Luxembourg sees an extraordinary spectacle known as the "dancing procession."

In the old church of Echternach a good saint named Willbrod, bishop of Utrecht, lies buried. Many years ago all the cattle in the section fell victims to a singular epidemic which caused them to dance and twist in strange fashion and then fall dead.

The people of Echternach remembered the good saint Willbrod and made a pilgrimage to his tomb, dancing and twisting in imitation of the movements of their poor beasts. The epidemic disappeared, but ever since the inhab-

PROPOSES A TAX ON GAMBLING

Eight Per Cent of Wager is Legislature's Idea of the Equitable Rate.

(Copyright, 1903, by Press Publishing Co.) PARIS, June 13.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—Gustave Lhopiteau, a radical republican deputy from Chartres, proposes that all games of chance be taxed 8 per cent of the sums staked. He estimates that such a tax would produce an annual revenue of $2,000,000.

Italian Cabinet Resigns. ROME, June 13.—Premier Zanardelli today formally announced in the Chamber of Deputies that the cabinet has resigned.

BUNTING DOLLARS TELL

Princess Hatzfeldt is Outing a Wide Swath in London Society.

RAGE NOW FOR BIG DANCING PARTIES

Several of Recent Date in Which Wealthy Women Find Opportunity to Display Collection of Jewels.

(Copyright, 1903, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, June 13.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—Princess Hatzfeldt gave tonight at her Berkeley Square residence a party at which the king's brother, the duke of Connaught, the duchess of Connaught and the "smartest" of London society were present.

After the royal dinner party about 400 people gathered in the ball room, where Jeanne Granier, the famous French actress, now in London, gave a performance. A high platform was luxuriously fitted up, with a curtain made of real pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Astor came from Paris to attend the party. They brought Mrs. Shaw with them, and are staying at Claridge's, intending to remain in England until after the Ascot races. The princess's brother, Archer M. Huntington, arrived with George E. Dodge of New York in time to attend this party.

The C. P. Huntington fortune has been divided between the princess and Archer. The brother is a talented author, whose books on Spain especially are clever and true to Spanish life. Mr. Huntington will meet the cream of English society at his sister's, as she is riding on the very crest of the social wave in London and aims at exclusiveness in all her entertainments. Countess Fabricetti is still visiting here.

Mad Over Big Parties. The American colonists have "gone mad" over the big dancing parties. They now are concentrating their forces on the next grand ball, which will be given July 9, in aid of Charing Cross hospital. There will be processions of all nations, with America again in the lead with all the pretty American women now here.

The success which attended the big ball in Albert hall Tuesday night was due to the American element, which pervaded the movement from the very start. Mrs. Arthur Paget was the head and front of the undertaking. Although she had been ailing in Paris for two months she managed everything splendidly and her own American quadrille was one of the most magnificent things ever seen.

Apart from the beauty of the American women the dresses they wore were mostly Worth gowns, while it is estimated that at least $5,000,000 worth of diamonds were worn by eight of these women. Gladys Deacon, the only unmarried one of them, wore a few strings of magnificent pearls. The American flag was twisted around the body of each dancer, falling in front in a long scarf to the feet. The undressness of all were exquisite white robes of the most extravagant order of dressmaking.

Mrs. Paget the Leader. Mrs. Paget led the procession around the arena with 8,000 eyes fastened on her. She looked like a queen, with a flowing white dress of some diaphanous material, while her neck blazed in the most beautiful jewels. American dashes were twisted tight to the figure, forming a corset of stars and stripes.

No one was more conspicuous than Mrs. John Drexel. She wore the prettiest frock at the ball, with 100 deep ruffles covered with silver embroidery. The low neck flared in with row upon row of splendid diamonds. She wore at least three diamond necklaces, while clasping her throat was the highest dog collar of pearls imaginable. Across the bust she wore a broad blue ribbon from shoulder to waist covered with graduated sun diamonds that gleamed with the thousand lights from all parts of the room. Mrs. Drexel is a capital dancer and her graceful beauty was commented on by all.

Lady Dufferin and Lady Craven also wore Worth dresses with a truly American air. As there was a missing lady, Mrs. Avery was asked to fill in the Russian quadrille. Handsome Miss Padelford, the daughter of Mrs. Ernest Cunard, was also at the ball. Miss Padelford is much admired in London. She has all the light freedom of manner so attractive to the reserved, stilled Englishman.

Belmonts Dine with Rothschilds. Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont had the honor of being invited to the dinner given Wednesday by Lord and Lady Rothschild for the king and queen at their house in Piccadilly. Mrs. Belmont wore a magnificent yellow satin gown, encrusted with jewels, and on her head a superb diamond tiara. The Belmonts, whose connection with the Rothschilds has been long and intimate, were, until a few days ago, on a visit to them. They are now staying at a hotel.

Nothing gives W. H. Smith of Chicago so much pleasure as entertaining friends at "smart" dinners at the Carlton or Claridge's. Every evening sees him surrounded by witty, pretty young society leaders. He is especially fond of the American colony, all members of which are on such good terms with each other. For the Albert hall, on Tuesday night, he had a huge dinner party, and on the night previous he had a dozen Americans dining with him at the Carlton, where a very special menu was provided. The party included Mrs. Laurence Townsend, Lady Lister Kaye, Mr. and Mrs. John Drexel, Mr. von Andre, Mr. Hare and Mrs. Harriman. The meal was served at a round table adorned with La France roses, among which small electric lamps glowed.

At another table the same night at the Carlton, Mrs. Henry Siegel had a party for a number of friends, including Mrs. W. F. Ward and Mrs. J. Terrell.

The countess of Oxford, daughter of Dr. C. Corbin, New York, has returned from a visit of some months in the United States. Other recent arrivals are "Clem" Studenbaker, Franklin Brooks, Mrs. E. L. Godkin, Julia Marlowe and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stuyvesant Chanler.

Ambassador Choate, his wife and daughter will arrive next week from New York. This has been a very inconvenient time for the ambassador to be absent, so many Americans are here and so much is going on in society. Young Mr. Choate and his bride are expected to visit London toward the end of their honeymoon.

MONUMENT TO AN ARCHITECT

Paris to Honor the Man Who Designed Its Impending Opera House.

(Copyright, 1903, by Press Publishing Co.) PARIS, June 13.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—A monument to Charles Garnier, the architect of the Paris Opera, is to be dedicated June 20. It has been recently shown that the original plan was one tier lower than the height finally determined, but that during the building operations Napoleon III dropped in and suggested that the edifice would be dwarfed by the size of the buildings then in course of construction on Rue d'Utrecht. The architect appreciated the criticism and raised the arch over the facade, giving it the present imposing dimensions.

When we quote specials in our Tea and Coffee Department, we mention prices lower than can be found anywhere else in Omaha. We carry the very best grades of coffees, teas and spices that are obtainable in the market. More satisfactory goods at a saving of money on every purchase.
