CORPORATION COMPLAINTS NOT YET FILED

Commission Men Ask Rerating, but the Packing Houses and Stock Yards Are Not Heard

The Board of Review is still grinding away. Sessions end on Thursday at 5 o'clock, and those who have complaints to make must of necessity file them before the board adjourns. So far none of the big the four bond propositions will be held corporations have complained to the board today. Yesterday the people talked more about the valuation returned by the tax about the election than since the proclamacommissioner. Yesterday arternoon quite tion was issued. From street talk it is a number of the live stock commission inferred that a very light vote will a cast, dealers appeared before the board and pro- some wise ones placing the maximum vote tested against being assessed at the rate at 1,000. Judges of election have been rereturned by the city tax department. Mr. quested to file a separate report of the Fitzgerald contended that he did exactly right in basing his valuation on the capital stock of the commission companies. Just how the other two members of the board will stand when the question comes to a vote remains to be seen. From surface indications it looks now as if the valuation will remain about the same as originally turned in by the tax commissioner, $18,035,000. Fewer complaints have been received by the board so far than since the law creating it went into effect. This is due to the fact that small property owners have been decreased in many instances and the burden added to the corporations. Up to the present time the corporations have remained silent, but it is expected that a showing will be made before the board will be made the meeting at the Methodist church on Tuesday evening, June 23.

After the public sessions of the board end it will be a couple of days before the final results will be known, as a recapitulation will have to be made and all changes in valuations entered on the records. A completed record will most likely be ready to make public on Monday, June 29.

Flushing the Streets.

The flushing of the pavement on Twenty ourth street shows to the people the worn out condition of the old pavement. In places the stream of water has torn chunks of the thin layer of asphait up and thus new holes have been made. Every care has been taken by the firemen in using the stream, the pressure being cut down as low as possible in order not to do any damage to the rotten part of the street. About two more flushings will put the street in worse shape than it has been for years, The plasterers were moving into the new Some of the business men who inspected the middle of August.

It was demonstrated that the work done under the supervision of the city engineer was all right, the trouble being that the amount of money appropriated was not sufficient to fill half of the holes. Again it was shown that the old pavement is entirely worn out and is considered dead. A report of this special committee will be made to the council at the meeting to be held on June 29. Dodge Street Cars Irregular.

The service on the Dedge street car line was rather irregular for two or three hours yesterday owing to the disconnection of the rails at Twentieth and Dodge, where the new curve and switch are being placed. It was found inadvisable to run over the curve because of the loss of time to the workmen and also because it was considered dangerous. One car did leave the rails, but was soon righted. Two cars on the downtown end of the line alternately ran back and forth on the two tracks and these transferred at "a top of the hill to two other cars, which ran back and forth to Lake street, where they transferred in turn to other cars. Regular service was resumed as soon as the connection was made at the turn. The service on the Dedge street car line
