TEMPERATURE AT SCHOOL

Rises Rapidly When Frank L. Haller Speaks to Superintendents.

GENERAL INDICTMENT WITH FIVE COUNTS

Parochial School Students Better Fitted for Commercial Life, Essentials Being Sacrificed to Vain and Ornate in Public Schools.

Through the windows and doors were allowed to remain open Frank L. Haller, secretary of the Lintner & Metcalf company, succeeded in raising the temperature of the big assembly room on the fifth floor of the city hall 1 1/2 degrees between 11:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. yesterday. Some private and personal thermometers showed even a greater increase, but the above figures are official.

Mr. Haller was on the program of the Transmississippi Summer School of Superintendence to deliver a talk on "The Public Schools and School Superintendents from a Business Man's Standpoint," and after he was through talking everyone present admitted that he had said several things. After a preliminary jolly about the difficulty business men experience in assimilating the product turned out by the public schools Mr. Haller said it was a wide spread delusion, which the teachers rither encouraged, that the public schools fitted young men and women for commercial life. It was a question with business men whether boys, after they obtained the rudiments of an education, were benefited by continuing in school—that is, the boys were to go out to make a living and make money. But as 89 out of every 1,000 young people entering the commercial world do so from the grades he would confine himself to them and not speak of the faults, as seen by business men, of the high schools and colleges.

Mr. Haller's Five Counts.

First—That boys leaving school do not write a fairly plain and legible hand, often not better than their teachers, and sometimes even not so good.

Second—That boys on leaving school cannot spell correctly the few and unusually short words in the business vocabulary.

Third—That boys on leaving school can not compose a common and ordinary business letter, so that it may not be misinterpreted or misintegrated.

Fourth—That boys on leaving school cannot multiply, add, divide or subtract with any degree of certainty regarding correctness, not to mention with any degree of rapidity.

Fifth—That boys on leaving school are not observant.

It should be remembered by teachers and superintendents, said Mr. Haller, that the main end of man is the end with the head on, and that he should be taught to think. The essentials today, he said, were largely sacrificed to the vain and the ornate, not to mention the useless. What was wanted was more light and less noise.

Parochial Schools Better.

There was evidently more veneration for the three R's in the parochial schools, Mr. Haller continued, than in the public schools, for the business men found that

BOARD OF REVIEW CONSIDERS

Unable to Agree on Stock Yards Valuation and Reaches No Decision.

EIGHTY MILES TELEPHONE LINE UNTAXED

Commissioner Hoteldt Demands an Itemized Accounting of Outside Telephone Property—Banks Are Slow to File Statements.

The County Board of Equalization held but a short session yesterday. All members were present at an early hour, and spent the time trying to get together in the matter of the assessment of the South Omaha stock yards. In this they were unsuccessful, although Manager Kenyon and Attorney Hanson spent the greater part of the morning arguing with the individual members.

The banks were to have filed certified statements of their resources for the purpose of taxation yesterday, but only three such statements were filed and the matter was passed until all are presented. Of the banks filing statements, the Commercial National bank showed total resources of $58,004 from which $21,748 was deducted as being invested in real estate already taxed, leaving a balance of $36,256, or $48.87 for the purpose of taxation. The Omaha National reported an assessed valuation of $115,052 from a total resource of $1,138,268, of which $44,246 is in real estate.

The report of the First National bank was not satisfactory to the members of the board, for it was estimated in a different manner. In place of taking the total value of the real estate from the total resources of the bank and showing one-sixth of the remainder to the commissioner, the report took the assessed valuation of the land from one-sixth of the total resources. This left only $40,722 to be assessed as the personal property of the bank, while by the method followed by the other banks the assessed valuation would be $71,223. The members of the board said this would be the amount reported for taxation.

Complaint Against Union Pacific.

Complaint has been made against the personal property and the assessment on real estate of the Union Pacific Railroad company, covering the land upon which the shops stand. The complaint was made by Graham & Ure and was set for hearing Monday.

When the case of the Nebraska Telephone company was called a request was made to have it postponed until Friday because the attorneys of the company could not be present. The assessment of this company is $21,000, against $10,000 for last year. Commissioner Hoteldt desires to have the value of the property of the company in Douglas county outside of the cities of Omaha and South Omaha computed for the first time, and said that there were about eighty miles of line which has never appeared upon the books for taxation. Commissioner Harts moved that the assessment be increased $50,000, which would have made the total assessment about $111,000, but the board adjourned before the motion was put with the understanding that no action will be taken until Friday.

GUARDSMEN NOT CONTENTED

Trouble Brewing Among Officers and Members of State Militia.

GENERAL CULVER A DISTURBING ELEMENT

Men Do Not Like Adjutant General's Treatment of Their Officers and the Mixing of Politics with Militia Work.

Officers and members of the Nebraska National Guard declare that the dissatisfaction which has existed for several months has been stirred up by events of the past few days, and that something in the nature of a full-fledged war—without guns or bullets—may be expected in the near future. Members of the local companies decline to be quoted, saying that it would not be according to regulations for them to talk while still in the service, but are not at all chary in expressing opinions among themselves.

General Culver, adjutant general of the state, and of the Nebraska National Guard, by appointment of Governor Mickey, is the disturbing element. It was Adjutant General Culver's manner of doing business and his treatment of the officers of the two regiments, it is stated, that caused Colonel Hayward of the Second regiment, N. N. G., to resign. Colonel Archer of the First regiment, N. N. G., handed in his resignation some ten days ago, though the news of it is only now made public, and while visiting friends in Omaha this week, said his resignation was due to the treatment he received at the hands of Adjutant General Culver. A number of other officers, it is stated, have already, or soon will, follow the lead of Colonel Hayward and Archer.

Culver and Politics.

In part explanation it is stated that the great majority of the officers of the Nebraska National Guard expressed preferences for others than Culver for the office of adjutant general. Major Williams being one of the most popular candidates for the place. It is now stated that Adjutant General Culver is trying to punish the officers who opposed him and reward the few who endorsed him.

It is also stated that Adjutant General Culver "runs too much to the governor with petty tales." Brigadier General Barry is a populist in politics, and this, it is stated, has somewhat to do with Adjutant General Culver's practice of going over his head to the governor. General Barry is greatly admired and liked by the members of the two regiments, it is declared, and so far as national guard matters are concerned, neither the officers or men in the ranks care about his politics, as they do not want to mix up politics with their guard business. From experience, officers state, that doing so would ruin the national guard, and it is the mixing in of politics, they state, which is the most serious charge against Adjutant General Culver.

STUDENTS MOURN CLASSMATE

Gather at Home of Miss Grace A. Buresh at Impressive Last Services.

Services of a particularly impressive and tender nature were held Wednesday afternoon for Miss Grace A. Buresh, the daughter of Vaclav Buresh, deputy collector of internal revenue, who died this week after a brief illness. Miss Buresh was a member of the graduating class of the High school and became sick two days before the closing exercises.

The final offices of regard and sympathy and sorrow were performed both at the residence, 1323 Center street, and at the National Bohemian cemetery, where interment was made. Many persons attended the ceremonies at the home, including several instructors and numerous High school students. There were profuse floral tributes in the room that contained the casket.

No clergyman preached, the speaking and eulogies being by Prof. Simek of the Iowa university and Edward Rosewater. Prof. Simek couched his thoughts in Bohemian, while Mr. Rosewater spoke in English. At the cemetery several speakers uttered appropriate words.

PAVING ON MILITARY ROAD

John A. Creighton Offers to Contribute Thousand Dollars to Improvement Fund.

"If you will build the road as it should be, as it is beyond the gap, I will give you $1,000," said John A. Creighton at the conclusion of a hearing before the county commissioners yesterday on a question of raising funds from the coming tax levy for the construction of a paved road from the east end of the pavement on the Military road to the pavement of the street on Walnut Hill.

There was a large number of interested property owners present, including residents of Benson, delegates from the County club and citizens living along the road. They came with the intention of having the county commissioners unite with the city park board for the construction of about 1,500 feet of paving to make the connection indicated. A number of the people spoke on the subject, all favoring the plan.

F. A. Brogan, on behalf of the people of Benson, spoke of the importance of the road to the people of the suburb, and the desire of those living in that part of the county to have unbroken communication over a paved road with the city. On behalf of the farmers of the northwestern part of the county James Walsh spoke in favor of the proposed improvement, telling of the importance of the Military road as a means of communication between the county and city and the necessity for the pavement where it is not laid. G. M. Hitchcock and others also favored the plan proposed.

Edward Rosewater, who favored the proposition, said the road should have been completed to connect with a paved street at the time it was originally built, as it is a bad plan to pave part of a country road or street having no connection with other parts of the county. He said that the improvement is in a great measure lost. The city cannot build the required road and the commissioners and park board are the only bodies that can. It is estimated that the cost of the road will be between $5,000 and $7,500. The board will decide the question Monday.

HAPPY RESULTS OBTAINED.

By the Use of the New Scalp Antiseptic.

It wouldn't take long to number the hairs in the heads of some people, the reason being they haven't many to number. In most instances, however, the fault is their own. At the root each hair grows with the most luxuriant growth and causes it to fade and fall out. A remedy for this has recently been discovered, called Newbro's Herpicide, that acts by destroying the germ that does the damage by removing impurities from the scalp. In addition it permits new life and vigor to enter the scalp, and happy results are sure to be obtained from its use. Try it. Sold by leading druggists. Send in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Sherman & McConnell Drug Co., special agents.

HOLDING BACK FIREWORKS

Police Will Not Allow the Noise to Begin Until Friday Night.

THEN THE SMALL BOYS MAY CUT LOOSE

Everybody Who Begins to Celebrate Before the Proper Hour Will Be Arrested, So Declares Chief Donahue.

Only a few hours more and the ban on the Fourth of July firecracker will have been removed. But until 6 o'clock Friday evening every person seen or heard shooting firecrackers of any size will be subjected to arrest, and if bonds are not forthcoming the said party or parties may have to spend the glorious Fourth in jail.

It will take strenuous efforts to enforce the orders of the chief Friday, for he has given dealers permission to place all their Fourth of July stocks on tables in front of their places of business the first thing in the morning, to remain in plain sight all day and until the dealers take them in again. This is done for the benefit of the country customers who are expected here in socks and not to make the burden of the small boy heavier than he can bear.

But the party who buys firecrackers Friday will have to spend his time fondling the goods, for he will not be permitted to shoot them in the city limits until after 6 o'clock in the evening.

Few of the Cannon Kind.

Chief Donahue said yesterday that he believed never before in the history of the city was Omaha so thoroughly rid of the cannon crackers. For several years the police have been trying to curb the sale of these, but never before had the department received support and encouragement from more people in its efforts. He expects there will be very few of the cannon crackers shot in Omaha on the Fourth.

Yesterday Mrs. Mary Armstrong, 324 South Twenty-ninth street, was arrested for selling and offering for sale cannon crackers in violation of the city ordinance. She was arraigned and her case set for hearing July 6, when the others heretofore arrested will be tried. The police department will continue its vigilance and will make arrests just as fast as dealers are found violating the ordinance.
