

SWEET AND SIMPLE WORDS

Loving Invitation Extended by Jesus to All the Heavy Laden.

MEN DO NOT WANT TO CLIMB TO HEAVEN

Teals of Life Come Not From Things Being Wrong, but Because of Our Taking Them Wrongly.

Rev. Newton M. Mann, preaching from the pulpit of Unity church Sunday morning, took his inspiration from Matthew, 11:28. "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take My yoke upon you and learn of Me, for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls. My yoke is easy and My burden is light."

It is the scheme of our life is not devised with reference to the greatest ends of the actors, but to the most striking dramatic effects. We are dependent creatures and we do help or hurt one another very materially, but still more than all that anybody can do for us is what we do to help ourselves.

STRENGTH AND BEAUTY COMBINED.

Need Less Utility and More Kindness in Our Homes.

Rev. J. W. Conley of the First Baptist church, at 919 South Twenty-ninth street, took for his text yesterday morning Isaiah, chapter III, verse 1: "Awake, awake; put on thy strength, O Zion; put on thy beautiful garments." He said in part: "The two great virtues of the church of Jesus Christ are strength and beauty. The strength of a tree lies in its roots, body and limbs, and its beauty in its foliage. The two combined make the perfect tree. So it is with human character. One who has strength of character but not beauty and is hence not attractive. Another may have beauty of character but not strength and hence become contemptible. The bible presents both in the strength of the old and the beauty of the new testament. Strength is God's truth and beauty is God's spirit. We bow before the inspiration of the scriptures and the beauty of Christ's gospel. We bow before the divinity of Jesus Christ, who is God manifested in the flesh. We cannot too greatly magnify the blood atonement of Christ nor the truth of the coming day. Creed and orthodox are good in their way, but what we want to do is to magnify the truth of Christ's love and thus build the strong framework of faith in the goodness of God. True faith, love, sympathy, are the steel spirits that constitute this framework. We must beautify the structure with lives that are worthy, beautiful lives that embody the gospel of Christ. We hear of preachers being failures because they cannot draw a crowd. The ministerial calling is not designed to draw crowds, but to preach the gospel and to draw men to it by the true presentation of its beauty and sublime divinity. To show the beauty of Christ and the heroic grandeur of the gospel of God through Him. So with life. Life would not be worth living if there were no music or art in it. We can be too practical. But we must not lose sight of the beautiful. You may do a kind act in a practical manner as to destroy its effect. It is so with many of our public charities. They are dispensed in too cold and formal a way. Do these things in a sympathetic way. God has given us the privilege of helping each other. We would be happier in our homes if we practiced less utility and more sympathy and kindness. There is no utility in the highest sense of the word, unless it be covered with sympathy. The church or cathedral architect who equifies utility with beauty has the true conception. So it is with our church hymnology. I do not think the modern is so good and grand as the old. There is the prospect of serious danger in some of the tendencies of modern church music. It does not possess the strong, inspiring character of the old, nor

THE BEAUTY. The sermon that is all eloquence and strong in its intellectuality is not so effective as one that combines eloquence, strength and spiritual beauty, or one that is founded on the divine life of Christ and the vitalizing power of His spirit.

The more we magnify God's charity we more strength we have as a church. Let us seek the renewal of life by installing the saving grace of God in the hearts of men. Put not all our reliance in the strength of our doctrines, but let us adorn it with the beauty of our lives, and when sickness and pain shall have passed away we will all be gathered in the strength and beauty of Jesus Christ's love blended at the throne of God."

SIMILARITY OF BENEDECTIONS.

True Servants of God Ask Not for Earthly Good. Rev. Hubert Herring in the First Congregational church yesterday morning chose for the topic of his discourse the benedictions of the Bible. These, he said, came from the lips of Paul, of Peter, of Moses or of our blessed Lord, and usually came near the end of the discourse or were given by the speaker as a benediction to the people, and from this sprang the present custom of the benediction. They represented the most deliberate thought of those who gave them utterance and therefore have a particular claim on our study. Mr. Herring endeavored to point out the common characteristic of all these benedictions, which he said would be easy, "because of their marvelous similarity, which made them as though the utterances of one man at one period, and not the words of men separated by thousands of years."

The tone of these benedictions was what first struck the speaker, the kind of atmosphere which dominated them. In them the dominant mood may be said to be that of gentleness and thoughtfulness. As a lesson in weighing life's true values, their worth is incomparable. Very thoughtful and very gentle are those good wishes of the early servants of God. They know all the weakness and sin of men, yet they speak in an unbroken tone of gentleness, for above all sorrow, weakness and sin they see the triumph of God. "Let us notice the kind of thing for which these benedictions ask: Peace, defence, strength, grace, love, joy, hope, perfection and the establishment of the blessing and keeping power of God. Not one word of the things which in our daily lives consider the desirable things to obtain; they ask only for gifts for the inner man; they do not concern hunger, cold, poverty, but their whole thought is for the feelings and relationship with God. Our whole dependence is on the mercy of God, and we must trust in Him. This is the hardest thing for us to learn, for our brute inheritance cries out for the things of the flesh, for the joys of conquest and riches. But we are not servants of an earthly king, but subjects of a heavenly king. Do you not dare to ask ourselves what are the chief blessings? With resolute gaze look on the coveted prizes of earth until you see that they are not the thing of great value. Let us be eager to claim our heritage as sons of God and not to claim our animal heritage of earth. When you send out wishes for your distant friends and relatives for their welfare and prosperity, see that you ask for the real blessings for them; do not ask for their business success, successful marriage, wealth, but rather for inward power, for peace and for the fellowship of God."

OMAHA GIVES INFORMATION

Facts Regarding Cancelling Machines Sent to Washington by Local Postoffice.

The "good old summer time" is usually a dull season at the Omaha postoffice, compared with the work of other months, but the present summer season is more hard work than any other time of the present year. This is not only true of the Omaha office, but of every office in the United States of the first class. All of this work furnishes little news for the reader from the place where it is done, but by small items and larger stories come from day to day from Washington for Omaha is one of the offices which is furnishing the Postoffice department with those facts which are given to the public just before the announcement of a grand jury indictment of some responsible employe of the department is made public. Since the investigations were started the department has from time to time called upon the postmaster at Omaha for facts regarding the installation of labor saving devices and other paraphernalia of the office, with statements showing from whom the article was secured, the authorization for the installation, the purchase price and all similar facts regarding the machines which were placed there in the office. This information causes references to records, all of which should be on file in some place in the department at Washington and which are among the records of the Omaha office. To secure this information the postmaster is referred to old letters which have passed between the many former postmasters and the department, which show the facts desired and this work requires much time and the services of clerks who are usually engaged on routine work, so that any special force is generally busier than any previous summer.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

City Officials and Employes Anxious to Have Bond Ordinance Passed.

MUNICIPAL CREDITORS ALSO INTERESTED

Members of Fire and Police May See for Salaries Which Have Been Withheld by City Council.

The second reading of the ordinance providing for a 5 per cent bond with most likely be the feature of the council meeting tonight. All of the city officials, as well as the city employes, are interested in seeing these bonds sold in order to get four months' back pay. Others having claims against the city would like to see the sale consummated. It is intended that the called meeting of the council be held on Tuesday for the third reading of this ordinance. After the mayor has signed the ordinance it will be published for six days and will then become a law. Until the publication is completed the council cannot legally enter into a contract for the sale of the bonds. So far no bidders are in sight but an intimation has been received that when the rate of interest is increased some bids may be sent in. Buyers do not like the optional method of the ordinance for long time bonds. As for a premium the finance committee of the council does not expect to get any premium. It will be satisfied with par and accrued interest.

A rumor was afloat yesterday regarding some probable action to be taken by the Fire and Police board in connection with the stopping of the pay of the board by the council. Such an action is not expected at this time but should one be started it will require a special levy to be made to pay the salaries of the board. The cost of making a special levy will amount to a great deal more than the salaries of the board. Members of the council say that they are not a bit alarmed over any proposed action of the board as they stand on the city side of the matter. Should proceedings be started to force the council to make a special levy the case will be carried up to the supreme court.

Night Lunch Wagons.

Keepers of restaurants are complaining about the night lunch wagons. It is asserted that these wagons pay but a small license and that they are a source of annoyance to the public. A request is to be made of the city council to have the sanitary inspector or Dr. Sapp, the city physician, make an inspection of the manner in which the food is cooked. It is asserted that the cheapest articles in the market are used and when the food is served it is cold. This question has been up before the city council before and for a time the night wagons left the streets. This permitted the restaurants to remain open until midnight. It is now the owners of restaurants say that the business is down 10 to 20 percent, and all on account of the night wagons.

Old Soldier Arrested.

James Blake, a veteran of the civil war, who belongs to the soldiers' home at Grand Island, was arrested late Saturday night for being intoxicated. Blake was so full that he went into the city council chamber and laid down in a corner. He was discovered by a policeman who was so far gone that he did not care what happened to him. Yesterday Judge Fowler discovered Blake in the jail and when told that the prisoner was with Fighting Joe Hooker at the battle of Lookout Mountain and immediately lauded. Blake served with the Fifth Ohio Volunteer Infantry. After his release Blake and Judge Fowler sat in the jail office for a time telling stories of the war. They were in the same vision and served about the same length of time.

Police Board Tuesday.

There is to be a meeting of the Fire and Police board in the council chamber Tuesday night. Chairman Vansant has stated that "there will be something done." Just what is going to happen Mr. Vansant declined to state. More than likely the board will select an attorney to appear before the supreme court in the quo warranto proceedings started a few days ago by the attorney general. Naturally the board will ask the council to pay the fee of the attorney. If this is done it will meet the same answer as given before the board. The council did not recognize the Fire and Police board. Members of the council contend that every act of the board is illegal and that if personally responsible those who make up the board can be held accountable for any debts incurred by the board.

Board Meets Tonight.

A meeting of the Board of Education is to be held tonight, when it is hoped that the high school bonds will be sold. It has been reported that the bonds can be sold for 5 per cent and the board looks for some bidders tonight. Buyers assert that they are not paying a premium for bonds just now, but it is understood that par will be bid. Some other matters of considerable importance are to be brought up. Secretary Lavery will be requested to make a report of the school enumeration. This enumeration was made in June, but so far no official report has been made. It is upon the annual enumeration that the state apportionment is made.

Wanted Road Repaired.

Those engaged in the hauling of garbage are urging upon the city council the necessity for fixing the road to the river so that garbage may be dumped without having to run the risk of having teams stalled on the steep grades. The city has never had a good road to the river and the council efforts have been made to induce the council to build a road not enough money has been appropriated at one time to construct a road which will withstand heavy rains. It is upon the present road that it can be put in condition to last for some time.

New Improvement Club.

The South Park Improvement club is the name of a new organization which was set afoot yesterday by residents of the Third ward. The meeting was held at Thirty-third and U streets, and eighty-one members were present. Seventy-five more are ready to affiliate with the club. Officers elected are: President, Ivor Thomas; Secretary, T. B. Schomp; Vice president, George Johnson; Treasurer, T. B. Schomp; and Secretary, T. B. Schomp. The club intends to make a united effort to secure some much needed improvements in its districts, the principal aims being water and lights for the streets. All the members are taxpayers, and they say that, while there is no politics in the move, they propose to make themselves felt or get what they are entitled to. Meigs City Goals. Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Wilcox are spending this week with relatives at Sherman, N. Y. On Wednesday evening there will be a lawn social at the club for the benefit of the church. The South Omaha Gun club held a shoot yesterday afternoon at the new ground at the foot of Missouri avenue. A trolley wire broke at Twenty-fourth and street yesterday and caused quite a commotion among the passengers on one of the

AMERICAN MINING CONGRESS

Sixth Annual Session Will Be Held in Deadwood and Lead in September.

Deadwood and Lead will in September entertain several hundred prominent mining men from all parts of the country, the occasion being the sixth annual session of the American Mining Congress. Arrangements for the congress are directed by the local committee, the two Black Hills cities are concerned, and the members of the congress will be given a typical western mining camp welcome. Within the past few years the former "bell" has been greatly extended by rich discoveries and in the meantime the application of the cyanide process to different ores, and other new methods or modification of old methods of treating refractory ores the delegates will undoubtedly see much of value to those engaged in gold mining. Appreciating the importance of the congress the railroads will give special rates for it from all parts of the country. The session will begin September 7 and end September 12, but in order to give delegates an opportunity to visit all parts of the Black Hills or other mining districts going or returning tickets will be on sale from one to three weeks before the opening day and will be good returning for twenty to sixty days after the session ends. From all points in California, Oregon, Washington, British Columbia, Idaho and Nevada tickets will be on sale at one fare for the round trip on August 18, 19, 25 and 26, with a going limit of ten days and returning of ninety days. From Ogden, Salt Lake City and other Utah points tickets will be on sale at one fare for the round trip on September 1 to 5 inclusive at one fare plus $2 for the round trip. From eastern Nebraska and eastern Kansas, and points east of the Missouri river in the Western Passenger association territory, the rate will be one fare plus 50 cents for the round trip, and from other points in the same association territory one fare plus $2. Some very low rates from points in the Central Passenger association territory are assured. The Denver lines are also expected to make low rates.

Wipe Out the Poachers.

"One month of active, intelligent work would practically wipe out the poachers," said a member of the association, "and this work should be done right now. There are a large number of poachers, but there are but a few who are looked upon as leading spirits in the infraction of the law. If these men are caught in the act and given heavy sentences the others would quit rather than take chances of arrest. It would be easy at this time to secure the co-operation of the Iowa authorities, for as long as Courtland Beach is in operation there will be Iowa officers on the ground, and between the Iowa and Nebraska authorities it will be comparatively easy to get the men. "When the men are once captured no suits should be brought in a justice court, but the offenders should be brought before the county court, where they cannot cause unnecessary delay, and after one or two have received the extreme penalty of the game warden would find that he had completed his work for the season."

AN OLD IDEA

Shown to Be Absolutely False by Modern Science. People used to think that baldness was one of those things which are handed down by generation to generation from father to son—just like a family heirloom. Science has shown the fallaciousness of this belief by proving that baldness is not a constitutional disease, but the result of a germ invasion of which only Herpicide can effectually rid the scalp. "Swearing, drinking, the use of cheap drugs, it doesn't kill the germ. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect."

Davis, all his sleuthing sense keenly aroused, immediately telephoned the police station and Sergeant Hudson arrested the old negro. He is now in the city jail charged with insanity. He has been placed in custody suspected of being demented before.

Saloon Keeper Arrested.

J. Berg, who runs a saloon at 612 South Thirtieth street, was arrested yesterday morning by Officer Brown, who observed the front doors to the place standing wide open as they do on week days. He was kept in the police station and booked for keeping a saloon open on Sunday. He was charged with disorderly conduct, and having a general cleaning up performed, which accounts for his open doors. He furnished bonds and was released.

Magnetic Healers Extorted.

A telegram from Peoria last night said that "Professors" Hall and Parker, the magnetic healers who in Omaha were charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. The warrant against their arrest was issued yesterday, and they were armed with extradition papers left Peoria last night to start for Chicago. They are now in the city jail, charged with extortion. It has been learned, was in Omaha in 1896 and did a flourishing business in magnetic healing.

Members of the Douglas County Fish and Game Protective association are receiving complaints of illegal fishing at Cut-off lake, the last report coming from John Larson, who lives near the lake and who says that some of the seiners are becoming so bold as to conduct operations in the daylight. Members of the association are considerably interested in the matter and complain of an apparent lack of interest on the part of those whose duty it is to enforce the law. The local association has not the money necessary to pay a game warden, and for the season the members of the association are but a small part of the number who fish at the lake they feel that the expense of maintaining the officer should be borne by the people at large to a certain extent. For this reason an attempt will be made to have a deputy sheriff appointed at a salary of $2 per month, this deputy sheriff to hold commission as deputy game warden, and to augment his official salary by contributions from the people. It is believed that he can secure an ample salary in this manner for the time that his services will be required.

JUDGE'S UNANSWERED QUERY

Ward Worker Disappears and Takes with Him Groceries and Carriage.

Judge Blahaugh has a query coming that he has been unable to answer to his own satisfaction, and rather than have the riddle remain forever a mystery, he told a reporter for The Bee about it while in a reminiscent mood the other day. "The question," said the judge, "is 'Is he a Charley Ross or a Pat Crowe?'" "I am not much of a politician," he went on to say, "but I have had a little experience in that line. I have seen a capital joke on me, and, as I joke on yourself are legitimate, I must tell it. I at one time had a contest in a ward in which I lived. I had one man only assisting at the primary polls who wanted pay for his services. "I agreed to remunerate him when his work of distributing cards and other sacred duties were performed. The polls opened at noon, and at 4 o'clock he went away with a carriage I had hired. He made it understood that he was going to bring some anxious patriots to the polls. He did not return until after the polls closed at 7 o'clock, when he was seen to drive with a goodly amount of groceries in his carriage. Not to this day have I seen the man, the voter, the groceries nor the horses and carriage; neither have I heard the unmistakable mutterings of an impending election."
