

REST IN RECEIVING VAULT

Body of Mrs. Stover Will Be Well Guarded for a Time.

FAMILY APPREHENSIVE OF DISTURBANCE

Interest in the Case on Account of Its Hasty Leads to Rumors that Suggest Unusual Precautions.

The body of Mrs. George W. Stover will not be consigned to the grave after the funeral services are held this afternoon. Instead the metal casket containing the remains will be hermetically sealed and placed in the receiving vault at Prospect Hill cemetery for an indefinite length of time.

Relatives of the deceased woman came to this decision yesterday, after rumors had reached their ears that effort would be made to secure a coroner for scientific purposes. The names of the persons who would go this far to serve their curiosity are kept absolutely secret and it is doubtful if they are really known. However, the reports bear sufficient evidence of authenticity to cause a family to take the steps it has to prevent the despoliation of the corpse.

No one but the relatives and intimate friends of the family are aware of the manner in which the body is to be laid away. After the extraordinarily sensational and pathetic death of Mrs. Stover there has been little other than sympathy and regret expressed at the home, 1417 North Twenty-fourth street, and there has been little show of curiosity or desire to probe further into the causes which marked her end. The attending physicians have declared that without doubt the sickness was a genuine case of rabies, answering to every known test for the detection and diagnosis of this disease.

If this be true, it is the first genuine case of rabies, more commonly known as hydrophobia, that has ever been recorded in the state of Nebraska. It is an extremely rare disease—in fact, one of the rarest known, and this combination of facts accounts for the extraordinary interest shown by the medical profession.

Last night it was said by men in position to know that several hundred dollars at the least could be obtained for the corpse if produced in the proper manner, before disinterment had set in, and in such a way as not to excite suspicion and to evade publicity.

Follows neglect of throat and lung diseases, but Dr. King says that such troubles can be cured. For sale by Kuhn & Co.

EVERYBODY GOES TO CIRCUS

Ringling Bros. Draw Two Immense Crowds Which Go Away Well Pleased.

Ringling Bros.' circus has come and gone, but it has left behind memories which will keep the small but imitative small boy in a state of activity for some time. It was not alone the small boy and his sister who relished the performance, for the big tent was filled to overflowing at both performances with children older grown who have every reason to congratulate themselves for having been there.

The performance has the merit of not only being interesting, but it was clean. It has often been said there is nothing new in a circus, but this must be modified in this instance for the spectacle with ballet accompaniment, with which it opens is certainly new and with attractive. The things which are not new are well done, the average of the acrobatic performances being excellent. Nothing phenomenally sensational is done in this line, but on the other hand, it nowhere sinks to the level of commonplace.

One of the most attractive, if not the premier feature of the show, is the horses. They were not only numerous, but good to look upon, even if they did nothing but canter around the ring. They not only dance, go through intricate evolutions and do numerous tricks, but they do it all with an ease and grace which is ordinarily entirely foreign to such acts, the most spectacular feat in this line being the formation around a large terraced cone, the animals taking their respective places without their trainer, followed by a series of attractive evolutions. One of them bore evidence of having a some time strayed from the Sunday-school pasture and visited the highway, where it learned to dance the hoochie coochie.

As heretofore the performing seals were one of the stellar attractions. The real attractiveness of the show, however, is not so much the superior excellence of any one act as in the uniform high standard of the entire performance.

AN EDITOR

Found That It Pays to Take His Wife's Advice.

Mr. A. U. Grouby, editor of the Abbeville, Ala. News, has the following kind words for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy: "Several days ago I was taken with something like bilious dysentery in a malignant form. I took medicine for two or three days, but got worse all the time. We had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house and my wife prevailed upon me to take a dose. The one dose relieved me within an hour and I have not been troubled with it since. I consider this the most wonderful bowel remedy I have ever seen."

Medicine Makers Favor Inspection.

NEW YORK, July 23.—A joint committee appointed by the American Medical Association and the American Pharmaceutical Association to study and report on the plans of the proposed national bureau of medicinal food is said to have derived information that a majority of manufacturers of proprietary medicines favor the movement. The object of the bureau is to secure uniformity of standards in medicines and food. Those manufacturers who are opposed to the movement say that the regulations of the industry have been a sufficient guarantee of the quality of its product.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES

Ferris Stock Company at the Boyd.

"East Lynne," that good old drama of the heart, which has done duty for a generation, was put on by the Ferris Summer Stock company at the Boyd last night for the midweek change of bill. It was given a very creditable presentation, too, and none of the real beauties of the very pathetic story were lost. Mr. Henderson appeared in the cast as Archibald Carlyle, the too-good-to-be-true husband of Lady Isabel, and formed an excellent foil for the work of Mr. Owen, who had the exacting, but charming role of Mr. Francis Lovell, the most consummate cold-blooded villain in the whole range of English literature. Miss Tucker had the double part of Lady Isabel and Madame Vine, and really achieved a triumph in the emotional scenes. Miss Davis gave an excellent characterization of the colorless Barbara Hare. The bill will continue the rest of the week.

A GREAT DRAWING CARD.

The Jubour Circus and Spectacle

Crowds Courtland Beach Nightly. Courtland Beach presents the aspect of a midway these days. On every hand one hears the familiar sounds of music and what not. The crowds also remind one of the exposition. It was a good move on the part of Manager Griffith to secure the great Jubour circus and spectacle for the week at this resort, as it has practically crowded the place nightly. No attraction has ever been seen at this resort that has brought larger crowds to the grounds. The show is worth going a long distance to see, the spectacle alone being worth the trouble. In this 100 people are employed and hundreds of dollars in fire works burned up nightly. Then the array of aerial and acrobatic acts are splendid. They embrace the best in the profession. The camels and elephants give their share of the entertainment by carrying people about the grounds.

In addition to the big show all the attractions installed upon the grounds are seen. Nothing has been curtailed. The Jubour company will remain until Saturday night, giving performances every afternoon and evening, rain or shine.
