

VICTORY SMILES AGAIN

Rourkites Take Another Game from the Leaders.

ALL DONE IN THE LUCKY SEVENTH

Timely Work at the Bat and Some Milwaukee Mistakes Contribute to the Afternoon's Triumph.

When Pa Hill burned all of his toes sticks behind his barn the other night on the altar of the lucky seventh, he did a good job and it bore fragrant blossoms yesterday when the Rourkites took another turn at drubbing the topnotchers to the tune of 9 to 0. The Rourkites, who played the previous day, wound themselves up into a knot every now and then and threw balls over the oyster for the local lads to bat into the field. Schaafstall was furnishing the snakes for Omaha and they were intangible.

Omaha played the same lineup of the previous day, and O'Neill was moved out into the middle garden for the visitors, while Frank Miller supplanted him at second. But it didn't make any difference. There was some loose fielding on both sides and the seventh inning. That was the whole story of the game. Hickey played a remarkably fast and heady game on third and Jack Thomas at short fielded well, despite his two errors, one of which was quite excusable.

St. Joseph started out with a hit, but never got beyond second when he was sacrificed there. Then Carter came to the doing. He scratched and Lucia made a bad throw trying to pinch him at first, which gave him another sack. Genins poked out a dinky one and Thornton hit that through him. That put Carter on third and Genins on first. Miller's fly to left brought in Carter on a close decision, and then the side went out.

Seven Times One Are Seven.

Another run came in for the locals in the second, and then they rested for their doling in the seventh. When the seventh opened the Creams got busy and matched a long, lean tally out of the game. It came about through Genins' double and a scratch hit of Lucia's.

The seventh did not open auspiciously. Hickey flew out to O'Neill and Gending drew a pass to first. Then Schaafstall plunked one out Gatin-way and Gatin's tempered on, but did nothing. Carter singled and a run came in. Genins did likewise and another tally was hung on the buffalo robe. Miller walloped the ball for two bases, and then Genins was pitched by a hair off of third and "Dusty" leaped on, but did nothing. Then Carter was chewing about it. Shugart poked out a dinky one and Thornton dropped the catch. Then Welch singled and Thomas broke a board in the fence and drew two jacks. Hickey singled and Gending got two on a hit. Meanwhile the Rourkites were coming in like farmers to a circus. But Schaafstall's out finished it and Pa Hill counted up seven runs on his tally board.

In the eighth a couple of errors, two scratch hits, a base on balls and fielder's choice gave the Creams two more runs, and then it was all over so far as scoring was concerned.

Today the same teams will play a double-header, which will be the last on the local grounds until the home series.
