(From a staff correspondent.) LINCOLN, July 27.-(Special.)-Eleven entries have so far been made in the race comprises about all that are possibilities. The cities are Kearney, Ord, Aurora, Hastings, Central City, Holdrege, Grand Island, Broken Bow, Alnsworth, Alliance and Alneworth and Alliance. Ainsworth, although it lost out on the bond proposition, has come back with another. The others, however, are expected to make good temorrow. All bids will have to be on file by afternoon. Wednesday morning the members will start out on a tour of inspection Kearney people in the city today were quoted as claiming to have four members of the board airendy pledged for their city, but this is seputed at the statehouse. The size of the boxus, it is claimed, will not be nearly so big a factor in the fight as will be the location of the town and the facilities it affords.

"The State Board of Education has no power to operate the new normal school provided for by the last legislature under the terms of the bill providing for the construction of the building," said T. J. Majors, a member of the board, who is in town to help open the bids today. "The selection of the board to locate the school was simply the appointment of a special committee, which was for convenience and practice of giving premiums or trading because of the qualifications of the members which was considered such that they could make a wise choice of a location." Mr. Majors made this statement in discussing the statement of Superintendent Fowler that the board might run the school for a year before the legislature meets by securing donations from the successful as its victim for purpose of a test. the next legislature can make provision for its operating expenses.

Mr. Majors said that it would CHAUTAUQUA A GREAT SUCCESS take two weeks to make the tour. This seems quite probable in view of the fact that Alliance, Ainsworth and Long Pine are in the race according to the bids filed.
