During the last decade small wooder houses have sprung up in the vicinity, crowding nearer and nearer to the two innocent looking little buildings until they almost completely surrounded them, except on the river side, the nearest house being scarcely fifty feet away.

One of the magazines was just within the roadside fence, while the other was 100 feet behind it on the banks of the river. Both magazines ordinarily contained two or three tons of gunpowder in tin kegs, each keg being about eighteen inches high and a foot in diameter. The company for some time has been desirous of strengthening the floor of the magnzine nearest the street, and this morning eight men, three of them employes of the company, three expressmen and two carpenters, were sent there with three large express teams to take out the powder and mend the floor. Two of the teams had been loaded and the other was almost full when the explosion

It was a long time before the cause of the disaster could be discovered. It was thought that everyone within a radius of fifty feet of the magazines had been killed, but later it was found that Clarendon Goodwin, foreman of the men loading powder, had survived, together with one of his assistants, Amadee Boulanger, and this afternoon the latter was seen in the hospital.

Takes Acid for Water.

He said the men went down to the magazine nearest the street to fix the floor and after the wagons had been loaded with powder it was discovered that a can of nitroglycerine stored in the magazine was leaking. Mr. Goodwin picked up what he thought was a jug of water and began pouring it over the nitro-glycerine with the idea of diluting it and washing it up. As soon as the fluid struck the floor he found it was nitric acid.

The floor at once began to smoke, and when the men saw it they rushed from the of Ireland. building, but had not gone ten feet when the explosion occurred. This magazine was therefore the first to go up, followed immediately by the gunpowder on the three wagons and several minutes later the secd magazine

LONDON, July 29 .- The validity of Dakota divorces in England was again raised court, Sir Francis Beune, in the suit for divorce brought by D. S. Constandindi as well as in London. The husband

John Lawson Walton, counsel for the petitioner, explained the subsequent proceed ings as follows:

Ings as follows:

This delicately nurtured lady of Belgravia went to a wild district of the earth, migrated to the half-settled state of Dakota, became an American citizen, stayed six months there, fraudulently obtained a so-called divorce and married the co-respondent there, thus using the lax Dakota laws for her own purpose.

"This," continued Mr. Walton, "was

We have not seen any of the convicts, though the scouts have discovered traces of them as they are making their way through the country. The country is so rough and hard that they make scarcely any trail, except where they stop. Scouts have been in all directions over the country and from the signs they have discovered we have hope of locating them.

For a time it was evident they kept together, but the tracks now indicate they have spilt up into at least three bands, but they may come together later on. As nearly as we can make out, the men are about seven miles from Lotus, or at least the main body of them are in the district thus indicated. There are still deven of the convicts in these mountains somewhere. It seems to me that the escaped men cannot hold out much longer for our information is that they are short of provisions. This is an immense country to hunt over and is an immense country to hunt over it is rough beyond description.

ROME, July 29.-Rome this morning was the scene of one of those dramatic contrasts which are now so characteristic of the Eternal city. While at the Vatican, in the Sistine chapel, a solemn requiem mass was being intoned, with all the solemnity the Catho-He church could Impose, for the repose of the soul of Pope Leo XIII, the spiritual monarch who claimed Rome as his capital, another and no less solemn requiem mass was being celebrated in the magnificent Pantheon for the repose of the soul of the late King Humbert, the temporal monarch, the capital of whose kingdom was

King Victor Emanuel and the dowager queen Margaret came here on purpose to attend the annual mass which is celebrated on the anniversary of the assassinaion of King Humbert, which occurred three years ago. The king drove to the Pantheon, the well known red liveries of his coachman and footmen arousing much interest, and arrived there in time to meet Queen Margaret, who was dressed in deepest black.

After a tender embrace mother and so entered the Pantheon, heard the mass and placed wreaths on the tombs of King Humbert and King Victor Emanuel. The en-two kings. In the evening there was a public procession in the streets to the tombs of King Humbert and King Victor Emmanuel. It passed off quietly, though thousands of persons witnessed the demonstration and the procession itself was over a mile in length. Throughout the route the plazzas and streets were thronged with orderly er, the bookkeeper of the Danish bank, shirted Garibaldian veterans and other repwho eloped with Julius Anton Joergensen, resentatives of Italian liberty. The general opinion expressed was that the anti-clericals succeeded in making a successful demonstration against the clericals, but they did so without any breach of propriety and without wounding the feelings of the Roman Catholics. Foreign Mass for Pope.

The second requiem mass in the Sistine chapel was termed the foreign mass. Cardinal Kopp, bishop of Breslau, celebrated, assisted by three foreign cardinals, Goosens, Gruscha and Perraud, and one Italian cardinal, Di Petro. The beautiful chape overflowed, as it did yesterday, with the faithful.

The Vatican, as a rule, provides a carriage and horses for all the cardinals, and all the horses are alike, black, with long tails; but the authorities were not prepared for so many cardinals and were obliged to give the last arrivals bay horses From the estimates made the cost to the Holy See of the various ceremonies from the death of the pope to the election of his successor, if it takes place within a few days, will be $400,000. This is a serious drain, as the Vatican coffers are none too

With the arrival here of Cardinal Prisco archbishop of Naples, the number of cardinals who will participate in the conclave is complete and totals sixty-two. Of the two remaining, Cardinal Celesia, archbishop of Palermo, cannot leave Palermo because of his health and Cardinal Moran, archbishop of Sydney, N. S. W., although he has left Sydney, cannot, it is believed, arrive here before August 20, when, it is supposed, the conclave will be over. Voting Papers Issued.

During today's meeting of the congregation the forms to be used in voting at the conclave were distributed among the cardinals in order that each might be able to learn how to employ his ballot. After the meeting Cardinal Oregila requested the cardinals to visit their cells and be prepared at tomorrow's meeting to present any complaints they might have. Superstitious people here find an omen in the fact Cardinal Rampolla drew apartment No. 58, which in the book of the lottery stands for pope, and consequently they come to the conclusion that fate has marked him to be the next pope. Cardinal Agliardi has relinquished his cell, near the Sistine chapel, to Cardinal Cretoni on account of the latter's illness Over the door of each of the cells has been placed the coat-of-arms of the cardinal who is to occupy it. Should all the sixtytwo cardinals now in Rome enter the conclave it will be the most numerously attended in history. The conclave which elected Leo was attended by sixty-one. In the past popes have been elected by as low

Jury Cannot Reach Verdiet.

ST. LOUIS. July 13.—The jury in the second trial of former Delegate Henry A. Faulkner, charged with perjury in connection with the suburban franchise boodie deal, reported to Judge Douglas today that its members were unable to agree on a verdict. The jury retired Tuesday and considered the case until midnight.
